Grave Perils in Our Armed Preparedness Without a Programme.

BY HARRY CARR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 17. — The impulse behind the Root Presidential boom is the growing conviction that this country must immediately develop its first real foreign policy and that Mr. Root is probably the man in American public life equipped by intellect, experience and temperament to formulate such a policy.

Norman Angell, author of the epoch-making book, "The Great Illusion," spoke a word of sharp warning Wednesday night at a meeting of Congressmen and newspaper correspondents, calling attention to the fact that the world will demand such a policy from us.

He spoke of the peril of our increase in armed force without a foreign policy. He said that if the world were a peaceful na-

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

Both Berlin and Paris report that there have been no important developments on the battle line in France and Belgium. On the Russian front there have been artillery engagements and isolated infantry actions at various points. In East Galicia hostilities have almost ceased for the present. The Italians are still engaged in shelling the positions taken from them recently by the Austrians on the Rombon sector, and also are keeping up their artillery actions against the bridgeheads at Tolmino and Gorizia. An infantry attack against Monte San Michele is reported by Vienna to have been repulsed.

The executive branch of the government yesterday sent to the United States Senate a part of the information demanded by the legislative branch on the subject of Mexico; but not all. The President withheld correspondence relating to actual political conditions in Mexico. The alibi is that this correspondence is "confidential." Villa is still at large in Mexico, but is said to be hard pressed.

It is a mistake to jump at the wrong conclusion that all, or the most important news is to be found on the first page, because it is not. Consult the Index and the Summary, then read the entire paper and thus get all the news of the day.

VIERECK ISSUES WARNING OF NEW SEA DISASTER.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 17.—Warning of Germany's likelihood of sinking another big passenger liner without warning, regardless of the consequences to those on board, whether they be Americans, Englishmen or citizens of any other nation, was received by telegraph at the office of the Chicago Post today. The name of George Sylvester Viereck, editor of the Fatherland, official organ of the central powers in the United States, was signed to the telegram.

Mr. Viereck circulated a similar warning just prior to the sailing of the Lusitania on its ill-fated voyage. After that vessel was sunk and all during the protracted and sometimes heated negotiations regarding it, Mr. Viereck insisted there was no Lusitania crisis, but now he insists that the United States is facing a real crisis which may lead to disastrous consequences unless this government warns its nationals to keep off of armed merchant vessels belonging to belligerent nations, and not only warns them, but forces them to heed the warning.

YOUNG MARRIED MEN MUST JOIN ARMY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Young married men who have not enlisted are soon to receive the attention of the War Office. All single men who attested under the Earl of Derby's plan have been called up.

Married men who attested under the Derby plan will next be called to arms. Most of them are men between 30 and 40 years. There are large numbers of married men below 30 years of age who have not answered the appeal to take up arms and the authorities are searching for a method to bring them into line.

KING PETER OF SERBIA IS UNDAUNTED IN EXILE.

AEDEPSOS (Island of Euboea) Feb. 16, 5 p.m. (via Paris.)—King Peter of Serbia received a correspondent of the Associated Press this morning. Hidden away in this almost inaccessible spot, bent under his 72 years, disillusionments and sufferings, physically broken, virtually blind, his crown gone, his native land overrun by ancient enemies, the exiled sovereign greatly clings to life in the hope of participating in the ultimate triumph of his countrymen.

The sorest trials have not dimmed the spirit or clouded the intellect of the King. He spoke with the same determined courage that characterized him when he led his soldiers to victory over the Turks, and analyzed the causes and meaning of the war with the cold logic of the man who translated John Stuart Mill into Serbian.

Though still feeble from the effects of heart breaking marches through Albania and unable to walk without assistance, he retains the keenest mental activity and a striking cheeriness in the face of the disaster which has overtaken his family and country.

MESSAGE TO AMERICA.

"I have long wanted very much to speak from the bottom of my heart to the great heart of America, which is so deeply moved over the fate of Serbia and has done so much for our unhappy people," he said. "It seems to me that somehow your compatriots have been able to divine in the struggles of a people, simple and rugged, but stubbornly individualistic, the same sacred fire which inspired the first Americans 300 years ago to leave Europe to erect in the wilderness of America a home for freedom. They know us. We speak the same language of liberty.

"And those of your compatriots who have come to us as doctors,

PRESIDENT'S BLOCKADE OF AMERICAN SENATE.

Executive Refuses to Submit Information Demanded by Legislative Branch.

Consular Reports of Actual Political Conditions South of the Rio Grande are All Too Confidential, According to the White House, and will not be Presented as the Fall Resolution had Asked.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 17.—As we expected, the President has gleefully dodged the Senate's demand for a frank statement of the Mexican complications and the relations of this country thereto.

The formal answer to the Senate's demand for information was filed today. It was ridiculously inadequate as to all the important points. The Executive and the Secretary of State refused to give information.

Considering that the demand for information was made several weeks ago the net result was amazing. From time to time exciting news has been given out at the State Department that a "force of clerks" was "hard at work on the data."

A force of Washington clerks can stall around for a year giving a faint imitation of work and doing less than a half-grown schoolboy, but it is hard to see how even a force of Washington clerks could have managed to keep occupied more than half an hour on what came through yesterday.

There is nothing in the report except a collection of aged messages and documents that are in every newspaper library and a list of Americans killed.

After the report was sent in I called on Senator Fall, who has denounced the administration for its gumshoe methods in Mexico.

"Is that order to the Marine Corps directing our boys to allow Mexicans to fire twice at each American marine before they returned the fire? Is that order included?" he inquired.

"No mention is made of such order."

"Is the Brazilian report included?" he asked.

No Brazilian report is included.

Senator Fall gave a grunt of disgust. He said that on the floor of the Senate he intends to call attention to these withheld reports and others which the administration has refused to communicate to the Senate. It is likely that there will be fireworks tomorrow.

THE "I DECLINE" OF PRESIDENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. President, through Secretary Lansing, in sending to day his response to the tion for all information co, declined to comply of the Fall resolution lomatic and consular litical conditions and co. The Senate was it was not compatible interest to furnish the ence inasmuch as it was confidential nature, and by consular officers of States, by diplomatic or officers of other governments have graciously consented that officers might supply this government with information during the necessary absence of American representatives, and by other persons residing in Mexico."

As to the ability of Carranza to fulfill his promises to protect foreign lives and property, Mr. Lansing said that under all the circumstances, the de facto government, which at the time of recognition controlled more than 75 per cent. of Mexico's territory, was affording "reasonably adequate protection to the lives and property of American citizens."

The data disclosed that seventy-six Americans were killed in Mexico in the years 1913, 1914, 1915, as compared with forty-seven in the three years preceding, and that twenty civilian Americans and sixteen soldiers were killed on American soil in the last three years as a result of Mexican troubles.

When the report was received, Senator Stone, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, moved that it lie on the table and be printed as a public document. He made no comment on its contents. Senator Fall expressed himself as disappointed because the President had not included the confidential correspondence.

The response to the resolution is expected to stir up a new discussion of the situation in the Senate and to bring a vote quickly on the nomination of Henry Prather Fletcher as Ambassador to Mexico. Senator Fall introduced his resolution when the nomination was sent in. Republican members of the Foreign Relations Committee held that the Senate should not consent to sending an Ambassador to Mexico until it was thoroughly informed as to the character of the government to which he was to be accredited. In view of the report it is probable that the Foreign Relations Committee will pass on Mr. Fletcher's nomination next Wednesday.

LANSING'S LETTER.

The text of Secretary Lansing's letter, transmitting the report to the President, dated February 12, 1916, follows:

"The resolution adopted by the United States Senate on January 6, 1916, requesting to be furnished, if not incompatible with the public interest, with documents, letters, reports, orders, etc., relating to the Mexican situation, having been referred by you to the Department of State to report, I have the honor to state, after earnest consideration of the request in the light of such study as the department has given this subject for a period of several years, that I believe it to be incompatible with the public interest to transmit to the Senate at the present time the voluminous correspondence, called for by the resolutions between the Department of State and the representatives of the United States in Mexico, or that between this department and representatives of the de facto government of Mexico, of which Gen. V. Carranza is the chief executive.

"In response, however, to the inquiries made in the resolution I have presented the following concise statement, together with copies of certain pertinent documents which are here appended:

"(1.) The government at present existing in Mexico is a de facto government, established by a military power which has definitely committed itself to the holding of popular elections upon the restoration of peace.

"(2.) This de facto government of Mexico, of which Gen. V. Carranza is the Chief Executive, was recognized by the government of the United States on October 19, 1915, and a copy of the letter to Mr. E. Arredondo, the representative of the de facto

Note Submitted to Lansing Calls Attention to High-handed Procedure in Seisure of Parcel Post and Requests that Efforts be Made to Secure an Agreement for the Future Among Non-belligerents.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN (via Sayville) Feb. 17.—"Reports from Stockholm," says the Overseas News Agency, "are that there are in Gothenburg a total of 58,000 parcels bound for England which have been retained by the Swedish government as a measure of reprisal against British violation of Swedish mails."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Another note from Sweden has been addressed to the State Department through Minister Ekengren, appealing to the United States for co-operation with the Swedish government and other neutral nations to maintain the preservation of rules of international law concerning the protection of neutral commerce and navigation. Action is proposed, particularly against Great Britain, because of the detention of mail by that country and other actions against trade regarded by Sweden as unwarranted.

Secretary Lansing informed the minister, it was learned today, that he could not answer the note until the controversy with Germany over the Lusitania case was settled.

It is the latest communication of the kind to be presented recently after such a proposal has been advanced and discussed from time to time, but until today no change had been made known.

TEXT OF THE NOTE.

The following is the text of the note that has been instructed by His Excellency the Minister for Foreign Affairs, Stockholm, to address the following title to Your Excellency:

"The royal government has, during the present war, from time to time, [illegible] to Your Excellency that [illegible] to receive and preserve certain important principles of international law, which [illegible] at the protection of neutral commerce and navigation, and which are [illegible] by Great Britain.

"[illegible] of existing rules of [illegible] law has, regardless of [illegible] based until at present NOW[illegible], serving as protec[illegible] the devil commercial interests [illegible] termine [illegible] served by Great Britain, [illegible] that also these rights [illegible] Charles H. [illegible] will be violated.

"[illegible] he had pe[illegible]s government, which [illegible] porary [illegible] of its responsibility [illegible] ceipt, of [illegible] any measure, tending [illegible] husband [illegible] such an eventuality, and [illegible] of the danger for the future [illegible] these rules, which are of infinite worth to civilization as a whole, are not preserved, desires to herewith make a renewed presentation to Your Excellency, in this respect.

"Of late the British authorities have violated the mail traffic. Parcel post from one neutral country to another is being unloaded in British ports and the contents are being seized. While parcel post is not protected through The Hague postal convention, it nevertheless seems to His Majesty's government that the British procedure, in the form and extensiveness practiced, would be invalid, even with regard to ordinary express goods, and that this seems particularly evident when the seisure of parcel post is directed against a means of conveyance under guarantee of sovereign powers. Besides, great personal inconvenience is connected with seizure of this kind.

"However, England's present practice of censoring also first-class mail, sent by neutral vessels from one neutral country to another, is an even greater violation of the rights accorded neutral powers by the rules of international law. It is not necessary to particularly point how contrary this practice is to the stipulations in the above-mentioned Hague convention, which stipulations, or rules, must be considered to have been in existence even before the promulgation of this convention.

"The royal government, therefore, now appeals to the government of the United States for co-operation for the purpose of seeking to bring about a discontinuation of the violations of international law, at least so far as the same concerns first-class mail, and it solicits as early an answer as possible, whether Your Excellency is willing to take appropriate action in co-operation with the royal government and, eventually, the governments of other neutral countries for the purpose of causing that the rule which the question involves—and which is one of the fundamental stipulations of international law—be observed."

BANKERS TAKE NO ACTION.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Bankers, dealers in bonds and members of the Stock Exchange, after a meeting today, decided to take no action at this time toward a protest they had contemplated making to the State Department against the seizure by the British government of American securities and bills of exchange shipped from Holland to this country.

Some of the conferees said they had learned that the State Department already had made vigorous representations in the matter to the British government through Ambassador Spring-Rice, and that they expected a statement on the situation to be made in Washington before the end of the week.

WILL TRAIN CIVILIANS ON SIX BATTLESHIPS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Secretary Daniels and his advisers decided today to inaugurate a system of civilian naval training similar in general outline to that on which military training camps have been established at Plattsburg and elsewhere. It is planned to use six battleships to take those who present themselves for training on a month's cruise beginning about August 15.

The vessels to be utilized as training ships will take on their student personnel along the Atlantic Coast, probably at New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Norfolk, Portland and Charleston. It is estimated that the six battleships will make possible the training of 1500 men. A similar programme, it is expected, will be prepared for next year for development of the plan on the Pacific Coast.

The plan, which was drafted by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, proposes that the cost to the men shall be sufficiently low to enable those in moderate circumstances to join. The only compulsory requirement is that each volunteer declare his intention of giving his services to the navy in case of war.

SEES CERTAIN SUCCESS OF THE UNITED G.O.P.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 17.—Any nominee of the Republican party, providing he has the united support of the party, can be elected President next November over any Democratic candidate, is the opinion of Henry D. Estabrook of Nebraska and New York, who is a candidate for the nomination on the Republican ticket. Mr. Estabrook's candidacy was started by the Estabrook League of Nebraska.

"I have been campaigning over the West for four or five months and from my observations I am convinced that if the Republican party will nominate any one of its great leaders—Elihu Root, Charles E. Hughes, Col. Roosevelt, or even myself or any other favorite son—and will get behind that candidate with its united, hearty support, he can be elected over any candidate the Democratic party can present," said Mr. Estabrook.

"My personal preference for the nomination would be Mr. Root first and Mr. Hughes second."

BERLIN, Feb. 17 (via Sayville.)—Repulse of Russian attacks along the eastern front and of an Italian assault against Monte San Michele on the Austrian frontier, is announced by Austro-Hungarian headquarters in today's official statement received here from Vienna. The statement says:

"Nightly air attacks by the enemy against the Stripa front have been without success.

"Russian attacks on Kermin, south of Berestiany, were easily repulsed.

"Italian artillery shelled villages in the Canale Valley, and also in the Rombon district and the bridgeheads at Tolmino and Gorizia. An enemy attack against Monte San Michele was repulsed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—In submitting to the Senate today the list of seventy-six Americans killed in Mexico in 1913, 1914 and 1915, Secretary Lansing called attention to the fact that when the murder of American citizens was reported the Department of State made representations for the apprehension and punishment of the assailants, and that in some instances the department's representatives made such representations to the appropriate officials on their own initiative.

BELGIUM ELIGIBLE TO DISCUSS PEACE.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—The declaration of the Entente allies to the Belgian government that hostilities would not be permitted to end without Belgium having re-established its political and economic independence and that Belgium would be called to take part in the peace negotiations, is explained by the Temps today as designed to enable Belgium to take a direct part in the peace negotiations as an independent power, and thus be released from the limitations imposed by international guarantee of Belgium's neutrality agreed to in 1839.

The Belgian government, says the Temps, through her own envoys, now will have a voice in determining her national future and in regulating the new order of things arising in Europe. The newspaper adds that the suggestion for the declaration came from the Belgians.

BRITISH CHURCH AGAINST REPRISAL.

DISAPPROVES RETALIATION FOR GERMAN AIR RAIDS.

Bishops in Convocation at Canterbury Denounce Expeditions Which Have for Their Object Killing of Women and Children—Declare They Should do Nothing Wrong.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The Church of England today took a stand against a policy of reprisals. The bishops in convocation at Canterbury Cathedral adopted a resolution against air raids "which have as a deliberate object the killing or wounding of noncombatants."

The Archbishop of Canterbury, in moving the resolution, said the bishops desired to encourage all possible energy in the prosecution of the war, but that there was danger of drifting into ways which would have unhesitatingly been condemned as dishonorable a few years ago.

There was danger, the Archbishop said, when proposals were made in the newspapers to put to death innocent persons in retaliation for gross and outrageous wrongs, that the moral currency might be debased.

"We feel," said the Archbishop, "that one of our foremost desires surely is that, when by the mercy of God this fearful conflict comes to an end, we should enter upon a discussion of a settlement with clean hands—that we should have nothing of which to be ashamed."

The bishop of Bangor alone opposed the resolution.

"In a war like this," said the bishop, we cannot separate combatants from noncombatants. The strengthening of the blockade against Germany involves the making of war on women and children. If we could send a hundred aeroplanes to drop bombs on the business part of Frankfort the effect produced would be felt from end to end of Germany, and the sending of Zeppelins to this country would be denounced as a blunder, as inexcusable, as a crime. If a son of mine were asked to join in a punitive expedition to go and do his duty."

AMERICA INSISTS GERMANY ACCEPT ALL ITS DEMANDS.

Exact Position of this Country is Communicated to Berlin.

Nothing Short of a Full and Complete Agreement Covering All Points Regarding Future Warfare on Merchant Vessels is Acceptable to the United States—It is Known, However, the Lusitania Explanation is Satisfactory.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The United States in its submarine controversy with Germany will accept nothing short of a full and complete agreement covering all the points for which it has contended as to assurances that the warfare in the future will be conducted in accordance with the established principles of international law.

In announcing that fact today, Secretary Lansing let it be known that the State Department considers Germany's declaration of its intention to sink without warning, after February 29, all armed merchant ships of the Entente allies to be inconsistent with the assurances previously given this government by the Berlin Foreign Office.

The tentative communication designed to end the Lusitania case, still in the possession of Secretary Lansing, will not be formally accepted until such assurances regarding the future are given, although the communication, in so far as it relates to the Lusitania itself, is acceptable.

REVIVES ANCONA CASE.

State Department officials also consider that the Austro-Hungarian memorandum regarding armed ships is not in accord with the assurances given by that government in the negotiations over the sinking of the Italian steamship Ancona. Consequently final settlement of the Ancona case, once postponed because of the doubt regarding the circumstances of the sinking of the British steamship Persia, probably will be withheld until Austria gives similar assurances to those now requested from Germany.

The views of the United States were explained in detail today by Secretary Lansing to Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, who was informed, it was indicated at the State Department, that the United States desires the German declaration regarding armed merchant ships to be modified.

Later in the day the Ambassador sent a long dispatch to his government, explaining the position and requirements of the United States. It was understood that the Ambassador informed his government that the United States wanted particularly to know whether the assurances previously given in the Lusitania and the Arabic cases still were in force.

Tonight it was said emphatically in Teutonic diplomatic circles that the Berlin Foreign Office would not modify the declaration of intention to sink armed ships, or inform the United States the previous assurances still were binding, unless Great Britain should give assurances of some kind that a submarine which warns a British steamship armed ostensibly for defensive purposes would not be fired upon.

ARMED SHIPS ALL ALIKE.

In this connection, it was explained at the State Department that the United States considers unarmed merchant ships and ships armed for defensive purposes to be in identically the same class. Furthermore, it is held that the word "liners" as employed in the previous assurances, from Germany, regarding the conduct of submarine warfare, [illegible] freight as well as passenger [illegible]

The State Department is [illegible] carefully from various sources [illegible] surances given in the early [illegible] the war by Great Britain that [illegible] guns on her merchant ships were used only for defensive purposes. [illegible] was admitted that the department has in its possession information charging that since the assurances were given certain British merchantmen have used their armament for offensive attacks on German submarines. This information, coming through German sources and [illegible] regarded as being conclusive.

Officials now are awaiting the receipt of what Germany alleges is a copy of secret instructions issued by the British government to the commanders of merchant ships. This document and others appended to the text of the German declaration have been mailed from Berlin.

Officials declined to say [illegible] what the State Department would regard as defensive armament. The question will enter into future negotiations regarding the conduct of submarine warfare.

UNITED STATES AS POOR THIRD.

Naval Building Programme is Regarded as Small.

Inside Information Given on European Plans.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Confidential information about the building programmes of European navies, weakness of the American fleet and results of recent maneuvers and War College games were given to the House Naval Committee today by Rear-Admiral Grant, commanding the submarine flotilla, and Capt. Josiah McKean, assistant for material in the office of the chief of operations. Both officers expressed the opinion that even with the administration five-year building programme completed the United States would be a poor third among naval powers.

The committee spent most of the day behind closed doors taking up with the officers questions considered confidential by the Navy Department. The witnesses agreed that battle cruisers were more urgently needed than battleships, and recommended the construction of four such vessels this year if Congress would authorize no more capital ships, rather than five battleships and two battle cruisers as proposed.

M'KEAN'S VIEW.

Capt. McKean told the committee that the proposed five-year building plan was based on the best judgment of the Navy Department; that it was the only definite navy-increase programme ever presented for approval of Congress, and that it was calculated to give the country's shipbuilders an idea of what they might look forward to.

Admiral Grant supplemented his previous statement urging the construction of only 800-ton submarines in the future, abandoning present smaller types altogether and discontinuing building the fleet submarine class of 1200 to 1500 tons until the first of these boats, the Schley, has been tried out. As to the need of small craft for harbor work, he indicated the place for submarine operations was outside, not inside, a harbor.

NAVY SECOND TO NONE.

In response to questions by Representative Kelly, Capt. McKean said he thought the plan outlined by the General Board of establishing a navy second to none by 1925 was the wisest one, so the nation might have to face several enemies at once.

Capt. McKean disclosed the fact that a far-reaching scheme for modernizing the navy yards is being carried out by the department. The General Board, he said, was determining the best use that could be made of each yard. With that as a basis a special board will plot out a definite scheme for the equipment of each to the best advantage for the work assigned to it, aided by local boards from each yard.

ROCK ISLAND RECEIVER WOULD COMPROMISE FOR CASH.

Supreme Court He is Offered $750,000 by Former Director and Asks Dismissal in Full Satisfaction of All Claims and Recommends its Acceptance.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Application was made to Federal Judge Mayer today by Walter C. Noyes, receiver of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company, for approval of a settlement made with Daniel G. Reid, William H. Moore and other former directors of the Rock Island system under which they have agreed to pay the receiver $750,000. The settlement proves out of the litigation instituted by the receiver against the former directors for the recovery of dividends alleged to have been illegally voted. Judge Mayer took the application under advisement.

Mr. Noyes proposed that the men should be released from further monetary responsibility for loss sustained by the railroad through the purchase and sale of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad and the payment of certain dividends in 1911, 1912 and 1913, which are said to have been unauthorized.

The other directors, parties to the agreement besides Messrs. Reid and Moore, are Francis L. Hine, Robert Walker and Edward S. Moore. The court was told the directors flatly denied their liability, but had consented to a settlement in order to avoid litigation.

Charles S. Rushmore, attorney for Mr. Noyes, in urging the court to approve the agreement, outlined the great difficulties in the way of ever proving the actual liability of Reid, Moore and the others, and declared that the settlement proposition was a highly advantageous one to the estate.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 17.—Going to a party in a barrel will be the most stylish thing a debutante can possibly do this coming season, according to Mme. Alla Ripley, president of the Fashion Art League of America, who announced some of the advanced spring styles today.

"To go in a barrel is no longer a synonym for destitution in clothes," declared Mme. Ripley. "The coming party gown is a barrel. It has all the lines artists love—double curve, small circle at the waist and at the feet, a wide curve sweeping out over the hips and a small basque waist."

From a yard and a quarter to twelve and even fourteen yards is the leap which skirts have taken within two years, in spite of higher prices of material, according to style makers.

SAYS BRANDEIS WAS UNETHICAL.

Believes Him Conscientious and High Minded.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Two views of Louis D. Brandeis were placed today before the judiciary subcommittee of the Senate investigating his fitness to be a Supreme Court justice.

The first witness, Moorfield Storey, a Boston lawyer, said Mr. Brandeis's reputation at the Boston bar was that he was a "very capable, very energetic and if necessary to advance his objects, he is not scrupulous as to his methods, nor is he to be trusted."

The second witness, Sherman L. Whipple of Boston, described Mr. Brandeis as a man with sincere, high-minded motives, intensely centered in carrying out his own ideas and ideals; in love with the idea that he was "looking after the situation;" possibly a bit careless in his connection with one of his cases, and as holding himself aloof with the result that he had been misjudged.

GOTHAM LAWYER'S VIEW.

Moses J. Stroock, a New York lawyer, testified briefly. He quoted Mr. Brandeis as having said that everyone should get a square deal in the James T. Lennox bankruptcy case, which has been much discussed at the hearing.

Mr. Storey told the committee he thought Mr. Brandeis had been unethical in bringing ten suits against the New England Railroad in 1892 for interests other than the actual complainants, which preceded by a year the bankruptcy of the New England road from which it emerged in possession of the New Haven road. He was unwilling, however, to give his opinion that Mr. Brandeis was employed to wreck the New England road. In the Warren will case Mr. Storey thought Mr. Brandeis had acted as he himself would have done.

WHIPPLE'S OPINION.

After expressing his opinion that as a lawyer Mr. Brandeis was "able and learned; as a man, conscientious and high-minded," Mr. Whipple said he thought that Mr. Brandeis had possibly been careless in the Warren case in not making clear to Edward Warren all the effects of the transaction. He added that he had cross-examined Samuel Warren and was convinced that "there was no taint of dishonesty in the case."

"I think they have misjudged Mr. Brandeis," Mr. Whipple said. "If he had been different, had not so held aloof, had mingled more with the bar, discussed doubtful points with other lawyers, they would not have misjudged him. He is aloof, intensely centered in carrying out his own ideas, which I believe are pure and high-minded. Mr. Brandeis will do things of a startling character. Nothing illustrates that more than this Lennox matter."

WAR SAVINGS COMMITTEE DENOUNCES EXTRAVAGANCES.

Asks People to Stop Unnecessary Use of Autos and Motorcycles, as They are Absorbing Labor that Could be Put to Much Better Use in the National Defense.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Feb. 17. — The Government War Savings Committee issued the first of a series of appeals in which it will point out to the people of the country facts regarding various forms of expenditure "which should be checked as wasteful and as absorbing labor that could be put to better use."

The first appeal deals with the use of automobiles and motorcycles for pleasure.

"If this form of selfish, thoughtless extravagance is stopped," says the appeal, "millions of pounds will be saved and many workers transferred to more useful channels. We appeal to all owners to consider earnestly whether the use of their cars can be justified by any question of public utility or real necessity.

"We cannot ask the poorer classes to save as long as they see the well-to-do enjoying such expensive luxuries."

REPEAL OF FREE SUGAR DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS PLAN.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Repeal of the free-sugar clause of the Underwood tariff law was approved as a party measure late today by the House Democratic caucus. The vote was 84 to 20.

As the law now stands sugar would go on the free list May 1, with a consequent estimated revenue loss at the rate of $40,000,000 annually. The repeal, which is expected to pass both houses before May 1, is provided for in a bill prepared by Majority Leader Kitchin.

Mr. Kitchin told the caucus today that the preparedness programme was going to cost the government a great deal of money, and the expense would have to be met with as little burden upon and annoyance to the people as possible.

Stamp taxes, Mr. Kitchin said, in many cases were obnoxious, and where possible they would be eliminated. When asked if this would include stamp taxes on wines and liquors, he declared that, on the contrary, those articles might be made subject to increased tax.

A vigorous fight against the free-sugar repeal was led by Representative Keating of Colorado, who denounced the action as a repudiation of party doctrines. Representative Hilliard of Colorado also told how the party in Colorado for twenty years had preached the doctrine that the repeal bill proposed to repudiate.

The following Democrats gave formal notice that they absolved themselves from being bound by the caucus, by reasons of other pledges or conventions:

STEVENSON'S LETTERS SOLD.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Admirers of Robert Louis Stevenson noted today with interest the prices paid for autograph letters of Stevenson in the sale here of the collection of letters owned by Mrs. Salisbury Field of Santa Barbara, Cal. Mrs. Field inherited the collection on the death of her mother, who was the author's wife.

The top price of yesterday's sale was $250, which was paid for an unpublished letter to Stevenson's mother in 1881, in which he mentions that he was paid only $100 for his "Virginibus Puerisque." The letter brought $150 more than the price paid for the original work.

A letter to Stevenson's father in which the author asserted that he was going to rewrite "Treasure Island" brought $225. The sum of $167.50 was paid for a letter to Stevenson's parents in which the author wrote that he had been offered "a hundred pounds—a hundred jingling, tingling, golden-minted quid" for "Treasure Island."

EARL KITCHENER ON AIR ATTACKS.

BELIEVES GERMANY LOST TWO MACHINES IN RAIDS.

Announces in House of Lords that Everything Possible is Being Done to Protect Country from German Operations, but that Some Losses Must be Expected.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Earl Kitchener announced in the House of Lords today that during the last Zeppelin raid it was certain that the British accounted for one airship, which was lost at sea, and that there was good reason to believe a second airship had been put out of action.

Lord Kitchener added:

"Up to the present a hostile air invasion of England has had no influence whatever on the military conduct of the war, and regrettable as is the loss of citizen life and damage to private property, I do not believe the people desire to give too great importance to these attacks, nor to allow them to affect military operations.

"It must be realized that in war it is not always possible to insure safety everywhere and some risks must be accepted in order to be strong at important points.

"It is beyond our power to guarantee these shores from a repetition of air incursions, but we shall make them more costly each time."

AIR DEFENSE.

Outlining the system of air defense in Great Britain, Lord Kitchener said:

"The defense is three-fold. First, good advance information regarding the movements of hostile air craft; second, defense by anti-aircraft artillery; third, attacks on raiders by aeroplanes.

"As regards the first, we now have a system which gives us sufficient warning of impending arrival and probable movements of the enemy. As to artillery, the construction of anti-aircraft guns now has precedence over other ordnance, and now the guns as fast as produced will be distributed to the best advantage throughout the country.

"Attack by aeroplanes at night is attended with great difficulties, but I believe that with more extended practice we shall overcome the difficulties."

"The government will leave no stone unturned in the efforts to prove to the utmost our defenses against Zeppelins," declared Lord Kitchener. "The responsibility for defense will be in the hands of Viscount French, with Sir Percy Scott as his chief adviser."

ASCENTS AT NIGHT.

In reply to a question regarding the use of aeroplanes at night Lord Kitchener said no order had ever yet been sent to a pilot of the Royal Flying Corps to make an ascent at night to attack a Zeppelin. He added:

"Notice is given to each station when the time comes to ascend to intercept a Zeppelin.

"The decision as to whether to fly or not is left to the senior officer on the spot. If he decides that the weather conditions are favorable he is the first to ascend."

WHITMAN STICKS TO HUGHES BOOM.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Feb. 17.—Gov. Whitman, who yesterday was named as one of the four delegates at large to the Republican National Convention, said today he had not changed his mind regarding the advisability of urging the nomination of Justice Charles E. Hughes for the Presidency, and that he does not contemplate a change of position. He made this statement in announcing the receipt of a letter written by Frederick C. Tanner, a member of the "Big Four," requesting a conference of the delegates at large to discuss their mission.

The Governor said the letter contained no intimation of the report that the other delegates at large virtually had decided to indorse Elihu Root.

Life's Seamy Side.

WIFE OF LYMAN AS A WITNESS.

Greatly Shocked at Acts of the Swindler Husband.

Partner Louis B. Thornet is Unable to Get Bail.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Mrs. Leontine Lyman, wife of J. Grant Lyman, who is being sought by the Federal authorities on the charge of using the mails in an oil stock swindle, appeared here today before a United States commissioner as a witness in the bankruptcy proceedings against her husband.

Mrs. Lyman said she met Lyman for the first time in 1914 in Paris, where she was living with her first husband, a British officer. She was divorced soon afterwards and came to this country in February, 1915. She said Lyman never told her much about his business affairs and gave her little money.

Mrs. Lyman returned only last Tuesday from a trip to England, and declared that the news of her husband's disappearance, which was first communicated to her upon her arrival here, was a great shock. She heard from him only twice while abroad, she added. Lyman left behind a sable overcoat for which he was said to have paid $15,000.

Louis B. Thornet, who was employed in the office of John H. Putnam & Co., the firm name under which Lyman operated here, and who was arrested after the firm's collapse, was surrendered today by a surety company, which went on his bond of $10,000. The court then reduced the bail to $5000, but Thornet failed to furnish it and was sent to the Tombs.

Letters From America

By RUPERT BROOKE

These delightful first impressions of our country were written to an English newspaper a few years ago by the young English poet who died in the war just as the power and beauty of his work were everywhere becoming recognized. The letters describe New York, Boston, Niagara Falls, the Rockies, etc., etc. With them is a paper written as the first news of the Great War reached him.

THE WOBURN LADY CURED OF SPASMS

Suffered With Stomach Trouble for Fifteen Years Prior to Taking Plant Juice.

Just because you are not incapacitated from your business, the warnings of stomach trouble should not go unheeded or serious results are bound to follow. The warnings take the form of dyspepsia, indigestion, dizziness, nervousness, constipation, headache, backache, pains in the back and sides, that tired, "run-down" feeling and various other symptoms indicating a deranged stomach, which can be restored to its normal condition by the use of Plant Juice, the herbal system tonic.

Daily testimonials are received from prominent people, testifying how they have regained their health by the use of Plant Juice. Recently the signed testimonial was received from Mrs. Hattie Irving, who resides at No. 16 Court Street, Woburn, Mass., and who was born and reared in Woburn. She stated:

"I have suffered with stomach trouble, indigestion, dyspepsia and dizzy spells for the past fifteen years. I had it so bad that I used to go into spasms with pains in my stomach after eating; even a cup of tea would distress me. I could not partake of any food that was hot. I had to eliminate vegetables and meats from my diet. Whatever food I did eat would ferment in my stomach. I was very nervous and restless at nights and could not sleep well. I had a torpid liver and my skin was as yellow as saffron. I have only used one bottle of Plant Juice and I can now say that I can eat any kind of food. I have no more aches or pains, sleep well, and am not nervous or restless. Plant Juice has cured me, and I am now giving it to my daughter."

Bishop J. H. Johnson

The Right Reverend J. H. Johnson, Bishop of the Diocese of Los Angeles, writes on "Thrift:"

"In the midst of the stress of the hard times which have been foretold for a number of years and intensified by the War, which came so unexpectedly, a good many people are living comfortably and without any anxiety, simply because they had acquired the habit of thrift before the hard times came.

"They have not been lucky, but they were wise and now they are having their reward. Our present experiences are not to be regretted if through them we but learn the lesson which this fact teaches."

AVOID ST. VITUS' DANCE

Physicians are baffled by St. Vitus' dance because it is a nervous disease in which they can find nothing actually wrong with the nervous system.

Long before the child becomes awkward and begins dropping things there is a period in which the appetite is fickle and the patient is tired and listless. The jerking movements characteristic of the disease come much later.

In the early stages a good tonic for the blood and nerves will go far toward preventing the development of the disease. But the tonic must be free from alcohol and opiates for these make the nervous condition worse. When your child appears listless, prefers to sit and read rather than go out and play and requires entirely too much time to get his or her lessons, give a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They cannot do harm, the system is sure to be benefited and you may avoid serious trouble.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write for free booklet on "Nervous Disorders."

UNION JACK FLIES DESPITE BIG GALE.

BRITAIN'S STRIKING PROOF OF HER DETERMINATION.

When Flag Floating Over Victoria Tower in the House of Parliament is Ripped to Pieces Others are Rapidly Substituted as Lesson in Patriotism for People.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Britain gave striking proof today of her determination not to let the Union Jack come down.

A gale proved more effective than the Germans and the great flag which floats over the Victoria tower houses of Parliament was ripped to pieces. Immediately another flag was run up, and again the high wind tore it away.

In ordinary times the officials would have waited until the elements subsided, but not so today. The opportunity to drive home a lesson in patriotism was too great, so when the wind swept four more emblems away in quick succession four more quickly took their places.

The vigil maintained against the wind was as keen as if the foe had been a Teuton invader, and members of Parliament as well as plainer citizens applauded when a new emblem was rapidly hoisted to the place of the old.

The incident attracted wide attention in the British capital and Britons generally observed that it was a tribute to the staying power of John Bull.

PARKHURST INVESTS IN BANKRUPTCY FIRM.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 17.—Harold L. Davis, a former secretary-treasurer of the Franklin Candy Company, which was reorganized under the name of the American Candy Company, which is now involved in bankruptcy, testified before Charles A. Tipling, referee in bankruptcy, in Long Island City yesterday, that the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, pastor of the Madison-avenue Presbyterian Church and vice-president of the two companies, invested at least $82,000 in the defunct concern.

The company built a big plant costing about $250,000 in Long Island City and it is to be sold under foreclosure proceedings to satisfy a mortgage of $25,000.

JAP CRUISERS WITH MILLIONS.

Steamer Pavlof is Helpless off Trinity Island.

Schooner is Standing by to Take Officers Off.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—The Japanese cruisers Chitose and Tokiwa, on board which is said to be $51,460,000 in gold specie for the purchase of war supplies for Russia, arrived today from Japan at Victoria, B. C., according to a telegram received here by a Japanese newspaper.

The Chitose and Tokiwa last were reported in the lee of the Island of Mau, T. H., where they were coaled and provisioned by the Japanese collier Kwanto Maru. The greatest secrecy was maintained regarding the movements of the two cruisers.

Before sailing from Japan the cruisers carried heavy shipments of specie, including the shipment they brought to Victoria, to Maizuru, Japan, from Vladivostok, where it has been conveyed from Petrograd under heavy guard. The shipment to Japan was the settlement of a balance owed by England to Japan which England squared with Russia by giving Russia credit in London.

STEAMER IS HELPLESS.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Feb. 17.—The steamer Pavlof, belonging to the Pacific American Fisheries Company, is anchored in a helpless condition off Trinity Island, at the west end of Kodiak Island, according to a wireless message received here today. The Pavlof lost her propeller yesterday and sent out a wireless call for help. The steamer Alameda picked up the call at Cordova, 400 miles away, and steamed at once to the Pavlof's aid. She had orders to tow the Pavlof, now exposed to southerly and easterly winds, to a safe anchorage. The schooner Hunter is standing by the Pavlof to take off officers and crew in case of need.

The Pavlof, formerly the A. G. Lindsay, a wooden vessel of 1085 gross tons, was built at Detroit, Mich., in 1889, and came to the Pacific Coast several years ago via Cape Horn to be used as a lumber carrier out of Grays Harbor. Afterward she was sent to Alaskan waters because of her strong build.

PANAMA MARU SAFE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—News that the steamer Panama Maru was afire at sea was received here today from Yokohama only to be followed a few minutes later by another dispatch stating that the vessel arrived at Yokohama February 15. Apparently the message concerning the fire was held up and sent after a message filed much later.

CHARGE AGAINST ROTHSCHILD.

San Francisco Man Accused of Associating with Alleged Spy.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—The reported connection of John Rothschild of the firm of John Rothschild & Co. of San Francisco, wholesale grocers, with C. E. Homer, arrested at Apia, Samoa, June 18, 1915, was brought today to the notice of Federal authorities investigating the alleged conspiracies to violate neutrality in which Rothschild was indicted recently, along with thirty-two other individuals and firms.

Homer, said to be a German-American, it was reported at the time, was detained by British authorities pending determination of his mission. He represented himself, it was said, as the agent of Rothschild's firm, looking after a copra contract. Inquiry was made by the British authorities to learn if Homer carried letters which had not been submitted to the censor.

Rothschild said Homer was not his agent, but that he had told him he would be glad to have him send back reports on business and crop conditions in Samoa. He denied that Homer was charged with any mission by him. He said Homer volunteered to gather information while on a trip to Samoa.

At that time there was no hint of the impending prosecution of the alleged conspirators and little attention was paid to the incident. Rothschild explained the incident as due to excessive suspicion by the British of all persons with Germanic names and to Homer's desire to have some American connection to free him from such suspicions. There was nothing to indicate at that time that Rothschild later would be involved in the government's prosecution of the alleged plots to destroy commerce.

STEAMER LOSES PROPELLOR.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17. — The steamer Pavlof, bound from King's Cove to Seattle, was reported today to have lost her propellor between Geest and Trinity Island, south of Kodiak, Alaska, in a message to the Chamber of Commerce. The steamer Admiral Farragut was standing by preparing to tow her to Seattle.

ROWELL IS NAMED TO SUCCEED BROWN.

PRESIDIO PRESIDENT APPEALS FROM DECISION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 17.—William S. Noyes, president of the Presidio Mining Company, was held for trial today by Police Judge Morris Oppenheim on a charge of embezzlement of $50,000 from the mining company's treasury on February 28, 1915. Bonds were fixed in the sum of $1000 or $500 cash bail.

Noyes immediately applied to the Appellate Court and was granted a writ of habeas corpus, made returnable on February 23. A second complaint, alleging the embezzlement of another $5000, is also on file in the Police Court. Noyes was released soon after securing the writ on bail furnished by the clerk of the Appellate Court.

Noyes was arrested on the complaint of Capt. W. S. Overton, U.S.A., who represents the minority stockholders of the mining company.

In his petition for a writ of habeas corpus Noyes says that the evidence taken before Police Judge Oppenheim does not show the commission of any crime and that Judge Oppenheim committed him without reasonable or proper cause. He recites in the complaint that on July 29, 1915, W. S. Overton, with Carl A. Martin, as plaintiffs and stockholders of the Presidio Mining Company, filed a bill in equity in the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of California against the mining company and against William S. Noyes, R. S. Noyes, L. Osborn, John W. F. Peat and L. M. Doherty.

FILING OF SUIT.

He states that this suit was brought for the purpose of having Noyes adjudged to be a trustee of a certain mine or mining claim known as Section 5, which adjoins a claim known as Section 8, both of which are near Shafer, Tex. Section 8 is owned by the Presidio Mining Company. The petition says that Section 5 was acquired by the purchase by Petitioner Noyes of the capital stock of the Silver Hill Mill and Mining Company, which then owned Section 5. The petition says the suit in equity was based on the theory that Noyes holds Section 5 as a trustee for the Presidio Mining Company by reason of a constructive or resulting trust. This bill alleges Noyes was dismissed for want of equity, but a subsequent amended bill was sustained and is pending. The petition states that the sums alleged to have been embezzled were among sums paid by Noyes under contracts.

REPLIES TO OVERTON.

Noyes asserts in the petition that since October 14, 1915, he has been harassed and persecuted by W. S. Overton and that the present felony charges were brought to coerce Noyes to submit to a decree in Overton's favor in the pending equity suit. He declares the facts upon which the alleged embezzlement are based are numerous and so interrelated that it will be necessary to find all of them tainted with crime in order to find one so tainted, and he asks the upper court to hear and determine the character of these facts in order to prevent what he terms "future harassment."

Overton alleged that Noyes, through alleged manipulation of the company's books and alleged connivance with other directors, gained such a control of the directorate that he was able to run things to his own unlawful profit.

SAW MILL DAMAGED.

Fire Causes $200,000 Loss to Lumber Plant at Portland.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 17.—Fire here today completely destroyed the main sawing section of the Inman-Poulsen Lumber Company mill and partially destroyed several other buildings of the plant. The loss is estimated at over $200,000. Five hundred men will be thrown out of work for some time. The mill is the largest on the Willamette River. The cause is not known.

LOSES BY ONE VOTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—G. Pacheco, who has held the office of Supervisor in Marin county for fifteen months, lost his job today when the California Supreme Court finally gave out the official returns, several times revised, of the Supervisorial election in the Fifth District of Marin county, held November 3, 1914. Pacheco, the court held, was nosed out by a single vote by Fred Sweetser.

Mystery.

BELIEVE A WOMAN LURED CHAMBER TO HIS DEATH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STOCKTON, Feb. 17.—Local detectives made little progress today toward clearing up the mystery surrounding the murder of a man believed to have been W. C. Chamber, whose body was found yesterday in Mormon Channel. A fractured skull bears evidence that the stranger was not drowned.

Several letters addressed to W. C. Chamber were found in the dead man's pockets. One of these was an unsigned request from a woman that Chamber meet her "at Main and Commerce streets." She warned him not to approach her "as the police have ordered all street walkers out of the city," but to follow at a safe distance until they arrived at the Santa Fe station, where it was planned to board a train for San Francisco.

The police believe that this woman, whose identity they have vainly endeavored to establish, lured Chamber to his death. But they are unable to supply a motive. That robbery was not the motive for the murder was indicated by the finding of $39 on the body.

"Barnacles."

GRAFT RING IS GROWING.

Forty-eight Legislators Hold State Positions.

All Attempts to Secure Reforms Voted Down.

Initiative to Break this up is Being Circulated.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 16.—[illegible] have been received here of the initiative petition which is now being circulated in an endeavor to break up the rapidly-growing evil of appointing members of the Legislature to vote "right" to positions under the State government that carry big salaries or other emoluments. The petition, which is in the form of a constitutional amendment, provides that no member of the Legislature can hold any appointive position under the State government during the period for which he has been elected.

During the legislative session of 1915 the charge was repeatedly made both on the floor of the Legislature and through the press that the present administration was controlling votes of a number of legislators through the medium of State jobs. An inspection of the State payroll reveals that during the Johnson administration forty-eight members of the Legislature have been appointed to State positions, most of them at high salaries attached. Nearly the whole San Francisco delegation in the Assembly, excepting two regular Republicans, is on the State payroll.

REFORMS SMOTHERED.

During the 1915 session of the Legislature an attempt was made by the minority to submit to the electors of the State an amendment forbidding members of the Legislature to hold other State positions. But this amendment was smothered in committee by the "Progressive" coalition. It was especially offensive to Chairman Phelan of the State Board of Control, who to Al McCabe, political secretary to Gov. Johnson.

At the special session in June the patronage stock was again overworked and for three days there was an open trading market. It became so offensive that thirty-five members of the Assembly who were not bought by the patronage graft met in conference and agreed that they would father a constitutional amendment to abolish this "legalized graft." But the resolution they asserted that the patronage vote had become so great that it was no longer possible to secure a fair consideration of the graft-laden bill by the Legislature.

The proposed constitutional amendment will be circulated in connection with the referendum against the [illegible] noparty bill. It is in line with constitutional provisions of New York and a number of other States, but nearly all those States the provisions of the act was considered by the corrupt trading of patronage for votes.

A HUGE LOSS.

A partial list of members of the present and the preceding Legislature who are on the State payroll reveals that the State now pays them more than $60,000 a year in salaries alone. This means a payment of $240,000 in four years to the members of the Legislature, and this is only a small part of the expense, as most of them have secretaries and confidential clerks who swell the total to more than $100,000 a year.

No other State in the Union employs at the present time or has given employment to so many of its legislators as does California. 1916. These appointments were made directly from Gov. Johnson, and personally made half of them over his own signature.

MRS. PETERSON ASKS DIVORCE

Friends of Oakland Chief Out at Charges by Wife.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

OAKLAND, Feb. 17.—[illegible] son, captain of inspectors, and formerly Chief of Police here, and [illegible] silence today the storm of [illegible] and surprise caused by a suit for divorce filed against him by Mrs. Petersen, charging cruelty, alleging many incidents of [illegible] with Capt. ## President's Blockade government at this capital, informing him of such recognition, is hereto appended.

"The said de facto government has since been recognized by substantially all the countries of Latin America, also by Great Britain, France, Italy, Russia, Japan, Austria, Germany and Spain, and several other countries have recently announced their intention of extending recognition. The said de facto government is at present maintained at Queretaro, near Mexico City.

"It cannot be said that the de facto government of Mexico is a constitutional government. The de facto government, like the majority of revolutionary governments, is of a military character, but as already stated, that government has committed itself to the holding of elections and it is confidently expected that the present government will, within a reasonable time, be merged into or succeeded by a government organized under the constitution and laws of Mexico.

"(2.) After July, 1914, the revolutionary party became divided into factions, thereby delaying the pacification of the country; meanwhile this government took no action, hoping that these factions would, by reunion, be able to restore order. As this desirable result had not been achieved up to June 2, 1915, the President's statement of that date, containing a warning to the leaders of the factions, was telegraphed to the American Consular officers in Mexico for circulation. A copy of this statement is appended thereto.

"Several weeks after the statement was issued, as the factional differences seemed to be no nearer to a settlement, this government sounded the six ranking diplomatic representatives of Latin America as to whether they would confer and advise with this government in regard to formulating some practicable plan, if possible, for the solution of the Mexican problem. Under instructions from their respective governments these representatives signified their desire to co-operate with this government, and the first conference with the representatives was held on August 5, last.

"As a result of that conference the Ambassadors of Argentina, Brazil and Chile, the Ministers of Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala, and the Secretary of State of the United States, acting severally, signed an appeal to the civil and military leaders of the revolutionary factions in Mexico, suggesting that the latter hold a conference to discuss a peaceful settlement of their differences, and offered to act as intermediaries to arrange the time, place and other details of such conference. Identical communications in this sense were under date of August 13 and 14 last sent by telegraph to all generals, Governors and other leaders known to be exercising civil or military authority in Mexico. A copy of this communication is appended.

"The attempt to bring the factions together for a conference failed. Substantially all the commanders and others in authority who were associated with Gen. Villa replied directly and independently in varied language, accepting the suggestion for a conference. On the other hand, all the commanders and others in authority who were affiliated with Gen. Carranza replied briefly to the effect that the appeal had been referred to Gen. Carranza, whose superior authority they acknowledged and who would make such reply as he deemed proper. The inference to be drawn was plain. On the one hand, there seemed to be no central organization among the Villista forces, while on the other hand, submission to a central authority was evidenced in the replies of the Carranzistas. The unity and loyalty of the Carranzistas appeared to indicate the ultimate triumph of that faction, especially as the Carranzista forces were then in control of approximately 75 per cent. of the territory of Mexico. Accordingly, the conferees, after careful and impartial consideration of all the circumstances, decided unanimously to recommend severally to their respective governments that in their opinion the government of which Gen. Carranza was the leader should be recognized as the de facto government of Mexico.

"There is appended hereto a copy of a letter from Mr. Eliseo Arredondo, the local representative of Gen. Carranza in Washington, dated October 7, 1915, transmitting several documents setting forth the programme of the de facto government with respect to the protection of the lives and property of foreigners in Mexico, the settlement of claims arising from disturbed conditions, and other matters appertaining to the restoration of order.

"As to the ability of the de facto government to fulfill its promises to protect lives and properties along the border, the undersigned has the honor to call your attention to the fact that since assurances in this respect were given to this government by the de facto government, the disturbances along the border have in a large measure ceased. In this connection a copy of a letter from the Secretary of War, dated February 10, 1916, and copies of weekly reports for the week ending January 1 and January 19, 1916, prepared by the War Department, concerning certain conditions along the border, are hereto appended. It will be seen from these reports that conditions along the border are practically normal.

"In respect to the evidence in the possession of this department of the ability of the de facto government of Mexico to fulfill its promises and obligations relative to protecting American lives and property in Mexico, the department's information indicates that the de facto government is now in control of all but a few sections of Mexico, and that bearing in mind that the nation is just emerging from years of domestic strife, it may be said that within the territory which it controls it is affording in all the circumstances reasonably adequate protection to the lives and property of American citizens, and it is taking steps to extend its authority over and to restore order in sections now in hands of the hostile factions.

"In this connection, however, it should be stated that the lawless conditions which have long continued throughout a large part of the territory of Mexico are not easy to remedy, and that the great number of bandits who have infested certain districts and devastated property in such territory cannot be surpressed immediately, but that their suppression will require some time for its accomplishment, pending which it may be expected that they will commit sporadic outrages upon lives and property.

"(5.) With reference to the protection of the lives and property of American citizens on or near the Mexican border there is inclosed herewith an extract from a letter on the subject from the Secretary of War, dated January 26, 1916.

"(6.) With regard to the settlement of American claims against the Mexican republic for injuries to the lives or property of American citizens, the undersigned has the honor to direct your attention to the copy of a letter from Mr. Arredondo dated October 7, 1915, and its inclosure heretofore referred to and hereto appended.

"(7.) With reference to the assurances given by the Mexican government concerning the protection of foreigners and 'citizens' particularly respecting the free exercise of religion, the undersigned inclosed a letter on the subject from Mr. Arredondo dated October 8, 1915.

"(8.) As heretofore stated it is not considered compatible with the public interest to transmit to the Senate at the present time the correspondence regarding political conditions in Mexico. Much of this correspondence is of a highly confidential nature submitted by the consular officers of the United States, by diplomatic or consular officers of other governments, which have graciously consented that their officers might supply this government with information during the necessary absence of American representatives and by other persons residing in Mexico. To reveal the contents of the reports submitted by the representatives of the United States and by the representatives of other governments would be incompatible with public interest, as it would tend to impair the usefulness of these officials to their respective governments; and to make public the personal and the frequently confidential statements submitted from time to time by civilians might seriously embarrass them.

"It may be added that the papers requested by the Senate comprise thousands of documents, the greater part of which set forth individual opinion and suggestions from different points of view and therefore contain a mass of divergent and contradictory matter, incapable of reduction to a harmonious statement of fact regarding the situation in Mexico, or of the plans proposed for its improvement.

"(9.) With reference to the request for data, letters and reports relating to the closing of the port of El Paso and reopening the same to importations of meat from Juarez, the undersigned has the honor to state that the port of El Paso has not been closed during this administration to the importation of meats from Juarez. If meats from Juarez were at any time prohibited entry into the United States it was because such meats were not properly prepared to pass the inspection maintained under the regulations of the Department of Agriculture of this government and not because the port of El Paso was closed to any particular class of imports.

"With respect to the revocation of the mining decree issued by Gen. Villa the undersigned incloses an extract from a dispatch from the American Consul at Chihuahua dated July 31, 1915, and a copy of the department's reply thereto, dated August 11, 1915. There is also inclosed a copy of a telegram in regard to this matter from the Mine and Smelter Operators' Association, dated at El Paso, Tex., August 6, 1915, with a copy of an undated telegram from Mr. George Carothers, the department's special agent, received by the department on August 12, 1915, stating that Gen. Villa's mining decree would not be enforced.

"10—Concerning the occupation and evacuation of Vera Cruz by United States land and naval forces, the undersigned has the honor to enclose a copy of Admiral Fletcher's telegram to the Secretary of the Navy dated April 9, 1914, quoting a telegram from Admiral Mayo of the same date, reporting the arrest at Tampico of the paymaster and a boat's crew of the U.S.S. Dolphin, a copy of the letter from the Secretary of the Navy dated January 9, 1916, and an extract from a letter from the Secretary of War dated January 26, 1916, hereinbefore mentioned as enclosure No. 6, in which reference is made to border conditions.

"When the arrest of the men mentioned was reported to the Department of State informal negotiations were begun with the Huerta government with a view to settling the difficulty, but owing to the refusal of Gen. Huerta to comply with Admiral Mayo's demand for a salute, the negotiations were suspended. The American consuls in Mexico were informed by telegraph on April 20, 1914, that the negotiations had been suspended and that the President would lay the matter before Congress on that date, with a view to taking such action as might be necessary to obtain reparation for the offense against the flag and the navy of the United States, and they were instructed to advise Americans to withdraw from Mexican territory.

"On September 15, 1914, at 7 p.m., the Department of State dispatched a telegram to the Minister of Brazil at Mexico City, temporarily in charge of American interests, for delivery by him to Vice-Consul Silliman, in which the latter was instructed to say to Gen. Carranza that the President was arranging to withdraw the American troops from Vera Cruz and that he desired that some responsible authority be named to whom the customhouse could be turned over, and that officials be designated to whom authority in the city could be delivered. On September 22, 1914, a telegram was sent to the Minister of Brazil in which the Carranza government was requested to give certain assurances in regard to the payment of taxes, treatment of refugees at Vera Cruz, and other matters. A copy of this telegram is enclosed herewith.

"On November 10, 1914, the Minister of Brazil at Mexico City telegraphed Gen. Carranza's reply to the assurances requested on September 22. A copy of this telegram is enclosed herewith.

"I have also the honor to append a list, enclosure No. 12, of the citizens of the United States who, from various causes, have lost their lives in Mexico during the years 1913, 1914 and 1915. The total is seventy-six. From the latter part of February, 1913, when the military operations against Gen. Huerta began, to the close of the year 1915, a period of thirty-four months, a great portion of the territory of Mexico was the scene of domestic strife. Yet it may be noted that during the years 1910, 1911 and 1912, when a much smaller area was disturbed by war, forty-seven Americans lost their lives in Mexico, and this was at a time when the country was assumed to be at peace, since the Madero revolution, which began on November 20, 1910, lasted only six months.

"While seventy-six Americans lost their lives in the entire territory of Mexico during the years 1913, 1914 and 1915, in the same period there were twenty civilian Americans and sixteen American soldiers killed on American soil adjacent to the international boundary, and during those years there were approximately ninety-two Mexicans killed in the same area. These figures indicate that a condition of lawlessness prevailed along the border, due in a large measure to factional conflict on Mexican territory for ports of entry and to the unfriendly personal relations existing between the American and Mexican residents in that region. The department, however, has no reliable information as to the number of Mexicans killed on the Mexican side of the boundary and its immediate vicinity as a consequence of this state of disorder."

STOCKMEN TO INVESTIGATE THE WESTERN MARKETS.

Reports Show Exports Increase, Imports Decrease, but Still the Raisers are Making Less Money and the Big Middlemen More. Livestock Conference in Denver.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER (Colo.) Feb. 17.—The reasons for "apparent unnatural conditions in livestock marketing conditions of the Coast," are the subject of a widespread inquiry brought by the American National Livestock Association, according to Gov. W. B. Kendrick of Wyoming and A. E. De Ricqules of Denver, members of the Market Committee of the organization who outlined preliminary steps for the proposed inquiry at a conference here today. A Federal investigation, the exact scope of which is undetermined, is being sought, it was announced.

H. A. Jastro, Bakersfield, Cal., chairman; E. L. Burke, Omaha, Neb., and I. T. Pryor, San Antonio, Tex.

During 1915 it was declared exports of meats showed marked increases over the preceding year and also represented a larger percentage of the amount marketed by producers, while imports, both of livestock and dressed beef, decreased. Producers, it was said, however, received less profit for their products while the earnings of big packing concerns were increased.

Henry Bolthoff of Denver Flees from Place to Place to Escape Mysterious Blonde Woman Who Declares She is His Wife

DENVER, Feb. 17.—Henry Bolthoff, aged Denver millionaire, has learned after eighty years of life that hell hath no fury like a woman who lands on one's neck. Mr. Bolthoff has fled from Denver to escape the presence of a mysterious blonde woman who is searching every mining camp in Colorado for him.

"I am Mrs. Bolthoff," she told the Denver police. "His house is my home. I am not going to let him throw me off."

One night recently when the mysterious blonde was refused admittance to the Bolthoff residence, the woman tore one screen down from its hinges and created such a disturbance that Bolthoff told the maid to permit her to enter. Once inside she attacked the maid, knocking her to the floor by beating her over the head with a small electric lamp. Bolthoff attempted to interfere, but the tiger strength of the woman was too great for him. He also was knocked down. An officer was called. The woman had barricaded herself in a room upstairs. She told the officer she belonged there and intended to stay. Bothoff refused to allow the officer to arrest her. He said:

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 17.—The trial of the separation action which the Princess Aimee Crocker Gouraud-Miskinoff has brought against the youthful Prince Alexander Miskinoff, was up for hearing in the Supreme Court this afternoon. Both parties to the action were in court. The Princess was accompanied by her 15-year-old foster daughter, Yvonne Gouraud, who is said to have been one of the principal causes of the estrangement. It was she whom the Princess is alleged to have "exiled" with the Prince to Edgemere, L. I., to determine by constant companionship whether their affections for each other were as strong as they had believed.

In her petition the Princess accuses her husband of deserting her shortly after their marriage.

Incidentally the prince has announced his intention to ask the court to declare him and the Princess as the parents of an infant child which the lawyer says now shares the Princess' room in a local hotel.

The Princess has denied that there is any such infant as the result of their marriage.

New Nominations Feature Campaign

Widespread Interest in Times Great Automobile and Prize Offer Creates Longing Desire, and Many Women Enter

AND STILL THEY COME!

Keenly alert to the opportunities of winning one of sixteen luxurious automobiles to be given away by The Times in its famous campaign ending March 29, new names and new faces are daily swelling the ranks of women who are determined to win.

Never before were conditions so auspicious for entering as now. With a total of forty costly prizes—nearly half of them automobiles—to be distributed free, and the campaign just getting well started, new entrants have very little to overcome in reaching the top of the voting list. Only four or five subscriptions will do it.

Adding to that the 5000 votes given with the nomination and 15,000 given with the first subscription, the votes on old and new subscriptions will mount so fast that only one day, or perhaps a few hours, may make a new starter today a leader tomorrow.

A noticeable feature of today's standing is the increasing number of candidates, with heretofore only a small vote credit, who are making steady gains. Many of them have written or called at campaign headquarters and asserted that they are going to make things hum in their particular section.

That they can do it is readily conceded. Energy unceasing seems to be one of their strongest characteristics. You can enter today and be one of the ladies to receive a handsome touring car, an electric, or a classy roadster. Furthermore, you can enter today and lead tomorrow.

When filling out stubs, do it carefully. Be sure that the name is spelled correctly; that the street and number is right. If the subscriber lives in an apartment-house, or hotel, put in the number and street as well as the name of the establishment. When you circle either "old" or "new" subscription, be certain first that it is CORRECT. Every person who was receiving The Times on the day this campaign started, is an old subscriber, even though the paper may have since been stopped and again renewed. Switching subscriptions is prohibited—changing the paper from one member of the family to another, at the same address, does not make the subscription a new one. By switching such subscriptions, candidates will forfeit their votes.

All votes listed below were received up to 11 a.m. yesterday, and tabulated on the Burroughs adding machine.

JORDAN NAILS POLITICAL LIE.

Accuses the Progressives of Misleading Public.

Republicans Far Ahead in the Leading Counties.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 17. — Secretary of State Frank Jordan issued a statement this afternoon calling attention to the gross misrepresentation of registration figures that has been sent out of Sacramento by the administration press bureau, which has its headquarters in the offices of the State Board of Control and is conducted at public expense.

Taking advantage of the confusion that was occasioned when a number of county registrars followed the advice of Speaker Young of the Assembly and declined to permit citizens to make their party affiliations, the administration caused to be issued a statement that "the nonpartisan registration in the State is leading the Republican by more than 15,000." This, of course, included about 45,000 nonpartisans in the counties where the registrars declined to receive party affidavits.

JORDAN'S STATEMENT.

When these figures were called to the attention of the Secretary of State he promptly issued the following statement:

"My attention has been called to a registration statement purporting to be based on the records of registration in the office of the Secretary of State. The figures as published are absolutely misleading for the reason that they include as 'declined to register' 15,215 persons registered in Alameda county and a lesser number in other counties that declined to permit voters to register their party affiliation until the Supreme Court decision of January 31, 1916, making it mandatory on county registrars of voters and county clerks to receive and record statements of party affiliation.

"In three counties, namely, Alameda, Sacramento and Imperial, the county clerks declined to permit citizens to register their party affiliation before January 31. Excluding these three counties, the registration of the State to date, as reported by registrars and county clerks to this office, is as follows: Total, 347,538, as follows: Republicans, 161,963; Democrats, 37,-; Progressives, 12,385; Socialists, 3,—; not stated, 74,607.

"These figures include the totals from four or five smaller counties where voters were not permitted to state their party affiliation before January 31, but were not segregated by the registrars in making returns to the Secretary of State's office, and they include the number listed as 'not stated.' But that effects only a few hundred registrations.

"[Signed]

"FRANK C. JORDAN,
"Secretary of State."

SACRAMENTO COUNTY.

Figures received since the Supreme Court decision was rendered show that the number of Republicans registering is now at least three times that of the number declining to state their affiliation. The figures of Sacramento county since January 31 are as follows: Republicans, 230; decline to state, 73. But the figures before the decision was rendered gave more than one declining to state and no Republicans at all.

Alameda county's registration figures seem to have been purposely withheld, as requests for a statement of the registration before January 31 have been disregarded. The report sent to the Secretary of State shows 15,000 Republicans and more than 35,- declining to state. The 5000 have registered since the Supreme Court decision was rendered. The registration of Alameda county is under the control of Mike Kelly, the Progressive boss. There was a scandal in the county two years ago over registering Republicans as "Progressives," the same gang seems to be at work in the same old way.

BRYAN CHALLENGED BY FORMER FRIEND.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 17.—William Jennings Bryan was invited today by telegram to debate with Richard L. Metcalfe of Omaha on the subject of "Direct Primaries" at the national democratic conference of mayors to be held in Chicago March 3 and 4.

The telegram was sent by Albert Lambert, chairman of the Progressive Committee. Mr. Metcalfe says he has consented to speak before the conference.

REV. SPURGEON FILES SUIT.

Anti-Catholic Lecturer Asks $10,000 from Knights of Luther.

DES MOINES (Iowa) Feb. 17.—Rev. Otis L. Spurgeon of Des Moines, former sovereign scribe of the Knights of Luther, who was kidnaped from his hotel and narrowly escaped with his life after delivering an anti-Catholic lecture in Denver in 1914, today filed a $10,000 suit against the Knights of Luther and F. M. Shipper, their leader.

The suit charges that the organization sent out a false letter to its members describing Rev. Mr. Spurgeon as "a hard hitter keeping irregular hours and beating Catholic candidates for office." The former Sovereign Scribe was ousted from the anti-Catholic organization in 1914, after he refused to withdraw as a candidate for United States Senator.

Why Root is Needed.

tion arming itself, it called upon that nation for an explanation as to why it is loading the guns. And this country has no answer to make.

The explanation that we are arming to protect ourselves from invasion of our shores will not do as an explanation. He pointed out the fact that the United States has had rather an overdose of wars during its short career, but never one to protect its territory. All wars have been fought and all future wars will be fought to protect some policy.

He also spoke of the necessity for a great world policy in regard to Mexico, whose resources are regarded by so many nations as the promised land. He said this country is heading straight for war and predicted that the war, when it comes, will be over Mexico.

"Some day," he said, "you will find it necessary to go down into Mexico and restore peace. After you get there and straighten the place out you will find that these various Presidents who come and go have given all sorts of ridiculous concessions to foreign merchants. You will cancel these concessions and in the fear on the part of foreign governments that the formation of your great new army means that foreigners are to be thrown out of the western hemisphere altogether, will come a great war."

Mr. Angell contended that the future welfare of the world and of civilization depends upon the future foreign policy of America and the future foreign policy of America depends upon a real interpretation of the Monroe doctrine, which Europe can't understand and which America refuses to interpret.

A FAMILY AFFAIR.

Delivered to a little family circle of well-known men in public life and coming from a recognized authority on international policies and relations, this speech made a profound impression. It emphasized the need of a man like Root in a very striking way.

Mr. Root has already given to this country two great constructive policies. One was the plan for the government of the Philippine Islands and the other was the present military policy of the United States.

When Mr. Root went into office as Secretary of War he found that the army was governed by an old-fashioned system. This system had been tested during the Spanish-American War and had proved an appalling failure. Whereupon he swiftly made over the army organization from top to bottom. He created the present plan with the War College and the General Staff. Now another and a greater world plan is needed and Mr. Root is again available.

A FORECAST.

It is possible to forecast with fair accuracy the conditions that will prevail upon March 4, 1917, when a new President goes into office. The great European war may not have ended, but it will be clear what the end is to be. It will be known who, if anybody, is to be the victor. The coming summer will be the decisive, if not the final, summer of the war.

By March, 1917, both prospective victors and the prospective losers, if there are to be real losers and winners, will be seeking alliance with and pledges from the United States. Upon the acceptance and rejection of these alliances depends the future of this country and the future policy of the world.

These alliances and treaties will concern, to a large degree, the future of South America. Poverty-stricken, with the people facing crushing taxation and starvation at the same time, the eyes of commercial Europe will turn to South America. Our eyes will be turned there, too. The chances are about fifty-fifty for a great offensive and defensive alliance between this country and the South American republics with some sort of central legislative body—a Pan-American Senate—to place a solfd front against hungry invasion.

In a chaos of trouble, confusion, direful dangers, the whole world will look to America. It will be a situation that calls for a great constructive mind. And it seems clear and obvious that Elihu Root is the finest constructive intellect who has ever been in the public service of this country even from the beginning.

OUR PRESTIGE IN RAGS.

In all the capitals of Europe the prestige of this country is in rags. In Germany they have the utmost contempt for our threats. In England they regard Uncle Sam as a species of squealing hog, afraid to fight and with a snout slobbering with swill thrown out from the soldiers' camps. But fortunately they have piled the blame in all countries not upon the American people, but upon President Wilson. If we replace Dr. Wilson with a man able to think in world terms it will not be too late for the United States to regain this lost prestige. It is recognized in all foreign offices that accidents will happens in democracies.

Drastic.

POLICE MAY RAID ANARCHIST DENS.

HOPE TO THWART NATION-WIDE DYNAMITE PLOT.

Search for Crones, Supposed Poisoner of Soup at Archbishop Mundelein's Banquet, is Still On—New York Paper Receives Letter from the Fugitive.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—The nation-wide search for Jean Crones, supposed poisoner of the banqueters who partook of soup served at the recent dinner in honor of Archbishop Mundelein, was continued today.

The letter signed with the missing man's name which was received yesterday by a New York newspaper found confirmation in two particulars. The police were admitted that asbestos, and not guncotton, was found in two cans in Crones's room, just as the letter stated, and city chemists reported that their tests had revealed a second mineral poison in the soup samples as the letter indicated. The second poison, according to the health department analysists, would tend to act as an antidote for the stronger poison by inducing great nausea.

Government officials who have scrutinized the mass of letters seized by the police in the poison plot took the view that indications of a widespread anti-government conspiracy had been brought to light and advocating immediate steps to defeat it. A plan to utilize a force of fifty secret service men in raids on anarchistic centers was discussed.

AEROPLANE BOMBS TO FALL ON GOTHAM.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 17.—Edward W. Browning, owner of the World's Tower, a thirty-story building at No. 110 West Fortieth street, announced today that he was going to build a steel hangar for aeroplanes on top of his building and demonstrate with fleets of aeroplanes flying over the Times Square section and dropping dummy bombs, what is likely to happen to a big city in a country unprepared to defend itself.

Mr. Browning said that a number of aeroplanes from Garden City, L. I., would circle the tower and drop imitation bombs with searchlights playing on them.

Mr. Browning said he intended to go to and from his work on an aeroplane.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The following official communication, referring to the operations in the Kamerun region of Africa, was issued tonight:

"A telegram dated February 16 from Gen. Dobell (the French commander in Kamerun) states that he has received information from Gen. Aymerich that the French have closed the frontier up to Ngoa and all east thereof. The Campo region column has a few miles to traverse to close the line from the sea.

"Active operations are practically ended and the conquest of Kamerun is complete, with the exception of the isolated position of Mora Hill. The German commandant, Zimmermann, escaped into Spanish territory."

King Peter of Servia

nurses—the American Red Cross and the Serbian Relief and Sanitary Commissions—all these brave young people, who have given so gladly their young lives to fight typhus and the sickening effects of shells and epidemics, of whom not a few rest forever in Serbian soil—was it not they who brought to us the soul of a kindred people from America?

"Above all, today, when thousands of Serbian women and children, unable to flee, remain there; deprived of everything, dependent for bread and shelter upon the enemies of their country, it is they, your compatriots, who at this moment, unobtrusively have set to work to succor the unfortunates, who have lost all, who have need of all."

The aged King leaned forward, fixed the correspondent with wide open, almost sightless eyes: "May God in his mercy reward your country," he cried, and, leaning back in his chair, closed his eyelids, remaining long silent, as one dreaming.

It could easily be seen that he was forcing himself with iron will to speak. He talked slowly, visibly wearied by the effort, with long silences, losing himself from time to time in many and divers memories of things which filled his long, adventurous life.

THANKS HIS ALLIES.

"I know what you are thinking," he continued finally. "You are wrong. For those of our allies who have remained faithful, we have no reproach. They came to our aid too late to save us. But they came. They were not organized for war, nor ruled over by soldiers. Had they been so organized, so ruled, perhaps they would have been able to save us.

"Civilization cannot be made an engine of war and perfected to foresee every contingency. It is inherent in liberty, it acts slowly, clumsily perhaps, but this very slowness and clumsiness constitute the strength of free people. Their triumph is long in coming, but none the less sure.

"I do not know if it is quite understood in America what it is all about that almost the entire of Europe is at war. But I will tell you in a word: It is the supreme, the last effort of feudalism, a fight to a finish between the feudalism of yesterday and freedom of tomorrow. So that is why war had to break out on the banks of the Danube, and not elsewhere, for the Danube separates by so little the most intransigeant feudalism, maintained by unworthy intrigues, like those of the smaller Italian states in the middle ages, from the most stubborn ideal of liberty, implanted in those ready to fight to the last man to realize that ideal.

"Yet we have always wanted to live at peace with the Austrians. Their way has not been our way, but we Serbs are like you Americans, it is part of our creed to live on good terms with our neighbors. Often I have looked from my windows in Belgrade at the fields and mountains of Austria, and have said to myself: 'Now is it possible that we should not be able to live and let live as between neighbors?'

"But it is of the very nature of a feudal state that liberty cannot and must not flourish in the same vicinity and Austria arranged all that in the time of the Obrenovitches. Serbia was made merely a tributary to Austria. She was no longer free at all. By the treaty of 1881 she renounced all her rights. Today again Austria still seeks to follow towards Serbia crushed the same policy as before—to create of Serbia, Montenegro, Bosnia and Herzegovina an empire of vassal states for the benefit of a medieval feud nobility. But we cannot stand that. We are peasants, but free peasants. I am King. I come from the people, but a heroic people who preferred bitter death to comfortable, shameful slavery. My grandfather was a peasant, and I am prouder of that than of my throne. Crowns are lost, but the pure, clean blood of those who have lived of the earth does not die out.

"As for Bulgaria, we have proved that we have no rancor against the soldiers who fought side by side with us for the liberty of the Balkans. We were willing to make enormous sacrifices that they should remain our friends. They did not so will. The obsession of Balkanic hegemony pursues them. Yet, despite everything, I say even now with all my heart: 'Let the Bulgarians live in tranquillity at home. There is place enough for all in the Balkans. All that is required is a little good will.'"

"And Greece, Your Majesty?"

For awhile the King did not answer, seeming unwilling to touch on this subject.

"As for our ally, Greece," he replied at length, "she has understood differently from us. Her interests are in the Balkans, but outside of her refusal to participate in the war, she has in other respects fulfilled the duties of friend and neighbor. Today we are the guests of the Greek people and we are grateful for their hospitality."

UNDER SEVERE STRAIN.

The old man fell silent. Evidently the effort to talk had been a severe strain. The doctor made a sign to the correspondent, but King Peter gathered strength for a final word.

With a single gesture, he brushed away tenderly the restraining touch of an aide-de-camp. He bent forward his broad, square, short-fingered peasant hands, clenched to strike sharply the arms of the chair in emphasis, and shouted the words:

"I believe in the liberty of Serbia as I believe in God. It was the dream of my youth. It was for that that I fought throughout my manhood. It has become the faith of the twilight of my life. I only live to see Serbia free. I pray God to let me live until the day of the redemption of my people. That day I am ready to die if the Lord wills. I have struggled a great deal in my life and am tired, bruised and broken from it."

The King without a country drew up his frail, pain-twisted body to military rigidity: "But I am gathering my strength," he cried again, "to march once more at the head of my men, sharing their trials and sufferings as I did forty-two years ago in Bosnia. I will see, I shall see, their triumph. I shall not die before the victory of my fatherland."

FINDS SUBSTITUTE FOR MANGANESE.

BERLIN, Feb. 17 (via Sayville, N. Y.)—Among the items given out today for publication by the Overseas News Agency was the following:

"Manganese, which has been considered essential in the manufacture of shells, now will be replaced by a new composition made of German materials. "Dardanelles front: An enemy monitor which attempted to approach the coast at Halar Dere and a cruiser which was sighted off Karatepe were driven off by our artillery."

ADVICES FROM CAIRO.

BERLIN, Feb. 17 (via Sayville, N. Y.)—Advices from Cairo as given out by the Overseas News Agency state that the Khedive of Egypt has become discontented and that the British have offered the throne to Prince Yusuf, who has declined. The leader of the Senussi is said to have informed the British he was powerless to suppress the rebels.

The statement given out by the news agency follows:

"The Italian newspaper Ordine of Ancona publishes a report from Cairo dated February 2, that the leader of the Senussi was requested by the British authorities to terminate the combats on the western frontier of Egypt, but replied that he was powerless against the rebels. The British said that the redifs (First Egyptian reserves) who mutinied, must be suppressed with energetic measures.

"The Khedive expressed to the British his intense pain that the redifs had been fired on. He requested Maj.-Gen. Sir John Maxwell, commander of the British forces in Egypt, that the British officer who gave the order to fire on the redifs be court-martialed. In the meantime summoning of the redifs has been postponed.

"The Khedive is discontented and weary. The British have offered the succession of the throne to Prince Yusuf, who declined."

The identity of the Prince referred to is not clear. The reference may be to Youssouf Sadik Bey, chief of the Egyptian Cabinet.

GERMANY APOLOGIZES FOR SINKING ARTEMIS.

THE HAGUE, Feb. 17 (via London.)—Germany has notified the Dutch government that the investigation of the Artemis incident has established that the Artemis was blameless, and that the torpedoing of this vessel was a blunder on the part of the commander of the German torpedo boat. The government has disapproved his action and taken necessary measures.

Germany expresses regret for the incident, offers apologies and offers to pay an indemnity.

SERBIAN DEPUTIES THANK THE FRENCH.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—A telegram was received today by the president of the Senate, Antonin Dubost, from the refugee members of the Serbian Diet now at Nice. The telegram expressed the thanks of the Serbians for the friendly disposition of the French toward Serbia and promised that Serbia would continue firmly to adhere to the cause of the Entente allies.

M. Dubost, in reply, said he hoped the Serbians would not consider France a land of exile, but a second native country.

BREAK A CHILD'S COLD BY GIVING SYRUP OF FIGS

Cleanses the little liver and bowels and they get well quick.

When your child suffers from a cold don't wait; give the little stomach, liver and bowels a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

If your child coughs, sniffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat give a good dose of "California Syrup of Figs" to evacuate the bowels no difference what other treatment is given.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scurf will have disappeared. Two or three applications will destroy every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair.

So she went into the hall, leaving her door unlocked. When she returned, after the telephone conversation, she discovered her purse, containing $100, had been stolen during her absence.

Studying Law.

That Los Angeles bankers are keenly interested in the scientific aspect of their profession is clearly shown by the eagerness with which they have responded to a recent invitation of the college of law, University of Southern California, to study "Commercial Paper and Banking," in their legal aspects. The train which leaves here today for San Diego will be the first freight train to reach the southern city since January 26.

LAST DAY EFFORTS IN BIG CAMPAIGN.

Y.W.C.A. HOPEFUD THAT BELATED GIFTS WILD COME.

Close of Earnest Effort at Sunset Yesterday Showed Total Results Exceeding Forty-six Thousand Dollars for Extension of Protective Work for Girls and Young Women.

The lively and extensive campaign on behalf of the local Young Women's Christian Association, carried on for the purpose of raising funds to extend the work of providing protective advantages for girls and young women who have to work at nights, came to its close at sunset yesterday. The total results showed a fund of $46,049.60. The aim was to secure a fund of $100,000.

Songs and cheers characterized the giving of reports by the team captains. The managers of the campaign and association officials are hopeful that belated gifts will raise the amount to a very appreciable extent. Large gifts will still be necessary if the association is to provide adequately for the task of caring for night workers.

Miss Ida Lindley, general of the gold side, was awarded a huge bouquet, composed of smaller ones of sufficient number to provide one for each captain. The total amount secured by this side was $15,727.05, while the blue side, under the leadership of Miss Sada Johnson, secured $12,313.95.

The men's committee reported $11,000, and the Finance Committee, $7000. The business girls' team reported more than $3000, with the Clark Home team a close second. The team turning in the largest amount was that captained by Mrs. Jay Spence and Mrs. E. S. Pauly, it having secured $5142.

BRIDEGROOM RELEASED.

Makes Restitution to Y.M.C.A. and Escapes Prosecution.

Thomas E. Eggleston, bridegroom of a few weeks, recently arrested in Arizona on a charge of having stolen a crucible and a number of textbooks from the Y.M.C.A. school, was released from custody yesterday.

Deputy District Attorney Heinecke appeared before Justice Hanby and announced that the Y.M.C.A. officials would not prosecute the case, Eggleston having returned the books, paid the expense of sending a detective after him to Phoenix and agreed to make good in other ways.

Eggleston having had a very good previous record, Justice Hanby granted the dismissal.

FOR ACTORS' FUND.

Mayor Sebastian has been invited to become the honorary chairman on the local section of the Board of Moving Picture Campaign for the Actors' Fund of America. Mayors of all large cities have been thus invited to participate in this movement. The allied moving-picture interests are trying to raise $500,000 for the aid of this fund, so that it may be removed from hereafter appealing for public aid. The campaign will culminate on Monday, May 15, which will be designated "National Motion Picture Tribute Day." Every one who receives enjoyment from the work of actors is invited and urged to contribute to this fund, which is used for a broad humanitarian work.

BAIL IS INCREASED.

Instead of securing a decrease in bail as anticipated, attorneys for George C. Norman were informed by Judge Willis that because of a conviction of the man the bail would have to be advanced from $2500 to $4000. Norman was declared guilty by a jury of having secured $7000 from the Pacific Electric Railway for the death of Miss Jeannette Teresa Josephson, whom he represented as his wife. The increased bail is required in order to assure his appearance on May 15, when he will be given another hearing.

EASY WAY TO HEAL COMMON SKIN-TROUBLES

A Baltimore doctor suggests this simple, but well tried and inexpensive home treatment for people suffering with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar itching, burning skin troubles.

At any reliable druggist's get a jar of resinol ointment and a cake of resinol soap. These are not at all expensive. With the resinol soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resinol ointment, and cover with a light bandage, if necessary, to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Uusally the distressing itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again unless the trouble is due to some serious internal disorder. Samples free, Dept. 7-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Harrison Act.

CHARGING DRUG LAW VIOLATION.

Many Heroin Prescriptions for Women are Found.

Dr. E. G. Mattison, one of Pasadena's best-known physicians, was arrested yesterday morning, charged with violation of the Harrison law. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Cassidy at Huntington Park and released on his own recognizance until Monday, when by an arrangement with the State Board of Pharmacy, he will enter a plea of guilty. The maximum penalty is a fine of $100. The specific charge against Dr. Mattison is the unlawful prescribing of heroin, a powerful narcotic.

According to Detectives Harry Raymond and H. Mailheu, working out of Assistant Chief Home's office in this city, who secured the evidence against Dr. Mattison for the State Board of Pharmacy, at least four other arrests will be made today, two men and two women, patients of the arrested physician. These men and women are alleged to have also violated the Harrison Act under which Dr. Mattison will be prosecuted.

The detectives stated last evening that numerous complaints had been received of women being supplied with drugs. A search of the government records failed to indicate that they were receiving the heroin through any official channel. The stock was then transferred to Pasadena and Los Angeles drug stores and in one Pasadena pharmacy alone a score of prescriptions for heroin in large quantities were discovered. These were signed, the officers say, by Dr. E. G. Mattison.

The Harrison Act, a national law, prohibits the giving of prescriptions for habit-forming drugs, except along certain clearly defined channels. It is required that a physician may not give a prescription for these drugs or administer them without making out a report on blanks furnished by the government. The act is so comprehensive that if followed out, it is impossible for anyone to acquire the habit of drug-taking and as all of the government blanks are centralized under the Federal officers of the city, a close watch can be kept on users of narcotics. The habitues can get a supply in unlawful ways only by smuggling, stealing or by the act of a phy-

MAIL BY AIRSHIP.

Postoffice Department Calls for Bids for Aeroplane Service on Twenty-two Routes, One in United States and Others All in Alaska.

Postmaster Brown received a communication yesterday from the Second Assistant Postmaster-General giving notice that bids will be received by the Postoffice Department for the transmission of mails by aeroplane. The limit of the contract in the United States is one year from June 30, 1917, and in Alaska for one year from June 30, 1918.

The circular says that the bids are asked for with a view to ascertaining whether it is practical to convey the mails by aeroplane in such a manner as to increase the postal facilities on routes where travel is difficult.

Of twenty-two routes advertised, only one, from New Bedford, Mass., to Nantucket, is in the United States, the others being in Alaska.

One of the features of the proposal is that the government retains the right to change its mind and not order the service at all, without any recourse on the part of the bidder.

The question of aerial transporation of the mails has been before Congress at various times, but this is the first time it has been proposed to actually utilize the air ships.

Jail.

RUGGED END TO PRIMROSE PATH.

Count a Prisoner Here After Three-year Pursuit.

Leopold Jocelyn Monick, an Alsatian count, whose father was a Belgian banker of international fame ten years ago, will today occupy a cell in the City Jail, charged with forgery. The arrest of Monick yesterday came after three years of incessant pursuit by P. W. Mohan, local manager of the William J. Burns International Detective Agency, as representative of the American and the California Bankers' Associations. The career of the Alsatian count extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific and reads like the opening chapters of a dime novel.

According to Mr. Mohan the count, using a score of aliases, first came under the attention of the police here on June 2, 1913, when he secured $200 on a forged check from a Pasadena national bank. He used the name of Father Joseph Mesny of the San Diego Mission, according to the charge. Father Mesny knew the prisoner's noble father in Europe and on the strength of the family relation issued a letter of introduction to Count Monick to a San Diego bank. In this manner, it is alleged, Count Monick secured the priest's signature and began a criminal career that the officers say has seldom been equalled for successfully eluding the police of almost every city in the country.

Leading a gay life at the large Pasadena hotels, Monick, under the name of Comte Jocelyn Brandenberg, is alleged to have victimized many wealthy tourists. An expert musician and with a continental education he was able to pass muster in any society. His appearance and wide acquaintance with prominent persons enabled him to float bad checks, borrow money and steal art objects, the detectives say.

The charges continue to the effect that, detected in Pasadena after cashing a forged check Monick fled, using the names of L. Y. Smith, Leopold Prevost, Leopold Monin, Jocelyn Brandenberg and Leopold Pouabaix, and left a trail of crime across the United States and back. A score of times detectives were in waiting for his appearance to place him under arrest when, with an uncanny sixth sense, he appeared to realize his peril and escaped.

MANY WARRANTS OUT.

Warrants are known to have been issued in Los Angeles, San Luis Obispo, Moscow, Idaho, Portland, Or., and El Paso. In each of these cities he is alleged to have passed many bad checks, borrowed money and in several to have committed thefts.

Several weeks ago, after the prisoner had been chased to New York, back to California and up and down the United States, he was followed to Ventura, where he is said to have gone disguised. An expert 'cellist, he had at one time made the acquaintance of a Ventura musician, known only as Mr. Smith. Three weeks ago, Mr. Mohan says, Monick entered the home of Mr. Smith and asked for money to get to El Paso. At that time, it appears, he was known as Count Brandenberg. He showed letters purporting to have been written from Europe and said that the male members of the house of Brandenberg were prisoners of war, "somewhere in France." He borrowed clothing and a suit case from Smith and his failure to return them are responsible in a degree for his arrest.

At El Paso the count fell on evil days and was forced for a time to

JOB HARRIMAN IN A BAD WAY.

Socialist Lawyer and Head of Desert Colony Dangerously Sick There.

Job Harriman, Socialist candidate for Vice-President of the United States on the ticket with Eugene Debs in 1900, Socialist-Labor candidate for Governor of California in 1898, later candidate for Mayor of Los Angeles, counsel for Dynamiters McNamaras and Schmidt, and founder of the Utopian failure known as the Llano del Rio Colony, in Antelope Valley, is dangerously ill at this colony.

He went there about two weeks ago in a serious condition, and since that time has been constantly growing worse. His condition is such as to cause grave apprehension on the part of his friends. If he recovers, it is probable that he will have to give up the active management of the Llano del Rio colony and that he will leave California for an indefinite time for the benefit of his health.

The End.

HANGED ON BEDPOST.

Ill and Penniless Mattress Maker, Too Old to Work, Uses Strips Torn From His Bedding to Cause Suffocation. Identification not Certain.

An unknown man, six feet tall, hung himself to a four-foot bedpost yesterday in his room, No. 137 East Third street. He was penniless, friendless and ill, a mattress maker by vocation, too old to work.

He occupied a dingy room in the rear of a lodging-house. Above the bedpost to which his body was hanging, the discolored wallpaper was stained and broken, and during the night someone had thrown some fluid from an upper window, and it had dripped through the ceiling—over him.

He accomplished his purpose by tearing strips from his bedding, and binding his throat to the bedpost. Then he relaxed, and suffocated himself.

The landlord doesn't know whether the man is W. T. Landers or A. L. Huffman, but concludes he is one of them, because of the notation in the register after the name.

The body was taken to the J. D. Button morgue, where it will be held pending identification.

Puzzlers.

SOLOMON IN JUDGMENT.

Status of Sickle as Agricultural Instrument and Eatability of Wild Goat to be Decided by Custom Appraisers Today—Perhaps.

The quarterly appraisers' court will convene at the Federal Building today, when W. B. Howell, a general appraiser of the United States custom service, and H. M. Farrell, a special attorney representing the Attorney-General, will pass upon protests lodged by local importers.

Among the queries to be determined are: Is a sickle an agricultural instrument or can it be used for other purposes and therefore liable to a duty of 20 per cent.? Is nori a Japanese delicacy and therefore free of duty, or is it a prepared vegetable and liable to a duty of 25 per cent.? Are wild goats domestic animals suitable for food, or are they subject to a duty of 10 per cent. under another classification?

It is expected that the hearing will be concluded by a single day session.

FAIRY OPENS ORANGE SHOW.

Wand's Wave Signals Inaugural of Golden Exhibition.

All Citrus Belt Takes Part at San Bernardino.

Southland's Wealth Displayed to Cheering Multitude.

Amid the plaudits of several thousand persons gathered last night in honor of California's great mid-winter event, little Virginia Rentro, a pretty rosy-cheeked fairy, waving her magic wand, brought forth a dazzling burst of vari-colored electric lights, and the Sixth Annual National Orange Show was formally opened in San Bernardino.

The tiny 6-year-old cherub had dropped from midair encased in a huge orange of artificial making, which was "peeled" while she was still suspended. The child had symbolized the Southland's most valued and most famous industry.

Staged under tents covering several acres in the heart of the city, the show is declared to be much bigger and better than any of previous years. It will be open daily for one week, and San Bernardino is taking the week off. The people are working together with one aim—to entertain the visitors and show them in a concrete way the productiveness of the country.

Until this year the show has been held under unfavorable weather conditions. Even then the attendance in 1915 was upwards of 100,000. With no indications of rain, and plenty of sunshine, it is expected this year's crowds will smash all records. People are flocking to San Bernardino from every county in the State, and from many commonwealths of the West. Former San Bernardino residents look upon the event as an excuse for a home-coming week and this, too, is swelling the throng.

The immensity of the wondrous display can perhaps be better told in figures than words. It is estimated that 5,000,000 oranges are on exhibition, used chiefly in the construction of unique and appropriate designs. Assuming that four average specimens of the delightful fruit laid in a row measure a foot, there are 1,250,000 feet or nearly 237 miles of oranges.

SAN GABRIEL VALLEY DAY.

Today has been officially designated as San Gabriel Valley Day, a special feature of which will be the attendance this afternoon in a body of 4000 school children. The Seventh Regiment Band of Pomona and a Monrovia orchestra will play, and Ellen Beach Yaw will sing. During all performances there will be music furnished by various bands.

Preceding the formal opening, J. H. Wilson, banker and president of the show, made a short address, which was followed by the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," rendered most impressively by Miss Violet Van Dusen, the "Song Bird" of Lindsay. While singing she waved the Stars and Stripes.

Mr. Wilson extended a cordial welcome to the visitors, and said he felt confident everyone would concur with the committee in the statement that this exposition is the most beautiful ever given in Southern California, or any place in the world. Others who spoke briefly were Mayor Whitson, H. P. Onewalt and G. W. Pontius.

Retreating from the view of snow-capped mountains on the edge of the city, visitors unaccustomed to the contrast could scarcely believe their eyes when they entered the tent and beheld the vast array of golden fruit. It impressed indelibly upon their minds the one big and essential reason Southern California leads the world in the citrus industry. And then they extolled the climate as en-

She'll do it, too.

This is Sen-Sa-Laf, an Eskimo girl well known here, who warned the police yesterday that she is going to scalp a man who attacked her in her room. Two officers are trying to find the man and save him.

LIKE A BATTLE FRONT.

Workmen's Blasts Send Dangerous Missles Through the Air.

A flying brick came within a few inches of ending the career of Deputy Sheriff Webb, yesterday afternoon. Workmen on North Broadway, adjacent to the tunnel, were blasting a large mass of earth. The charge of dynamite was stronger than anticipated, and the windows in near-by buildings were broken. A brick was blown all the way to Buena Vista street, and dropped less than a foot from Deputy Webb, making a good-sized hole in the sidewalk.

Deputy Sheriff Manning requested the police department to inform the workmen of the danger they were causing the public.

Tribal Custom.

TO TAKE SCALP OF ASSAILANT.

Grave Promise by Eskimo Girl Attacked by Hotel Man.

Sen-Sa-Laf, a comely Eskimo girl who has attracted much attention in club and literary circles in Los Angeles because she is the last of a decimated Alaskan tribe, is going to scalp the man who attacked her in her room, No. 934 West Seventh street, Monday night. She informed the police yesterday that as soon as she finds him she will exact the vengeance that the women of her tribe have been permitted for centuries past, when their womanhood has been assailed. Policewoman Hamm and Detective Williams are trying to find him before she does.

The justice of the wild people on the banks of the Bering Sea is to be transferred to Broadway. All day, the attractive girl, distinctive by her racial characteristics and wearing a beaded band about her head, lingers there with a dirk in her waist, waiting, hour after hour, for the coming of the man who attacked her in the night.

When the police told her they would arrest the man she said: "No. The woman must do it. I not kill him. I just take his hair. I scalp him, then I hang the scalp on the wall of my room. Then other men not dare do such a thing with Sen-Sa-Laf."

She was alone in her room in the lodging-house where she lives when the vicious attack occurred. She had gone to the bathroom, and when she returned, a man who she says is a hotel man was in her apartment. He had turned the light out. As she entered he seized her.

Then followed a terrible struggle. Sen-Sa-Laf is but 4 feet, 7 inches tall. But she has the strength of the northern sinews, the tremendous vitality of the Indians of the open. She fought valiantly. She tore handfuls of hair in the elemental fray. She ripped open the man's cheek, and she dug her nails so fiercely into his shoulder, and bit him, that he screamed, and throttled her into unconsciousness.

Her body is one collective bruise and her back may be permanently injured from the frenzy of her struggle.

Remarkable Arson Plant Found in Nick of Time.

Premature Ignition Betrays it and Saves Lives.

Police Seeking Boy Who Does not Care for Work.

What may prove to be a boy's endeavor to establish a reason for not working almost resulted in the death of twenty-five persons last night when diners in the restaurant next door discovered a peculiar light behind the doors of the barber shop at No. 505 Aliso street, and rushing in with Capt. Phelps and Assistant Chief Todd of the Fire Department, discovered an intricately-prepared arson plant on the verge of a complete explosion. The premature ignition of one section of the plant, fortunately the smallest and most harmless section, caused the betraying flames to spout so that their light shown through the cracks of the door.

The building at No. 505 Aliso street is owned by Frank Ribaut, of No. 964 East Tenth street, and is a combination barber shop, restaurant and boarding house. The door of the barber shop fronts on Aliso, while the restaurant has its main entrance on Vignes street. The two stores are back to back, with a connecting door between their back rooms. Upstairs, approximately twenty-five persons occupy eleven boarding rooms.

The barber shop is operated by Andrew Montana and his 17-year old son, who live at No. 753 Boyle avenue. The restaurant and boarding house are operated by Mrs. Georges Endreatta. At the accustomed hour last night, Joe Montana was seen to close up the barber shop and leave. His father has been ill for several days, and during that time the boy has operated the business.

Probably twenty minutes later, Mrs. Endreatta, preparing food in her kitchen, smelled smoke. Peering through the cracks of the door that opened from her kitchen into the rear room of the barber shop, she saw flames shooting from the center of the room.

Screaming for help, the woman ran through her restaurant. An alarm was sent in and Capt. Phelps and Chief Todd answered with the department. Rushing into the room where the flames were roaring, they discovered a can of coal oil blazing furiously in the center of the room. In two corners were groups of oil cans superimposed on shavings and excelsior, while cunningly set in the shavings were two burning candles. The candles had not burned low enough to ignite the inflammable material. The coal oil in the center of the room had been ignited from a similar candle that had burned faster.

Chief Todd and Capt. Phelps sprayed the flames and blew out the two candles burning perilously near their goal. Detectives Glenn and Stevens hurried to the house and made a thorough inspection. It was evident that had the three candles burned down with equal rapidity, a conflagration would have ensued that would have almost instantly demolished the building and killed the persons upstairs.

Because all the barbers' supplies and paraphernalia were stacked up on a shelf where they would be consumed first, the detectives assumed that whoever committed the arson had an ulterior motive.

Acting on this theory, the detectives instituted a search for Joe Montana. According to Detective Glenn, the boy detested his work. During his father's illness, he has not worked very hard. Glenn firmly believes the youth will be able to tell a great deal about the incendiary plant. It is thought the youth took this way of demolishing the implements he hated.

Where the Orange is Emperor of All.

Striking bits from the orange show.

At the top is the exhibit of the Redlands Chamber of Commerce, representing the seal of California. At the bottom, the "Horn of Plenty," exhibited by the Mutual Orange Distributors, an organization representing practically all of Southern California, and in the center is little Virgina Renfro, who, while suspended in mid-air, waved her magic wand, which was the signal for illumination and the formal opening of the show.

this stock, represented today by an annual export of thousands of cars, is still preserved on the grounds of the Mission Inn at Riverside.

GROWTH OF INDUSTRY.

With pardonable pride the orange growers at the show are telling the visitors of the greatness of the industry. They point out that the citrus crop in California increased 225 per cent. from 1895 to 1900; 71 per cent. from 1900 to 1905; 10.9 per cent. to 1910, and 48.5 per cent. from 1910 to 1914. In the last decade the increase has been 128.9 per cent., and there is every indication that a better average will be made in succeeding years.

In addition to oranges, lemons, grapefruit and all of the specimens of the citrus family are used in the general decorative scheme at the show. There is something unusual and entertaining about each. Some exhibits are just plain arrays of fruits, costing very little to the exhibitor, while others represent the expenditure of large sums of money. One display, it is said, cost more than $1500.

Among the citrus-growing districts south of the Tehachepi represented at the show are Whittier, Corona, Covina, Claremont, Puente, Walnut, San Dimas, Baldwin Park, Lordsburg, Arcadia, Azusa, El Monte, Colton, Glendora, Monrovia, Pomona, Orange county, Carpinteria, Lindsay, Riverside and Redlands.

Orange county proudly boasts of two principal industries—oil and oranges. As a result it was not satisfied to exploit the wonders of its citrus products, and erected at the show an attractive derrick, which is built of oranges. This display is in personal charge of A. S. Bradford and G. M. Young. The derrick, in common with all other exhibits, is brilliantly illuminated, small electric globes fitting in between oranges much larger. Near the derrick is a pump which is kept in constant motion, drawing oil from the ground and conveying oranges from a miniature train. Both products are loaded into ocean vessels at an artistically-constructed dock.

Colton is represented by a monster bear made of oranges, and it attracts no little comment, because Colton is known as the Hub City of the orange belt. Messrs. B. H. Stephens, P. H. Reed, E. E. Vanleuven and W. F. Sharp are in charge of the exhibit.

TULARE COUNTY'S COACH.

In addition to its large rack display, the Lindsay (Tulare county) exhibit, in charge of T. E. Anderson, is one of the most effective of the group. Dashing down a mountain of oranges is an old stage coach which was a transportation factor of the early days. Leading the coach are four beautiful white horses, frothing and their nostrils extended.

The University of California experiment station at Riverside has an interesting and instructive exhibit, showing the various diseases to which citrus trees are subject and the method of curing and preventing them. There is an able instructor with this exhibit, who is kept busy answering questions.

With a complete packing-house equipment and nearly a score of attractive young girls neatly attired and at work, the exhibit presented by the Fontana growers is of unusual interest. Fontana is one of the new districts in Southern California, but it has made remarkable progress, one of its achievements being a strictly up-to-date packing plant. Oranges from Fontana's young trees are being packed, set on to cars and prepared for shipment East in the presence of spectators.

In the Indian Village are numerous specimens of the handiwork of the earliest inhabitants of this country. Blankets, crockery and other odd relics fill the place, while young and vivacious Indian maids and young men take pride in showing them.

BALANCED WITH GOLD.

San Bernardino was content to take the honor of fathering the annual show, but to impress upon all its justice and fairness in exploiting the industry the committee erected a set of scales, built, of course, of oranges. In one of the balances is placed gold, while in the other are $20 gold pieces. It is needless to say that this ostentatious display is watched with great care.

The Mutual Orange Distributors, with headquarters in Redlands, an organization covering all of Southern California, demonstrates its unity of purpose by a great Ferris wheel, while the Inland Empire Chamber of Commerce is represented by the "Seal of California." A bear, seven feet long and seven feet high, is built of pampas plumes. Its head faces the main entrance to the tent, aways from side to side, opening and shutting its mouth and [illegible]

RECALLS DAYS OF PADRES.

While the throngs were enjoying the rich display within the canvas walls, there stood at the entrance of an Indian village which had been installed by Frank Miller—lover of the Southland's early lore, and proprietor of the famous Mission Inn—a bent and wrinkled little old man. By the color of his skin, the coarseness and blackness of his hair, and prominent features, it was plain that he came of the race that first cultivated the orange in Southern California. He spoke to a passerby with a tinge of bitterness, but he spoke the truth. This is what he said:

"I suppose I should be happy to see all of these people enjoying the fruit of our early labors. Not myself, but my people. It was they who commenced the growing of oranges in this country. The padres brought a few trees and my ancestors set them out. In the Franciscan chronicles still there are records of bearing trees in the gardens of the mission at San Buena Ventura in 1792. About the old mission at San Gabriel in 1804 orange trees were planted. From then on the growing of oranges became more extensive, until 1865, when it became an industry when 200 trees were thriving on the Crafton place, near Redlands, with 25,000 trees in California."

Further history of the orange industry, forgotten by the Indian, shows that the real beginning of development was in 1873, when L. C. Tibbetts of Riverside secured from the Department of Agriculture shoots of seedless fruit, now known as the Washington navel. The parent of all

UNANIMOUS FOR PREPAREDNESS.

M. and M. Indorses Chamber of Commerce Plan.

Board Asks Congress to Provide for Yosemite.

Work of Charities Commission is Approved.

The board of directors of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association yesterday afternoon unanimously adopted a resolution indorsing the plan for preparedness recently presented by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and one asking Congress to appropriate $300,000 for the Yosemite National Park, and to provide for a national park service.

The board took an emphatic stand against the promotion of so-called "police souvenir" booklets, to which merchants are asked to give patronage. It authorized the issuance of the following warning to members of the association:

"Some advertising promoters again contemplate the issuance of so-called 'Police Souvenirs.' This association has in years past appealed to the authorities against such schemes, and they have condemned such publications. In order to eradicate this annual pest we call upon our members to absolutely decline to contribute or advertise in the publication, no matter what representations may be made by the solicitors, or what indorsements may have been obtained. It is the duty of the officials to protect the public and not to aid in private advertising schemes that are unworthy and are only in the interest of the promoters."

The board also issued the following statement of its attitude regarding the management of charities and soliciting individuals and bodies by the Municipal Charities Commission:

"The Municipal Charities Commission, created about two years ago by ordinance of the City Council, has greatly improved the efficiency of the charitable institutions, and, at the same time, compelled unworthy and mismanaged institutions to either abandon their work or comply with the rules laid down by that commission.

"The recent decision of the Supreme Court of the State of California has established the right of cities to regulate charities for the prevention of fraud and mismanagement, but that decision declared that the ordinance under which our Municipal Charities Commission is operating is in some respects too drastic.

"It is strongly desired that an amended ordinance be passed by the City Council, giving the Municipal Charities Commission the scope that it requires for effective work and still comply with the decision of the Supreme Court.

"In order to accomplish the desired end we would urgently request you to mail us your opinion as to the advisability and necessity of such action by our City Council, and express your opinion as to whether the policy heretofore followed by the Municipal Charities Commission has been of the advantage to the citizens of Los Angeles.

"We further desire to impress upon you the necessity of continuing the demand for a written indorsement of the Municipal Charities Commission before contributing to any charity in this city.

DRUNKENNESS.

Police Court Cases Dwindle Under New Plan's Workings.

Drunks in the morning court today will face Rev. Charles C. Selecman, pastor of Trinity Church, who has arranged to sit with Judge Griffith Jones. Attorney Jones has been sitting regularly at the morning court.

Mr. Jones has found that the drunkenness originates in a few saloons, and is now co-operating with the organization of saloonkeepers to eradicate the system of selling liquor to habitual persons.

As a result the attendance at the police court has dwindled from twenty and thirty men daily to an average of ten.

Chief Galvely has directed the police to work in harmony with Mr. Jones. He has received inquiries from eastern cities seeking to learn the system by which the result has been obtained. Prominent professional and society persons have become so interested they have forsaken the morning naps for the brisk experience of observing the working of the sunrise court.

MISSED PAPERS SOUGHT.

Theft of Clothes and Watch Nothing to Later Loss.

Above all his possessions George Stevens prizes his birth certificate and his father's naturalization papers, and he has offered a reward for their return. Mr. Stevens lives at No. 245½ East First street. His suit case was in the storeroom of the lodging-house that was recently stolen. Prior to that thieves had entered his room and had taken his clothing and his watch. Mr. Stevens did not protest to the police about that, but when he missed his clippings and private papers that were gone he appealed to the police for their return, and offered a reward. He said the newspaper clippings contained many beautiful poems which he did not wish to lose.

DOCUMENTS AFFIRMED.

Supreme Court Supports Two Important Local Decisions.

The Supreme Court has affirmed the decision against the Willard-Slater Company, contractors, in the action brought by John W. Fountaine, a hodcarrier, who alleged that while in the employ of William A. Venable, a subcontractor, he had been badly injured by falling off a ladder. The court held that negligence had been clearly proved in the original action Mr. Venable was one of the defendants, and the judgment was against the contractor, which appealed.

In the action brought by Mary Jane Bell, administratrix of the estate of Solomon Bell, against C. Wilson, the Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county, in favor of the defendant. The action was brought by a judgment creditor who sought to have held void a homestead declared by a judgment debtor upon real property, the claimant that it was not a valid homestead. The plaintiff, Mary J. Bell, had a judgment for $9000, and it was claimed that the homestead was worth $10,000, sufficient to satisfy the judgment. The validity of the homestead was upheld by the Supreme Court.

SKIDS INTO BANKRUPTCY

Owner of Sightseeing Car that Turned Over on Harbor Trip Confesses Insolvency, Listing Damage Suits as Preponderant Liabilities.

George J. Petermann, a transfer and sightseeing man, who resides at No. 2704 Ellendale place, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday. He gives his debts as $35,064.89, of which about $73,000 is in the shape of suits for damages claimed for personal injuries.

These suits were filed against Mr. Petermann by passengers alleged to have been injured February 24, 1914, when a ten-ton automobile truck used for transporting prospective real estate buyers to a tract near the harbor skidded and turned over at Seventy-third and Main streets. There were twenty-one men, women and children in the truck when the accident occurred.

Amy D. Harrison of Grand Island, Neb., who was one of the passengers in the car, was awarded a judgment for $700 against Mr. Petermann, in Judge Wilbur's court on the 11th inst., for injuries sustained to her right hand in the accident.

The assets of the alleged bankrupt are given at $11,707.24, of which amount $6600 is the claimed value of eleven motor vehicles. Among the assets is $1020.10 said to be due on an open bank account.

E. H. Watson and James E. Merit, doing business as the Golden State Wet Wash Laundry, Nos. 1489-91 East Fourth street, also filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday. The debts of the concern are scheduled as $8685.05, of which $5170.49 are unsecured. The assets are the machinery and tools at the plant, alleged to be worth $5000.

IMPORTANT RULING AS TO ANNEXATIONS.

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF A STATE ACT IS UPHELD.

This Prevents Venice Trustees from Calling Election for Annexation of Ocean Park Heights, as Petitions are Insufficient Under Decision of Court.

In a verbal decision yesterday Judge Finlayson held that the Trustees of Venice cannot proceed with the election for the annexation of Ocean Park Heights, on the ground that the petitions filed do not contain the requisite number of signers.

The decision is regarded as important and appears to be the first bearing on the question.

The petition filed with the Trustees calling for the annexation of the territory was signed by certain electors who had registered since January 1. It is the duty of the city to call an election, if any petition is signed by a requisite number of qualified electors. Joseph Mesmer and others, the Recreation Gun Club and the Del Rey Gun Club filed a petition for a writ of review, asking the court to review and annul the act of the Trustees in calling the election.

The act of 1889 provided that for such annexations a petition must be signed by not less than one-fifth of the qualified electors of the municipal corporation. In 1913 the Legislature added to the Political Code section 1083A, providing that referendum petitions could be signed only by those who at the time signed the register as qualified electors.

In 1915 the Legislature amended section 1083A by extending its provisions to all papers and petitions so that, if the section be constitutional, a petition to annex territory must be signed by those electors who have registered since January 1 last. Many of those who did sign while on the Great Register last preceding 1916 have not registered since the first of the year, and if their names were disregarded it would leave the petition lacking the requisite number of electors.

The case reviewed by Judge Finlayson involved the constitutionality of the act of 1915, whereby section 1083A was amended. The court held that the amendment was valid, that it did not validate any of the inhibitions of the Constitution, and that therefore, because many of those who signed the petition did not possess qualifications now prescribed by section 1083A of the Political Code, the petitions filed did not contain the requisite number of signers. The writ was allowed to be issued, prohibiting the Trustees of Venice from proceeding to hold the election annexing the territory which the petitioners claimed was mostly swamp land and unproductive of taxes.

RETURNS TO HIS TRIBE.

Aged Indian Leaves City Life to See His "Bully Horse."

Samatavo, a Mojave Indian, who came last summer to live with Henry Christeen Warnack, departed yesterday for the Mojave reservation near Needles, for a visit with his tribesmen and to look after his horse.

"Him bully horse," said Samatavo. He then told about how he came to own his first pony, in 1844, when Gen. Taylor used him as a messenger boy, and gave him a good horse for his long rides.

Samatavo thinks he was only between 12 and 15 years of age at that time, but even this would make him between 84 and 90 at present.

If the late Gen. Adna Chaffee were still living he could confirm the story that Samatavo tells of his earliest experiences with the white soldiers, as Samatavo knew Gen. Chaffee when he was a young captain.

The other night he visited the Igorrotes from the Philippine Islands, in a museum on Main street, and he was puzzled for some time as to what sort of Indians they were. Finally he took from his pocket a 5-cent cigar wrapped carefully in tinfoil, with a paper covering about that, and handing it to the ugliest of the Filipinos, Samatavo grunted, "Him Navajo." If Samatavo's neighbor tribesmen get any advance word of this remark there is likely to be a fresh Indian war when he reaches home.

TROUBLES PILE UP FOR BRETTS.

One Named as Co-respondent in Divorce Case.

He's Also Sued for Large Sum on Alienation Charge.

Has been Engaged with Parents Defending Their Estate.

Troubles never come singly, Albert H. Brett might have exclaimed yesterday, when he was served with papers in a divorce suit in which he is named as co-respondent and in a $50,000 alienation of affection action.

For some time Mr. Brett has been preparing for a bitter fight in the district court of Cerro Gordo county, Iowa, involving the $2,000,000 estate of his 90-year-old father. In this legal battle he is arrayed with his father and mother, the latter 88 years old, against George Brett, his brother.

The divorce and lost love suits were filed by Charles H. Adkins, a former attorney in this city, now practicing in El Centro. The love suit shows that the Adkins were married at Ada, O., December 13, 1892, and have a son and daughter, their ages being 17 and 22. The wife and mother is Lora G. Adkins. The domestic relations appear to have been happy until January 1, 1913, when it is alleged Mr. Brett met Mrs. Adkins.

Mr. Adkins, through Attorney Duke Stone, asserts that Mr. Brett frequently visited his home without his knowledge; that the alleged clandestine meetings resulted in drives, lunches, dinners, the theaters and movies and visits to Catalina and other places.

The Brett estate is one of the largest agricultural properties in the Middle West. George Brett arrived in Los Angeles last January, the ostensible purpose being to effect a settlement out of court of the legal action growing out of the aged couple signing over to him, their eldest son, the great estate under what they declare was misrepresentation, but which George Brett says was an ordinary business transaction.

Out of the large estate not even the small bungalow at No. 2701 Manitou street, this city, where the aged couple live, remains to them. They say everything is in the hands of George. The father has an allowance of $150 a year and the mother gets rentals from certain properties.

Albert H. Brett, the younger son, and the children of his sister, Mrs. Emma Brett Wheeler, are joined in taking from George Brett the executive power of the estate. This power was obtained years ago by means of a warranty deed.

George Brett says he has been keeping the property in trust for his father and mother. The father says he signed the warranty deed, thinking it only a trust agreement. George Brett was unsuccessful in settling the case, and returned to Iowa to prepare for the struggle.

Good Tamales.

SHE STILL MAKES 'EM.

Woman Held in Jail is Expert in Creating Mexican Food and Delegation Asks for Her Release. Triumphant Return to Cooking Pots.

Sonoratown sent a delegation of forty tamale connoisseurs to the police station yesterday to rescue from durance the champion tamale maker of the city, Mrs. Maria Alonzo. She was held for a frank but unconventional domestic relation. The committee decided to pay any fine necessary to get Mrs. Alonzo free to return to her tamale oven.

When Police Judge Chesebro saw the earnestness of the delegation and heard their determination voiced, he asked City Defender Pope to investigate the case.

Mr. Pope learned that Mrs. Alonzo's husband had abandoned her five years ago, had gone to Mexico, married a war widow, and had written to his wife here that he was contented and prosperous in the land of his birth, and not to expect him back.

She said it was the custom in her native place for a woman who was deserted by her husband, to get another husband. So she selected a man whom she intended to marry as soon as she could get a divorce.

When Police Judge Chesebro heard the details, he decided she was not guilty of vagrancy, and with the delegation as an escort she returned in triumph to her tamale stand at No. 423 Ducommun street.

CONFLICTING VIEWS.

Attorney Insists Wife was Notified in Lewis Divorce Suit.

John Munro, who was attorney for Charles L. Lewis in his action for divorce from Bertha L. Lewis, stated yesterday that he has positive evidence the summons in the divorce proceedings was regularly served on the defendant, notwithstanding the claim that has been made that the woman was unaware of the suit.

Mr. Lewis committed suicide a few days after marrying his second wife.

Mr. Munro states that the action for divorce was filed in Los Angeles on July 16, 1914, and the same day Mr. Lewis filed an affidavit stating that Mrs. Lewis's residence was in Shickshinney, Luzerne county, Pennsylvania, in his application for an order of publication of summons.

The order was issued the same day by Judge Woods, and as a special protection he wrote across it the words: "Personal service by a Sheriff in Pennsylvania shall be made." On July 30, 1914, the Sheriff at Dorrancetion, Pa., sent a letter to Mr. Munro containing an affidavit that he had made personal service of the summons on Mrs. Lewis.

The second Mrs. Lewis has engaged Rose & Scoville as her attorneys in the matter of the Lewis estate.

ACTION SOON ON TRUSTEE PLAN.

PRESERVATION OF UNION OIL'S POLICY IS SOUGHT.

Proposition for Creating Board of Control to be Submitted to Holders in Few Days—Garrigues's Charges and Requa Option are Dealt with in Letter by Stewart.

The matter of establishing a trusteeship of stock in the Union Oil Company will be formally placed before the stockholders of that concern and the holding corporations in a few days, according to an announcement made in a letter signed by Lyman Stewart, chairman of the board of directors of the Union, and mailed yesterday. This letter was declared by Mr. Stewart's representatives, he himself being out of town, to be the only authorized letter issued by him. The trusteeship, as indicated in The Times several days ago, is designed to secure the absolute control of the Union Oil Company, which was dissipated through the sale of stock to Andrew Weir and his associates, and, it is planned, will exist for seven years.

Stockholders are urged to be present at the approaching meeting and special meetings which may be held during the year, for, the letter says, "It will be a question of vital interest to the company—and to you, its stockholders—whether its affairs shall receive the continued attention and guidance of the experienced oil men who have built up and established its large and successful business, or whether the same shall pass into the hands of men inexperienced in the oil business, or be thrown open to exploitation of predatory interests, actuated by personal ambitions."

Refutations of the charges of mismanagement, etc., made by John Garrigues, former treasurer of the Union, against the Stewarts is also contained in the letter, in connection with which it is stated that while treasurer of the company Mr. Garrigues not only sought to usurp the functions of the other officers, but of the directors as well, and that he said he seeks to secure control, not only of the oil industry, but also of the lumber business, the banking business and the politics of the Pacific Coast (a colossal trust concept.)

The Requa option is touched on as follows: "Early in January last the Stewarts gave an option to Mark Requa for the purchase of their stock at $95 per share cash, which was conditioned upon his offering an opportunity to every stockholder of the Union, United and Provident companies to sell their shares of stock to him at identically the same price and terms as the Stewart stock was to be sold, and obligating him to buy and pay for all the stock offered by such stockholders. A letter was immediately prepared and envelopes addressed to each of you, advising you of this option and its terms, but before the letter could be mailed Mr. Requa advised us that the option could not be exercised. Hence the letters were not sent out. This is now a closed transaction, and Mr. Requa has voluntarily canceled and returned the option. However—with full knowledge of all the facts—the terms of this option and the facts concerning its being given have been grossly misrepresented."

CHARGED WITH DEFRAUDING.

G. S. Speers of Yorba Linda was taken into custody yesterday at his home by Detective Green on a charge of having defrauded insurance companies of $1100 through the burning of three houses which he occupied at various times. Deputy District Attorney Keetch issued the warrant for his arrest. He was arraigned before Justice Summerfield and his preliminary examination was set for this morning. He was sent to the County Jail in default of $2000 bail.

Perhaps the painful twinges of rheumatism, lumbago or sciatica are torturing you twenty-four hours of the day and night. Many have a restless sleep disturbed two or three times a night by over frequent urination. Sometimes painful if the bladder is inflamed and irritated by uric acid, which leaves a brick dust deposit or makes the urine cloudy. To overcome all these dangerous and often fatal conditions remove the real cause of the trouble, which is nine times out of ten uric acid.

Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel of Buffalo, N. Y., has for over forty years made safe and reliable family medicines. ## TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) The uncertainty of the foreign situation, raised because of the long-drawn-out controversy over the Lusitania, caused a weak feeling among investors in foreign securities, and also in some domestic stocks that are affected by the war. Industrial concerns are increasing dividends and raising their rate above anything heretofore paid. Metal stocks are uniformly higher.

(Abroad:) Greece is withdrawing her British deposits and sending them to New York, about $75,000,000 so far having been withdrawn from London. French imports are increasing. January's trade balance was 416,000,000 francs against France.

(For details, see financial pages.)

EASY TO FORGET.

We notice a judge in New York says that a man who cannot forget a love affair is a menace to the country and is unsafe at large. Now it struck us that most of the lawsuits of this character are brought about because so many men find it much too easy to forget.

LIFE SAVERS.

This Carnegie Hero Commission overlooks a chance for the awarding of many medals. Right here in Los Angeles scores of pedestrians save automobiles and the lives of their drivers every day by not running over them. Some of them stop under the very hoods and wheels. You never hear of them getting any medal.

NOT THE ANSWER.

A weekly periodical in discussing youth says it is the spirit which makes "I wish" and "I will" mean just the same thing and that age comes when there is a difference between the two verbs. This is not an acceptable definition to us, because youth is always wishing that something will happen and age is always hoping that nothing will. Besides, while youth wishes for a great deal, it never takes to heart those events that do not occur.

MONEY IS FOR USE.

A financial expert from New York advises Los Angeles that unless Americans get busy with the foreign trade, all of the money that Europe is now pouring into the coffers of the United States banks will be sent abroad again at the close of the war. In as far as money stands for other values, this will prove true unless America needs its own money for investment in actual production. Money cannot be idle but it cannot make more money unless something else is first made. It must be invested in the making of other things. Europe will be obliged to plunge into a frenzy of manufactures and on this account America, for all of its apparent activity, is strangely dilatory.

MAKES A RECORD.

Former Senator Bulla has presided over his last meeting of the board of directors as president of the Chamber of Commerce and has the satisfaction of knowing that he was at the helm during an epochal year for Los Angeles. It is doubtful if any member of Congress had more to do with national and international legislation and the study of American problems in 1915 than did the heads of the various commercial organizations of the larger cities in the United States. Mr. Bulla's life interest in these subjects prepared him well for his important post and Los Angeles and its big body of boosters made some far strides under his regime. A good man will be succeeded by a good man when Mr. Bulla hands the gavel to John S. Mitchell at the next meeting of the board.

HAIL, GENTLE SPRING!

Here in God's country "the time of the singing of the birds has come and the voice of the turtle is heard in the land," while in the East the birds have not yet left their winter quarters, the remarks of the turtle are not audible, and winter refuses to budge from the lap of spring.

"Ethereal mildness" has been with us for the last four days and she has been very busy. She has touched the peach and the apricot and the apple trees, and they have responded with a wealth of pink and white blossoms. She has walked over the lawns that last week were still lurking under their winter covers, and they have sprung up to her ankles with pure delight.

The animal as well as the vegetable kingdom enjoys the uplift of the thermometer. The sheep are bleating, and the calves are frisking, and such horses as the nasty autos have left us are whinnying and longing to rub their noses against you.

And the humans are singing their songs of greeting to gentle spring. There are three near octogenarians connected with The Times who appeared yesterday clad in light colored garments, with rainbow hued neckties, and one of them who was called an old stiff by an irreverent youth offered to run a 100-yard race for fun or money with his commentator, and you ought to have seen all three of them sit up and take notice and even wink when a charming lady visitor entered the room.

"In those green days,
Reviving sickness lifts her languid head;
Life flows afresh; and young-eyed health exalts
The whole creation round. Contentment walks
The sunny glade, and feels an inward bliss
Spring o'er his mind, beyond the power of kings
To purchase."

THE NEW YORK KEYNOTE.

Never was a keynote struck with more timeliness or more nearly in consonance with party ideals and party hopes than by Senator Root in his speech before the New York State Republican Convention.

Never was a declaration of principles more opportune or more effective than the platform enunciated by the New York Republican State Convention.

Senator Root methodically, calmly, yet with great eloquence and strict accuracy, reviewed the costly mistakes of the Wilson administration. When the Senator arose and began his remarkable speech "the star-clock struck the trial hour" for the Democratic party, which has for four years had the stewardship of the nation in its keeping. The great orator treated the President with courtesy and respect, but his arraignment was merciless in its analysis of Wilson's blunders.

In a general way, before narrowing down his attack to direct and smashing indictments, Senator Root presented the "three fundamental errors in diplomacy of the present administration; and mark how comprehensive and how accurate they are. He charged the Wilson administration with:

(1) "The lack of foresight to make timely provision for backing up of American diplomacy by actual or assured military force."

(2) "The forfeiture of the world's respect for our assertion of rights by pursuing the policy of making threats and of failing to make them good."

(3) "A loss of the moral forces of the civilized world through failure to truly interpret to the world the spirit of American democracy in its attitude toward the terrible events which accompanied the early stages of the war."

In domestic economics the Wilson administration also has much to answer for, and is in no way relieved from culpability for our business woes by the "blood bespattered prosperity" that revived languishing industries through the sale of munitions.

Senator Root pointed out that during the Democratic control there had been "a steady decrease in American production, in exports and in revenues, and a steady increase in imports and expenditures." Enterprise, he said, had halted, and new industries no longer made their appearance while the country's productive industries "were laboring under a misfit tariff devised by the Democratic party in a spirit of suspicion, distrust and hostility toward American business enterprise."

Point by point, with inexorable thoroughness, the Wilson administration was held to answer, and never has the lamentable Mexican fiasco been more ably summarized. He charged that the Wilson administration "intervened in Mexico to control its internal affairs by threat, by economic pressure and by force of arms," and then that the administration "ignored and condoned the murder of American men and the rape of American women and the destruction of American property and the insult of American officers and defilement of the American flag and joined itself to the men who were guilty of all these things to pull down the power of Huerta."

Referring to the President's empty threats to "hold Germany to a strict accountability" for American lives, and England for interference with American commerce, and the disheartening attitude since preserved in which he has done neither, Senator Root said: "Our diplomacy has lost its authority and influence because we have been brave in words and irresolute in action. . . . We have been blindly stumbling along the road that, continued, will lead to inevitable war."

Such has been the ineptitude and futility of the Wilson administration.

"But what," Senator Root asked and answered, "are the people to expect if the Republican party is restored to power?

"They may expect with confidence that their government will meet the economic situation with which we must deal immediately upon the close of the war with a policy of moderate, but adequate, protection to American industry, based upon ascertained and established facts and inspired by sympathy with all honest American enterprises and a desire for the prosperity and happiness of Americans of every calling and in every State. They may expect that the best possible course for the preservation of peace will be followed by a foreign policy which, with courtesy and friendliness to all nations, is frank and fearless and honest in its assertion of American rights, and leaves no doubt anywhere in the world of America's purpose and courage to protect and defend her importance, her territory and the lives and just rights of the citizens under the law of nations. They may expect that their government will stand for full and adequate preparation by the American people for their own defense."

Splendid words, those. Truly representative of the Republican party's traditional principles to which it has adhered throughout all of its many administrations.

And Senator Root's words are all the more significant in view of the evident desire on the part of the Republicans of New York to have him nominated as the Republican candidate for President, three of the four delegates-at-large to the national convention having already pledged to him their support. Also very significant, indeed, is the attitude that the convention of his own State has taken toward Roosevelt—that of ignoring him. Mention of him, made by Senator Root's speech prepared for the newspapers, was omitted in delivery.

Roosevelt, the arch-mischiefmaker, is still at large, still fomenting mischief, but his day is done. If he returns to the Republican party he will return to the rank and file; and prime object of the indorsement of Mr. Root by the delegates-at-large was announced as being for the purpose of serving notice on the country that Roosevelt's own State will have no more of him.

The platform adopted by the New York Republicans expressed in the most forceful manner and with the fewest and most pregnant words the vital principles of the Republican party of today, the real things that the Republican party will DO. Military preparedness, and economic, industrial and financial preparedness, too; more personal and friendly relations with the Latin-American republics; honest but insistent measures to restore a firm and equitable government in Mexico; retention and development of the Philippines; restoration of the tariff for the protection of American workingmen and industries; the encouragement and development of a merchant marine, and the maintenance and protection of American citizens and American rights on every spot of the globe, are some of the more important policies embodied in this right-ringing platform heartily indorsed by the Republicans of New York.

Now let California's Republicans, looking eastward to the fine example set by the New York convention, gather new inspiration and hold a State convention like it. Primary law or no primary law, let the convention be held. No legal barriers oppose. Nothing is in the way. Benefits will result that cannot be otherwise gained; party strength will be organized and focused; impostors and interlopers thrust into the background, and the big, loyal, steadfast men brought forth; and let a solid phalanx of California Republicans march into the national convention at Chicago on June 7 to support staunchly a true Republican for the Republican nomination for the Presidency. This is the road to victory, Republicans of California. We bid you send forth a ringing, stirring response to the New York keynote!

The Might that Might.

THE AGRARIAN LAW OF YUCATAN.

Gov. Salvador Alvarado has, by authorization of Carranza, proclaimed an agrarian law for Yucatan, the administration of which will be watched with deep interest by the people of the United States, for although such a law would be utterly unsuited to a community of intelligent, self-reliant Anglo-Saxons, it may prove of benefit in Mexico, in that it will aid to put an end to peonage and brigandage, and help to establish a government of order and law, without which no country can prosper.

The law contains ten chapters which include eighty-seven articles and twenty-seven preambles. The preambles give the Governor's reasons for proclaiming the law in language that is both lurid and bombastic.

The Governor has evidently read Henry George's book "Poverty and Progress," for he begins his work by saying:

"In consideration of the fact that no one is exclusive owner of the land in like manner as no one can be exclusive owner of either the law or the atmosphere," etc. Then he somewhat bombastically says, "this law bears the stamp of approval, like a halo, the splendor of a thousand combats and the bright red stain of the blood shed by many a wounded hero in defense of his rights, among which the culminating one, seen with the clarity of truth, is the reclamation of the land for the people."

Many people are of opinion that a good deal of the "red blood shed by wounded Mexican heroes" was shed in an attempt to steal something rather than in an endeavor to obtain land for the people.

The law provides that a "local agrarian commission" of five persons, and communal agrarian commissions of three persons each, to administer the law. The members of these commissions will be appointed and their emoluments will be fixed by the Governor, and from them, political authorities, soldiers in active service and possessors of 200 hectares (500 acres) or more of land will be excluded.

As a general underlying principle it is declared that—"Every Mexican or foreigner residing in the State, older than 17 years of age, has the right, provided that he wishes to dedicate himself personally to cultivating it, to possess a parcel of land, from which, by means of work, he may be able to obtain sufficient in order to subsist with his family, succeeding by such means in securing his economic independence and the necessary comforts for living peacefully, according to his social condition. The foreigners who receive lots in conformity with this law, will not be able to maintain any right of foreign citizenship, nor seek under any circumstances, diplomatic or consular claims, in anything that pertains to the object of these bylaws, being obliged to conform absolutely to the laws of the country."

The lands that will be distributed will be first the commons or government land, and second the lands adjoining the commons, when these are not sufficient, whether they are the property of natives or lands of which natives or foreigners may be dispossessed.

The lands are divided into suburban and pastoral land; the former being within eight kilometers (five miles) and the latter more than that distance from a town.

Every eligible individual has the right of possessing one lot of land whose area will comprise not more than 25 hectares (67 acres) of suburban lands or 200 hectares (500 acres) of pastoral land. But in case the land is planted with henequen (from the product of which "pulque"—or beer—is brewed, and mescal is distilled, the holding will be limited to 10 hectares (25 acres.)

Forest lands are declared to be a public utility and not at present to be included in any system of land distribution.

The inhabitants of each town will be called together by the communal agrarian commission, the law explained to them and those who profess ability to fulfill the obligations of the law and wish to acquire land will be provided with a printed form of request.

On a day fixed the committee will ascertain what area is required for the first distribution, and in case the common or government land is not sufficient they will proceed to take:

(a) The adjacent uncultivated fields;

(b) The lands of great extent although they may be under cultivation;

(c) The lots of 200 hectares of pastoral land.

The lands of which the present owners are dispossessed will be purchased—if not under cultivation—at a fixed price, and if under cultivation, at their actual value, to be fixed by the commission. They will be paid for in agrarian bonds, redeemable in fifty years with interest at 4 per cent. per annum, payment guaranteed by the land tax. The proceeds of the property rental to be employed only for the redemption of bonds and the expenses of the agrarian commissions.

If in property which is "taken" there are improvements there will be set apart a lot, of 50 hectares (125 acres) in which the dwellings on the estate are to be inclosed, the present proprietor having the right to continue in the possession of this special lot, provided that he desires to do so.

The government will exact a property rental tax of 1½ per cent. and a land tax of 1 per cent. on the assessed value of the property—the proceeds of this tax will be a guarantee for the payment of the interest and principal of the agrarian bonds.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

GRATITUDE.

The truth's discouraging and hateful, but mighty few are truly grateful. We go around and spend our money to make the people's lives more sunny; we carry soup and pies and ganders to folks who have the yaller janders, we carry tea, in bowls of chiny, to some poor widow shedding briny, we cough up plunks, our bank roll dwarfin', to help the sad and needy orphan. They thank us then, in Greek and Russian, in High Dutch, Low Dutch, French and Prussian. So far as words go they are grateful; they hand up language by the plateful. But, in their hearts profanely smirking, they say, "What is the use of working, to earn our victuals bread-and-cheesy, when jays like these are so blamed easy? They'll clothe us when we're looking seedy, they'll feed us when we're feeling greedy; they'll bring provisions to our attics, and dope us when we have rheumatics." Still, though unworthy some are proving, we on our kindly rounds keep moving, in tenements and cellars smelly, distributing our soup and jelly.

THE NEAR-CRISIS IN OUR FOREIGN RELATIONS.

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES]

BY ELLERY C. STOWELL,

Assistant Professor of International Law, Columbia University; Secretary Adjoint Second Hague Conference; Secretary of American Delegation to Naval Conference of London.

THE settlement of the Lusitania question with Germany bids fair to be one of the most illusive incidents of diplomatic history. The representatives of the two governments have been discussing the significance of the French term desavouer, the importance of the word "illegal," and the public has been mystified by hearing of an eight-word sentence of the same meaning as the shorter but from the German point of view less lovely word.

But under the cover of this wordy battle the whole question has shifted ground and has now become absorbed in the broader question of the disarmament of merchant vessels. As nearly as an outsider can judge from the painful course of the negotiations and the inspired accounts in the semi-official press, Germany is dangling before the eyes of our diplomats an acceptable form of apology in return for our support of her submarine attack upon armed merchantmen—for support it is when our government intimates that we may exclude armed merchantmen from American ports. It is evident that such an interference with the exercise of the right of a merchant vessel to arm would give the allies good cause for offense.

A nation as weak as the United States cannot allow itself the luxury of such clear violations of a right guaranteed by international law to the allies. But we may, if we choose, warn Americans to keep off all armed merchant vessels. Such a warning will have the effect of patting Germany on the back and saying if she chooses she may torpedo any armed British liner for all we reck. It is interesting to compare this attitude with the attitude previously assumed by our government in regard to the legality of sinking passenger ships without warning. There can be no possible justification for us to reverse our attitude and declare that Germany has a right to sink British liners that continue to carry an armament as is permitted under the rules of international law. If in spite of the warning of our government, Americans are lost on such vessels, their lives will have been taken in violation of the rights of American citizens under international law and the administration cannot escape responsibility by its warnings.

Next to a constant flow of words the greatest weakness of our government seems to be the idea it can shelve the duty to protect American citizens in the exercise of their rights under international law by recourse to the farcical expedient of a governmental proclamation of warning not to attempt to exercise those rights. We have had a good example of this in Mexico, where Americans were warned to leave their possessions and flee for their lives; and now forsooth they are to be warned to keep off all passenger liners, else their government washes its hands of all responsibility for any loss of life which may come to American citizens.

England's violation of international law to make effective her illegal starvation of Germany's civilian population will doubtless result in a greater loss of life than the toll of all the torpedoes that Germany's submarines can possibly launch against her merchantmen; but this cannot affect the fundamental principle that reprisals may not be employed at the expense of innocent neutrals. If Germany should employ her submarines in such a way as to endanger the lives of British subjects only, she would be on a strong ground to justify her action as a fitting application of reprisals, for the question would then be one of military reprisals between England and Germany. As the situation is, every American should hang his head with shame that our administration in the exercise of a discretion which does not rightfully belong to it proposes to balance on the one hand England's violation of our neutral rights to trade—over against Germany's jeopardising of the lives of Americans traveling on armed merchantmen. A better understanding and insistence upon American rights will soon bring both belligerents into line and secure a recognition of American rights. If because of our delay in preparing to defend our rights we are now too feeble to make our voice heard, we can at least enregister our formal protests and keep the record clean, so that as soon as we have the power to make our voice heard and our rights respected American rights will cease to be an empty word.

At this crisis in our foreign relations—the most serious which we have ever faced—the American people must not fail to recognize that this question of the arming of merchant vessels is much more important than it appears to be on its face. It touches to the very core the law of naval warfare, and if the German contention should find a diplomatic support from this country it might lead in future wars to the most devastating destruction of sea-borne commerce. This would be in absolute contradiction with the traditional American policy to secure immunity of private property at sea.

If the American doctrine of the immunity of private property at sea were recognized there would then be no need of arming merchantmen. It is not reasonable nor feasible to expect the merchant marine of the world to give up the right to arm until the American doctrine of the immunity of private property at sea is fully recognized. With a few disastrous words our State Department can undermine the support of the famous doctrine of the immunity of the private property at sea, for which this country has stood since the days of Franklin. When the war is over, if Germany will agree to co-operate with the United States to help to secure the recognition of the inviolability of private property at sea—Germany was willing to do this at the second Hague Conference—then will be the time to do away with the present right of merchantmen to arm. If the State Department should in reality take the course announced in the press it would soon find its position untenable and have to recede. It is not very soothing to our national pride when we reflect that about the best we can hope for is that the intimations published by press representatives recognized to be in close relations with our administration are but feelers put out to test American public opinion or to cajole the Germans.

STUDIES FLOOD CONTROL.

Noted Engineer Comes to Examine Work and Plans for Handling Storm Waters in This County.

Notable Work on the Santa Ynez.

J. P. de l'Eau, noted civil and hydraulic consulting engineer, who has been in charge of the reclamation work conducted by the Union Sugar Company in the Santa Ynez Valley, near Betteravia, for several years, arrived Wednesday to make a study of the local flood control situation. Mr. de l'Eau has been employed by the Santa Maria municipality to offer suggestions for remedying the flood system there. Following his study of check dams which are being used with marked success in several local canyons, he expects to recommend the construction of similar structures at Santa Maria.

Mr. de l'Eau is the engineer who received credit for the reclamation of much valuable sugar land along the Santa Ynez river by changing the channel at a point where the water has overflowed periodically and inundated hundreds of acres. By constructing a novel jetty at the upper end of a horseshoe bend, and cutting a small ditch through more than a mile of marshy land to where the channel resumed its normal course at the lower end of the horseshoe, Mr. de l'Eau used the recent flood waters to cut a channel 300 feet wide directly between the two points. Sand and debris caught by the jetty formed a substantial dam across the old channel and the former bed of the river is now under cultivation as a sugar plantation.

TO RUN NATION BY COMMISSION.

Radical Change of Government Planned for Uruguay.

"Advanced" Divorce Law Another Innovation.

Confident that the United States will maintain peace in the Western Hemisphere and will continue to pursue an international policy that will keep the Western Hemisphere free from serious complications with European belligerents, Uruguay is planning to inaugurate a new form of government, which will be a radical departure from all existing systems. This announcement was made last night at the Lankershim by Italo E. Perotti of Montevideo, Federal director of expositions.

According to Mr. Perotti, who is en route to Washington to confer with John Barrett, president of the Pan-American Union, at the conclusion of the term of President Feliciano Viera, which expires in three years, the executive authority of the republic will no longer be vested in one individual. Instead of electing a President, the nation will elect nine commissioners, to serve on an executive board, which will be the head of the new form of government. The commissioners are to be elected for a term of nine years, and each member of the board will act as chairman of that body for one year.

"This momentous step will be taken as a result of a decision made two months ago," said Mr. Perotti. "After striving for several years, the Batlle—as the ultra radical party is designated—succeeded in obtaining control of Congress. In December Congress authorized President Viera, who is the head of the Radical party, to call a special election for representatives to a constitutional assembly which will be held next year.

RADICALS IN CONTROL.

"This assembly will draft a new constitution, which will be but a modification of the present one, changed to permit the new form of executive authority. It is expected there will be scarcely a ripple of opposition to the adoption of the proposed constitution, since the Reds, who already number more than three-fifths of the voters in their ranks, are gaining in strength rapidly."

Mr. Perotti says Americans have no little idea of the advanced form of government now existing in his country. The radical element has within the past three or four years seized into their government many drastic political and economic reforms. As a typical example Mr. Perotti cites the Uruguay divorce law. He states these laws permit any man to obtain a divorce upon application without stating any reason. All that is necessary, according to Mr. Perotti, is for the woman desiring severance of the marital bond to make formal application to the court. The application is entered in full, and at various intervals during the following twelve months the court calls the woman to court and asks her if she still desires the issuance of a decree. If at the expiration of the year she has not changed her mind on the subject the decree is issued.

The granting of similar privileges to men is now under consideration and will probably be granted shortly, Mr. Perotti says. He states that instead of adding to the number of divorces the law has resulted in a material decrease in the issuance of decrees to citizens of the republic. The law has, however, Mr. Perotti says, caused that country to become the home of South America, and many citizens of neighboring republics come there for a divorce. Last year more than 80 per cent. of the divorces granted were granted to foreigners, according to Mr. Perotti.

While in Washington he will formally present to Mr. Barrett a $5000 marble bust of the national hero of Uruguay, Gen. Artigas.

The statue is a gift from that republic to the Pan-American Union and will remain in the custody of the president of the organization during his term of office.

Mr. Perotti says his nation is solidly behind President Wilson and the Monroe doctrine. While he admits that in a few of the South American republics there is some resentment manifested regarding the stand of the United States on international problems as a whole, he says, the American republics are united on the proposition. He says that Uruguay is particularly devoted to the United States for her assistance in adjusting difficulties which arose during President Taft's administration, between that country and one of its neighbors, regarding riparian rights along the Rio de la Plata.

TIMES FLOOD CONTROL.

Reed Engineer Comes to Examine Chart and Plans for Handling Storm Waters in This County. Notable Work on the Santa Ynez.

J. Mr. de Vlam has been employed by the South Maria municipality to offer suggestions for remedying the flood system there. Following his study of the check dams which are being used with great success in several local streams, he expects to recommend the construction of similar structures at Santa Maria.

Mr. de Vlam is the engineer who received credit for the reclamation of the Yuma sugar land along the Colorado river by changing the course at a point where the water had encroached periodically and inundated hundreds of acres. By constructing a novel jetty at the upper end of a horseshoe bend, and cutting a small ditch through more than a mile of marshy land to where the river resumed its normal course at the lower end of the horseshoe, Mr. de Vlam saved the recent flood waters from a channel 200 feet wide direct between the two points. ## Rugged End.

work. He secured employment in the orchestra at the fashionable Paso del Norte Hotel and advertised that he would give lessons on the 'cello. A few days later a lady prominent socially in El Paso found missing her diamond ring, valued at $200, as well as a considerable sum of money. The hotel lost $100 on a bad check and the El Paso Musicians' Union also reported a loss of $100 from the treasury with the count the winner. Other citizens came in with checks that totaled $340.

TAKEN AT GATE CITY.

Doubling back to San Luis Obispo and thence to San Bernardino the detectives followed a broad trail of wine bottles and bad checks. They surrounded him at San Bernardino, but as usual the quarry escaped. He was known to have fled to the desert, supposedly to take up a claim. Detective Mohan, knowing the man's ability to escape, gave Sheriff McMinn of San Bernardino a complete description of the wanted count and then retired to await developments. Yesterday the count mysteriously appeared in San Bernardino and was arrested there just as he was reaching out his hand to receive a sum of money on an alleged forged check.

When arrested the prisoner laughed and said that he had had a mighty good time, even if he did face the penitentiary. He declared that in addition to the many victims known to the police that he had also made life miserable for half a dozen French Consuls in different parts of the north, had a sweetheart in every city and had found Americans adorable and "easy money."

Detective Mohan, who has worked three years tracing the prisoner, stated that he would prosecute the count first in Pasadena and later in El Paso, where under the name of Count Leopold Pouabaix, he is alleged to have committed his latest forgeries. According to the detectives the count realized more than $15,000 in the three years he has been at liberty.

BEGIN INQUIRY ON ACCUSED CONSTABLE.

BOTH DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND SHERIFF INVESTIGATE.

Officer is Charged with Accepting Money in Consideration for Leniency and Aiding to Secure Bondsmen for Wealthy Man Ordered Under Arrest.

Constable Roger Woodbury is under investigation on charges preferred to Dist.-Atty. Woolwine yesterday by a local attorney, and Attorney Woolwine designated a special investigator to inquire into the matter, and Sheriff Cline, under whom Mr. Woodbury serves, has also started an inquiry regarding the facts as outlined.

According to these, Constable Woodbury arrested James J. Turrish, a man of wealth, on a statutory charge. Instead of taking him to the County Jail, the constable permitted his prisoner to remain under surveillance in a downtown hotel. For this Mr. Woodbury is alleged to have collected a fee of $20 a day, until bail arrangements had been completed.

It is also alleged that Mr. Woodbury secured bondsmen to assist Mr. Turrish, and for this service accepted $40. The prisoner is said to have paid in all about $150 to the constable.

Sheriff Cline has secured considerable evidence and yesterday afternoon stated that if the statements are corroborated, Mr. Woodbury will be dismissed. Deputy District Attorney Woolwine would make no statement regarding the matter, other than that an investigation was being conducted.

Constable Woodbury appeared for service as usual yesterday morning, but after having been questioned about the affair, left for the day. He refused to make any statement.

RANCHER PREFERS CHARGE.

Eugene A. Higgenson, central figure in a number of alleged real estate swindling transactions, and also in the investigation of "straw bondsmen," was arrested again Wednesday on a charge preferred by a Rivera rancher. The latter alleges that Higgenson attempted to defraud him out of his ranch. The prisoner denied absolutely his guilt.

Lime Against Tuberculosis

In the May 25, 1912, issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association appeared this statement concerning calcium (lime) medication in the treatment of tuberculosis.

"Under the systematic, continued and persistent regime of calcium assimilation, Van Gieson has seen a number of his patients improve. . . . The sputum clears up of tubercle bacilli, which finally disappear, and the patients are discharged with healed pulmonary tuberculosis."

Ethical journals seldom speak so positively about a remedial agent, yet this testimony coincides with that from many consumptives who have secured like results through the use of Eckman's Alterative.

Since calcium is a constituent of this remedy, its healing power may be due to the way this element is so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated.

Eckman's Alterative contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, so it is safe to try.

FIELDS HARD HIT BY STORM.

Oil fields of the State suffered as a result of weather conditions during January, as indicated in figures on the production and shipments for that month issued yesterday by the Independent Oil Producers' Agency statistical bureau. Both yield and shipments showed a sharp falling off, particularly the latter, although they still remain large enough to cause a small shortage for the month to be apparent.

Total production in January, including oil used as fuel in the field, was 6,936,785 barrels, a daily average of 223,767 barrels, as against a total output in December of 7,397,478 barrels, a daily average of 238,628 barrels, indicating a decline of approximately 15,000 barrels a day. Shipments aggregated 6,936,161 barrels, a daily average of 224,618, against a total movement in December of 8,227,697 barrels, a daily average of 265,409, showing a slump in round numbers of 40,000 barrels daily.

Rainstorms throughout the early part of January and the two windstorms the latter part of that month are largely responsible for the condition indicated in the figures. The loss of hundreds of derricks over producing wells in the Midway, Sunset, Coalinga and McKittrick districts disturbed the output of crude, and floods and landslides interfered with both pipe line and railroad transportation. Exact figures as to the extent production of crude was set back by the windstorms are not available, but the drop of approximately 15,000 barrels daily, is probably about equally divided between the normal decline of wells and storm trouble. So far as shipments are concerned the falling off is no doubt due in some degree to the decline usually evidenced during the early months of every year, and to the interruption of transportation lines.

BIG DROP IN MIDWAY.

The Midway-Sunset district recorded the greatest falling off in output, being nearly 8000 barrels a day while Coalinga declined 3000 barrels daily. McKittrick figures show a falling off of a little over 2000 barrels a day, and Santa Maria 2000 barrels daily. All of the other districts reveal practically no changes. Shut-in production remains unvaried at approximately 15,000 barrels a day.

In the Independent Agency's summary of field operations forty-nine wells are recorded as completed during January. Of this number fourteen are wells which were long on the idle drilling list, in prospective territory, but were turned into the completed column as dry and abandoned. The actual number of fresh completions is therefore thirty-five in January compared to twenty-four in December, an increase of eleven wells. Noteworthy among the completed wells is one of the St. Helens Petroleum Company in the Midway district, credited with a daily average output of approximately 1800 barrels. Drilling wells at the close of January numbered 167 against 172 on the close of December. There were fifteen new rigs up during the former period, against twenty-seven on the latter, a decline of twelve, due to the windstorm, which necessitated all work concentrated on producing wells instead of new projects. There were twenty-four wells abandoned in January, as compared to four in December.

Total crude stocks at the wells and in the pipe lines were 55,950,804 barrels February 1, compared to 55,977,180 barrels January 1, being practically unchanged.

INTO ARID REGIONS.

Large Shipment of Liquor to Arizona Charged Against Highland Park Man Arraigned Before United States Commissioner—Illegal Business Active.

Charles Van Lidth, owner of a pool and billiard parlor in Highland Park, was arraigned yesterday before United States Commissioner Hammack, and bond fixed at $750, on a complaint that he had shipped from Lordsburg to Tucson on February 6, six trunks alleged to have contained liquor, that were not labeled as required by law. The date of the preliminary hearing was not fixed, as it is desired that the grand jury at Phoenix pass on the case before the testimony is heard here. If Mr. Van Lidth is indicted the commissioner will not be required to take testimony, and if not he can be released without a trip to Tucson.

It is claimed by the government that the arrest of Mr. Van Lidth is only one of a great number that may soon be expected for violation of the "dry" laws of Arizona, it being alleged that a large and growing business has been carried on by shipments from California to Arizona points, that are supposed to be boxes and barrels of "hardware," "household goods," or without any label at all, consisting wholly of liquor.

The complaining witness against him at the preliminary hearing was Morris Weingarten, who insisted that Cohen had lied in a case in which "Bessie," a scrawny old mare, was taken away from him. The mare was valued at about $50.

The peddlers have been fighting about the ownership of the animal for more than a year and each side has a retinue of attorneys, indicating that several hundred dollars have already been spent in the controversy, which now threatens to land Mr. Cohen in prison. He is out on bail of $1500.

SOCIETY.

With drawn shades excluding the daylight and a myriad of scintillating crystal electroliers emitting beams of light over a handsomely gowned assemblage of some hundred and fifty guests, Mrs. James P. Burns of No. 3538 Wilshire boulevard gave one of the smartest receptions of the spring yesterday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock—a pretty compliment extended to Miss Marguerite Burns, a San Francisco debutante, who is the house guest and niece of her Los Angeles kinsfolk.

Great flowering boughs of yellow acacia and jonquils glowed decoratively throughout the reception and drawing rooms. The dining-room, where was served an elaborate collation, also accentuated the artistic pale, yellow motif. A huge French gilded basket tied with a gorgeous yellow tulle bow and containing the yellow flowers, occupied the center of the imported tea table cover of cobwebby lace, and softly shaded candelabra were placed equidistant on the handsomely appointed board.

Mrs. Burns wore for the function a beautiful creation of seafoam green taffeta, made with short full skirt with panniers caught up in wreaths of tiny Dresden rosebuds. The bodice and flounces were of silver lace. Miss Burns looked charming in a bouffant frock of black tulle, touched effectively with cerise velvet and rhinestones.

Assisting were Mrs. George A. Johnston, Miss Madaline Souden, Miss Dorothy Jackins, Miss Annette McIntosh, Miss Doris Collins, Mrs. James C. Kays, Mrs. Joseph B. Barnard and Mrs. H. F. Vollmer, Mrs. John Mitchell Jones rendered appreciated harp solos during the afternoon, choosing from the classical compositions for her delightful programme.

Miss Burns has often visited here and is receiving a happy return welcome. On the 29th of February at the Jonathan Club, Mr. and Mrs. Burns will give a dinner dance for her, invitations for the most part being limited to members of a congenial dancing club.

Cotillon With Lights Out.

It was intended to be a surprise, but as usual somebody "spilled the beans."

Just before supper is finished all the lights will suddenly be turned out, and then a procession of colored waitresses, double file, will move through the dining-room and furnish something entirely novel in the way of illumination. On their heads these waitresses will bear trays of coffee and cognac, the cognac in the coffee and burning, of course, and giving out a bright blue light. A group of negroes will sing plantation songs and melodies of the old South, and for half an hour unique entertainment will be afforded. The coffee will be served, by the way, in orange rinds, already scooped out and dried, and unusual flavor is promised.

This is to be at the colonial cotillion in Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, next Tuesday night, and the society people of two cities are looking forward to it. Huntington as well as Maryland guests will be leading participants. In honor of Washington's Birthday all the cotillion favors and the decorations will be Washingtonesque, and a decidedly patriotic effect is expected. It will be both a dinner and supper dance, for which many delightful parties have been arranged.

The cotillion dancers, with a few more yet to be chosen, are the following named Pasadena and Los Angeles persons and Huntington and Maryland guests: Misses Esther Bartlett, Lois Kellogg, Mildred Landreth, Lolita Magie, Frances Charles, Martha Charles, Helen Smith, Julia Smith, Irene Grosse, Elena Perry, Margaret Freeman, Jane Ott, Ann Wilshire, Agnes Knight, Ada Reis, Frances Miller, Mrs. M. Ringen Drummond, Miss Ringen, Mrs. King Stewart, Mrs. G. W. Dulaney, Jr., Mrs. A. D. Cook, and Mrs. Harold Lamb; Messrs. Eric Kobbe, Frank Gilchrist, Ernie Crawford, Briggs Keck, Bob Smith, Lloyd Turner, Raymond Welch, G. W. Dulany, Jr., William E. Reis, Jr., Lorie Snow, George Chessman, Bruce Finkbine, Frank Badgeley, Don Fullerton, C. Elliott Griffin, Harold Lamb, Colin Stewart, Arthur Dodsworth, Crawford May, C. H. Lysle and Mr. Alley.

Newly-weds at Home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Adamson have taken a house at No. 619 Kenmore avenue, where they will be at home to their friends on Fridays. Mrs. Adamson will be better remembered as Miss Rhoda Rindge.

Pre-Nuptial Compliment.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Rindge, Jr., are giving a dinner at the Los Angeles Athletic Club tonight, followed by a box party at the Orpheum, sixteen guests having been bidden as a thoughtful ante-nuptial courtesy to Miss Edna Hauerwas and Kurt Koebig, whose marriage will be an event of the evening of Saturday, the 26th inst. As the groom-elect was best man at the time Mr. Rindge won pretty Galetta Mushet for a bride, the occasion is an especially felicitous one. The dinner will be served amid a mass of red roses and lilies of the valley, with covers for Miss Hauerwas, Mr. Koebig, Mrs. Lucy Hauerwas, John Hauerwas, Mr. and Mrs. B. Rounsevelle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burton, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meade, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Koebig and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Koebig, Jr., with the hosts.

Cards Issued.

Mrs. Thomas McCaffery of No. 1136 Ingraham street has issued invitations for a luncheon, to be followed by bridge, for Thursday, March 2, at 12:30 o'clock at the Jonathan Club.

For Mother and Daughter.

Mrs. Robert P. McReynolds of Berkeley Square entertained at luncheon Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Homer Boushey and her mother, Mrs. H. K. Gregory, who are stopping at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Mrs. Gregory now lives in San Francisco, while Mrs. Boushey, who was Grace Gregory, makes her home in Chicago. During their sojourn here many of their old friends have entertained for them, yesterday's affair being one of the many delightful attentions shown the former Los Angeles residents. Mrs. McReynolds's guests included the following friends of Mrs. Gregory and Mrs. Boushey: Mrs. John S. Chapman, Miss Chapman, Mrs. Archibald McCutcheon, Mrs. Arthur Bumiller, Mrs. Oscar Trippett, Mrs. D. S. Bevan, Mrs. Albert Moore, Mrs. B. F. Coulter, and Mrs. Gregory's daughter, Mrs. John Murrieta. Mrs. Gregory left for San Francisco last night, where she will later be joined by Mrs. Boushey, who expects to motor to the northern city in March with Mr. Boushey, who is due to arrive here about March 1.

Forty Years Wed.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McDonald of No. 1330 Ingraham street celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary on the evening of February 12. The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Culver, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Schmitz, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Abel, Walter Abel, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison G. McDonald, Mrs. Bessie Dixon, Miss Georgia McDonald. During the evening's entertainment they received a very fitting telegram from their son, J. C. McDonald of Mexico City.

Back from Hawaii.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Johnstone Whitley returned last week from a trip for their health to Honolulu. They have taken a suite at the Alexandria for the present.

In Our Southland.

Mrs. H. C. Culver of Spokane, Wash., with her charming young daughters, Miss Marjorie and Miss Edith, are visiting for a few days at the Alexandria. They have been spending the winter at the Hotel Virginia, Long Beach, and will return to the seaside in a short time. Mr. Culver is one of the big lumber magnates of Washington.

Of Interest Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Straus, who are at the Virginia, had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Rothchild of New York. Mrs. Rothchild will be remembered by her many Southern California friends as Miss Warberger.

Dinner Dance Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Rector and their charming daughter, Miss Wilhelmina, of Los Angeles, were among the guests of Senator Larrabee of Iowa, at the supper dance following the masquerade at the Hotel Virginia last Friday evening. Senator Larrabee, with his mother and sister, Miss Anne, is domiciled at the beach for the winter.

Plight Their Troth.

Standing beneath a bell of orange blossoms before an improvised altar of ferns and roses, Miss Iva Miller, daughter of I. Miller of No. 817 North Rampart street, became the bride of Gerald Agassiz Ayles, son of the late John Ayles of Sierra Madre and Mrs. A. S. Howell of this city, on Monday, the 14th.

The bride was lovely in a gown of embroidered organdy and carried a shower of white roses and ferns. Her veil was caught to her prettily-coiffed head by a wreath of lilies of the valley. She entered the living-room, where the service was read, on the arm of her father, and was attended by her sister, Miss Clara Miller. John Davy, a boyhood chum of Mr. Ayles, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held, thirty or more relatives and guests being in attendance. The happy young couple then left for their new home, No. 626 Benton Way, where they will be at home to their friends after March 1.

Northerners Her Honorees.

Mrs. Homer Boushey entertained at the Beverly Hills Hotel on Tuesday at luncheon in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Devlin of Sacramento and Mrs. Joseph M. Kelley of Oakland, who were in Los Angeles for a few days prior to sailing for Honolulu on the Great Northern Tuesday afternoon.

MUSICAL EVENTS.

No composer is a greater favorite with local audiences than Tschaikowsky, to whose compositions the entire programme to be presented by the Symphony Orchestra at its public rehearsal this afternoon and concert tomorrow night will be devoted. The "Pathetique," the most famous of the Russian master's symphonies, is to be the main offering. The "Romeo and Juliet" overture, one of the most beautiful of the composer's works, will also be played. Contrast to these two more somber and tragic selections will be afforded by the brilliant "Nut Cracker" suite. The "Marche Slave," a truly distinctive composition, will be the fourth number on the programme, which is the most attractive from a popular standpoint of any presented this year. The programme will be given at Trinity Auditorium.

Recital is Postponed.

The organ recital under the auspices of the Schubert Club, originally announced for today, will be given next Friday at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral. It was found that the date originally selected conflicts with the Symphony public rehearsal.

Saint-Saens Quartette.

Music lovers who are inclined to look for something new in music will have their search rewarded in pleasing fashion at the invitational recital tonight by the Saint-Saens Quintette Club, composed of E. H. Clark, first violinist; W. A. Clark, Jr., or Morris Stoloff, second violinist; Carl Angeloty, violist; Michael G. Eisoff, 'cellist, and Will Garroway, pianist. Arthur Babcock will be soloist. Compositions of Borodin, Diaz, Nawratil, Saint-Saens, Wolf, Clam and Tschaikowsky will be rendered. The Nawratil Quintette which is to be played is a decided novelty.

AMONG THE STORES AND ADMIDST THE SHOPS.

Along Our Dazzling Streets, where Dame Fashion's Shopping is Done.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

Now is the time to buy:

The davenport for the living-room. It may be purchased for much less in that annual sale of furniture at a big department store on lower Broadway.

Nuts, which have been reduced in price. Nuts, served in any of the many palatable ways, take the place of meats and are really better for one, especially as spring advances.

Eggs are due to go lower in price and cheese has already declined from its high estate. This is good news to the housewife, as it means better living for less money. Given plenty of cheese and eggs and the family diet is well provided for.

Practical Suggestion.

In order to know the whereabouts of the medicine dropper—that article noted for its perpetual lostness—attach it to a screw-eye and insert the screw into the cork of the medicine bottle.

Food Affection.

"I make it a practice," said the Good Housekeeper, "when any member of the family is ailing, or not quite up to the high mark of health, to prepare for him or her every article of food and to put into that food especial love and affection, as I prepare it. You may laugh and think me 'queer,' but I actually believe the hand which prepares it has much to do with the quality of food." And she added: "I will not have in my kitchen a cross or ill-natured cook."

Spanish Table.

The book lady—she who has made of the book nook so delightful a place—has provided a table of interesting novels in Spanish, especially for use of those who are studying this language. The novels are couched in simple phrases, such as may be easily understood by the novice; and at the same time they rank as good literature. Inexpensive are they.

Color in Blouses.

The touch of becoming color in the new blouses for summer wear may be either in the way of collar, cuffs and vest, or the entire lower part of the blouse may be of the contrasting tint. Chiffon or voille is most frequently chosen for the contrasting material.

New Tints.

Despite all that we have heard regarding the impossibility of obtaining dye stuffs, the cotton materials for summer use show marvelous new shades. Some of the greens, in both flowered and plain cottons of diaphanous weaves, are distinctly novel. Bewitching, too. Green is a color especially appropriate for summer wear, suggesting as it does the growing things of nature.

Alluringly Boxed.

Incense, seen in an oriental store which always has something new to offer, comes in the most alluring little wooden boxes, which adds to the value of the package of sweet smelles, making a fit gift as an Easter remembrance.

Novel Burner.

Not a burner of novels, as you might think, but a novel burner for incense. An image of the god of incense (perhaps,) having imbibed the cone or cube of sweetly-scented stuff, emits its smoke from nostrils and mouth. Clever, don't you think?

Rare Wares.

An auction is always interesting, and doubly so when the articles auctioned are of rare worth and beauty. This is true of that sale now in progress in Pasadena where oriental articles such as are seldom obtainable in this country are to be had at whatever price you may name—and the auctioneer accepts. Included is the collection of cloissonne ware, exhibited at the San Francisco exposition, also the $50,000 collection of culture pearls shown there by the Tiffany of Japan. The porcelain collection, the Damascene work and, in fact, the entire Japanese exhibit from the Panama-Pacific Exposition will be included in this great sale. It will be well worth an admission price just to behold these interesting objects of art, and yet they are freely shown, and the opportunity to purchase will be one as rare as are the articles themselves, since they are to be sold without reserve.

Colored Washables.

Several of the high-class stores are making a specialty of washable kid gloves in colors. Time was when we laughed at even white washable gloves, having been fooled that way so often; but it is true now that there are brands which "really do." A girl tells me that she has washed her gray kid gloves over and over again and that they look as fresh as new after each laundering.

New Sleevery.

Much character is developing in sleeves. There is a wide variety from which to select. Your new frock may have sleeves gathered very full from the shoulders and fitting closely from the elbow down; or they may gain fullness toward the elbow, where they are formed into puffs; or again, they may take on puffs around the wrist; or if they so prefer, may bell most flaringly, after having started out quite straight. One sort of sleeve is plain and rather straightforward throughout, its only vagary being that it is sewed into the underbodice and is concealed by a drooping cape collar, which gives the extremely long shoulder effect. However you may look at it, sleeves have become important members of the dress fraternity—something in themselves, rather than a mere part of the waist.

Souvenir Ramonas.

Have you seen those little plaster heads of Ramona? Very clever they, and one of them will serve as a souvenir of the delightful photo drama. When you take her to see this charming California romance, still further cement the memory by presenting her with one of the Ramona heads. In a little shop right in that vicinity.

When Shoes are Down.

Not down at the heel, but down in price are these shoes. They are offered in a removal sale and you may there obtain even those high-class open-cut-work effects at the prices usually asked for plain, every-day affairs. Yes, even in bronze!

The Modus of the Mode.

Parasols will be slightly smaller, with rather long, highly decorated handles.

White shoes will be very fashionable, the colonial patterns being most favored.

Suits have the circular, semi-circular, the gored or the slightly draped skirts.

White blouses will have touches of color, by means of vests, boleros, collars and cuffs.

Some of the new chiffon collars are so deep they nearly reach the waist line in the back.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

A Literary Hour.

Miss Ida M. Leonard will read Edmond Rostand's "Chantecler" this afternoon at 4 o'clock in her studio, 306-307 Y.W.C.A. Building, this being one of a series of her pleasurably anticipated literary hours, which have become a great feature among the men and women of the city. Miss Leonard is well able to bring out the underlying message and symbolism of the masterpiece, and is sure to attract lovers of good art.

The Travel Club.

Dr. J. M. Mathews will be the speaker for the Travel Club this afternoon, which meets in room 302 Trinity Auditorium at 2 p.m.

Child Welfare Conference.

The regular spring meeting of the Child Welfare Conference, Southern Section, will be held today at the Los Angeles Orphans' Home, No. 815 El Centro avenue, Colegrove. Take the West Sixth-street car to the end of the line.

The Children's Committee of the State Board of Charities and Corrections cordially invites you to be present with such members of your organization as may be able to attend.

The programme includes the following:

General topic, "Closer Co-operation with Regard to Admission and Dismissals:" 10 a.m., opening remarks, chairman; 10:30-11:30, address, Rev. William E. Corr, Catholic charities, diocese Monterey and Los Angeles; 11:30-12:30, discussion; 12:30-2 p.m., luncheon and visiting the institution; 2 p.m., Mrs. Theodore Eisen, president Los Angeles Orphans' Home, "Necessary Requirements for Admission;" 2:20 p.m., Miss Crissey McLemore, investigating agent, Municipal Charities Commission, "Methods of Investigation of Applications;" 2:40 p.m., O. Lewis, Los Angeles County Welfare Commission, "What Children Should be Eligible for Admission, (a) Normal, Subnormal, (b) Delinquent, Dependent, (c) Racial Question;" 3:20 p.m., Mrs. Frances Byram, assistant probation officer Los Angeles county, "Methods Employed in Dismissals, (a) Adoption or Return to Parents, (b) Free Homes, (c) Employment;" 3:40 p.m., Mr. Fred C. Nelles, superintendent Whittier State School, "Follow-up Work, (a) Methods Employed, (b) Records."

Please notify Mrs. Mary Matthews, No. 815 El Centro avenue, Los Angeles, of the number of representatives from your organization who are likely to be present for luncheon.

Educator to Talk.

The Manual Arts Association of Southern California will hold its first semiannual meeting at the Hollywood High School tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. The building will be thrown open for inspection during the afternoon to members of the association and their guests. Prof. Thomas Balliet, head of pedagogy of New York University, is to speak on "The Significance of Manual Training on Education." His standing as an educator should insure Prof. Balliet one of the largest audiences in the history of the organization.

WAR SUFFERERS' BENEFIT.

Much interest is being manifested in the approaching Red Cross benefit recital for the German-Austro-Hungarian Relief Society, to be given next Sunday afternoon at the Alexandria Hotel ballroom. Solo artists who will be heard include Cornelia Rider-Possart, noted pianiste; Franz Egenieff (Baron von Kleidorf,) operatic baritone; Mme. Marie Jung-Heger, lieder singer, assisted by the Adolf Tandler Quartette, and Will Garroway, accompanist. A programme of unusual merit will be rendered.

as it stamps its paw. The lady is draped with orange-colored silk and green trimmings. She holds a spear in her left hand, while her right rests on the bear's shoulders. The head ornament is a crown of rhinestones set in tortoise shells of Grecian key design.

The Santa Fe Railroad has contributed a replica of Lytle Creek bridge, which is a short distance west of San Bernardino. The structure is of oranges, lemons and other fruits. Crossing the bridge is a miniature freight train and near by is a watch tower. No detail is lacking. Even the telegraph wires, poles and signal blocks are to be seen.

San Gabriel Valley towns, which have formed a Chamber of Commerce Association, are represented by a massive cornucopia, or horn of plenty. This is a particularly striking exhibit, with products of the valley flowing from the horn, orchard scenes and a small electric train encircling the display.

MANY BY-PRODUCTS.

Many manufacturers and business houses are represented in the by-products display, which is in charge of Mrs. Reetta V. Hadden. All sorts of marmalades, jellies and candies are included in this exhibit. Even bread and cake are shown with the orange tint.

C. D. Hubbard of Carpinteria, who last year won the sweepstakes prize in the lemon competition, this year has a larger and more attractive display.

Big Racers will Have More Time for Practice.

Electric Scoreboard to be a New Feature.

BY AD G. WADDELL.

Although the Ascot Speedway could have been rushed to completion by Monday afternoon, there will be no George Washington sweepstakes race next Tuesday.

The 100-mile race has been postponed until Sunday, February 27. This will give the drivers a chance to practice on the completed course for the $5000 event and will give the Ascot Speedway Association time to erect the guard rail and safeguard the course.

SAFETY FIRST.

The safety of the public and the drivers is the first consideration, and George R. Bentel, contest manager of the speedway association, announced yesterday that it was largely for the purpose of completing the speedway and the safety details, that the race was postponed. With the heavy steel guard rail in front of the grand stand and around each turn, the spectators will be better safeguarded than ever before at a race meet in Southern California.

Many orders for tickets and requests for information have come in from the suburban cities of Southern California and the promoters of the contest predict a record attendance. Letters have been received from motor race fans from San Diego to Santa Barbara, asking to know what accommodations will be afforded for parking space and what grand stand and admission prices will be charged.

SAME PRICE.

For the benefit of the out-of-town race fans, Bentel announced last night that the price of admission would be the same as at the last Ascot contest. The admission with parking space and grand stand accommodations is $1, while box seats and some reserved parking space near the start and finish line will be charged for extra.

At midnight last night the entries closed. There are fifteen cars entered and but fourteen will be allowed to start at the meet. This will call for elimination trials.

ELIMINATION.

It is possible that more than one car will be eliminated before the start, as only real class is to be seen on the course. Several of the eastern drivers entered in the race called upon the local A.A.A. representative and asked him not only to cut the field down to the maximum, fourteen starters, but to eliminate any car from the contest before the start that is not considered safe in the hands of the driver nominated.

The A.A.A. representative had a conference with Referee Frank A. Garbutt and Contest Manager Bentel yesterday and the officials agreed that during the elimination trials, should any driver fail to handle his car on the speedway like a veteran, he will be disqualified. It was also agreed that if any of the fifteen cars, after an inspection, failed to come up to the highest mechanical standards, they would be disqualified, regardless of the speed made.

HARD COURSE.

Earl Cooper said yesterday that the Ascot course will be one of the hardest in the country to drive. It will also be one of the most spectacular in the world, according to Cooper. On some of the eastern speedways it is possible for a practical novice to handle a car, but the local speedway will require skillful driving.

Every precaution is being taken to protect the lives of the drivers and the spectators, and Cooper says it is far better to sacrifice one or two of the real stars of the race rather than to have an accident on the fast course.

FOR THE PUBLIC.

Both Bentel and Referee Garbutt are very anxious to carry out the most rigid safety rules to the letter, and in doing this the management is not only complying with the A.A.A. rules in every respect, but is adopting special safety measures and suggestions of Mr. Bentel's.

One of the features of the race will be an electric scoreboard, showing the position of every car on every lap with the elapsed time running. This scoreboard is being erected by R. C. Durant, driver of the Durant Special in the race, and local Chevrolet manager. The electric scoreboard and timing device is to be operated by E. M. Pendleton.

Barney Oldfield is to pilot two cars in the contest. The veteran will pilot the Christie in the record trials for the $500 offered for the fastest mile under forty seconds, and is entered to drive the famous Cyclone in the 100-mile free-for-all.

Big Ed Caley,

The hard-hitting Class A handball champ of the L.A.A.C., who has challenged Joe Lacey for the club championship. The game will be played Saturday afternoon at the club.

GOTCH WILLING TO STAGE BOUT.

Frank Gotch has consented to wrestle at the L.A.A.C. on the evening of March 10. Dan McLeod is busy sending wires all over the country trying to line up a suitable opponent.

"There isn't much chance," said Dan McLeod yesterday. "A Stecher-Gotch match would draw a $150,000 purse in Iowa or Illinois. The Middle West is crazy over both of these wrestlers. Stecher lives in a small town up in Nebraska by the name of Dodge. For the last three years wrestlers have been going to Omaha to try to throw him. He has won every time. Cutler was the last victim."

OTHER HOPES.

Fearing that he will not be able to get Stecher, McLeod is trying to get Demetral or Cutler. Cutler is in San Francisco. Demetral is on his way West from the East at present.

"Cutler has some engagements in the north that may conflict," explained McLeod. "But the chief trouble is that he is fat. While a wrestler can be fat without it hurting him much, it makes a bad impression on the audience. They are used to seeing boxers, track athletes and the others trained down. They never stop to figure that a wrestler may be fat without it hurting him. Why, in Japan the wrestlers have to be fat."

CLEVER GUY.

McLeod is sweet on Demetral. He thinks the Greek is about the cleverest of all the lightweights. McLeod says that the wrestler is both fast and scientific and, he thinks, as good as Stecher. McLeod would much sooner see the Greek meet Gotch than any other wrestler. He has been unable to locate him to date, however.

Gotch wrestles in San Francisco against Santel next Tuesday. San Francisco has gone wrestling crazy, just as New York and the other eastern cities. A monster house is expected.

Santel weighs about 180 pounds, and is in excellent condition. Gotch has just begun to get into form. Also, he has to come back after being in retirement for some time.

NOT IMPORTANT.

"The fact that Gotch is heavier than Santel has nothing to do with the bout," said McLeod last night. "A man weighing 180 pounds is big enough to throw anybody. I had to give away much more weight than that when I was wrestling all comers and it didn't bother me."

The presence of Gotch and the wrestling spirit in the air is in McLeod's blood. The old champion would like to wrestle again. Joe Stecher has a brother who weighs 166 pounds and has never been thrown.

"I'd just like to soil his record," said the old Scotch champion, "before I quit for good."

Many would like to see the greatest wrestler of his weight that ever lived on the mat once more. McLeod would probably be able to turn the wrestling trick even if he is 55 years of age.

RELAY TEAM FOR CLIFFMEN PICKED.

Coach Goddard of L. A. High has finally decided who will compose the relay team this year. He has picked Chet Sharpe, Chet Sherman, Clement, Pillow, Lewis and Jimmy Mills.

SORE FINGER HOLDS UP PILL SWATTING.

The tournament for the handball championship of L. A. High is all tied up with the destiny of a sore finger. Les Shea, football star and runner-up for honors in the pill swatting diversion, has a slightly injured digit and until this is fully healed the tournament will hang in midair.

DOROTHY BURNS TO SWIM IN BIG MEET.

Dorothy Burns, the best aquatic performer in the south, will represent the Los Angeles Athletic Club in the championship swim at San Francisco, next March. She will have the honor of being the first fair swimmer to represent the local club.

Aileen Allen, Southern California diving champion, may also make the northern trip.

LANGFORD AND HIS PAL DRAW.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Sam Langford of Boston and Sam McVey of California fought ten rounds to a draw at Madison Square Garden here tonight. Langford weighed 193 pounds and McVey, 212.

CLIFFMEN TO PLAY VENICE TOMORROW.

Coach Clendenin's L. A. High baseball squad will go down to Venice tomorrow afternoon to meet the aggregation representing Venice High. The men who will appear in this practice game are Berry, Baskett, Sanji, Weidon, Levinson, Ebey, Atwood, Adams and Capt. Shaeffer. The Hilltoppers have not yet chosen an outfield and the candidates for garden positions will all be tried out tomorrow.

The Cliffmen have started things out in very satisfactory manner, Wednesday they walloped the strong St. Vincent's nine.

MOORE LEADING IN L.A.A.C. TOURNAMENT.

Moore is now leading in the Los Angeles Athletic Club three-cushion billiard tourney. He is closely followed by Amouck and Sparr. Sparr is favored with a handicap of ten billiards and many pick this gent to win the tourney.

The affair is the most successful ever staged at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Byron Gillette has spent a great deal of time scheduling the matches and arranging the handicaps.

MEETINGS OVER FOR COMMISSION.

CINCINNATI (O.) Feb. 17.—August Herrmann, chairman of the National Baseball Commission, said today that there would be no meeting of the commission at New York this week. He stated that the commission would settle all matters pending before it by mail.

BOBBY VAUGHN DUCK CAPTAIN.

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 17.—Bobby Vaughn will captain the Portland Coast League club this coming season, succeeding Billy Speas.

Boss McCredie issued this pronunciamento today between billiard games.

"Vaughn ought to be a star out here, and if he is the right sort will get the job," said Mack.

Last year McCredie named Speas as captain. While Speas was a veteran and a born diplomat, some slight bickering cropped out during the season. Speas somewhat resented the fact that Mack always sought Johnny Lush's advice instead of his.

Speas said last fall that he would be glad to be relieved of his honors. Fisher, catcher, and Stumpf, infielder, are the only other veterans outside of the pitching corps, so the Vaughn appointment ought not to meet with any objection anywhere.

At Handball.

BIG ED CALEY HAS A CHANCE.

WILL TACKLE JOE LACY FOR THE TITLE.

Caley is at the Top of His Handball Form and Ought to Put up a Terrible Fight—Only Weakness is in Left Strokes—Contest Should be Finest this Year.

Big Ed Caley has his chance to reach the top tomorrow. He plays Joe (Courtney) Lacey for the handball championship of the Los Angeles Athletic Club at 2:30 o'clock. The match carries even a larger title, for incidentally Lacey is the best player in Southern California.

Caley is at the top of his handball form. He won the championship in class A without hardly thinking. Elkeles and Wes Ruggles would not touch his kills. Then to celebrate his entrance into the championship class he defeated Joe Amestoy, the man who gave Lacey his hardest game.

SENSATIONAL.

Caley has a terribly hard stroke and a sensational kill. His underhand stroke is the kind one reads about in fairy books. He puts the ball in the crack between the floor and the front wall, from the front, middle and back court.

Caley's weakness is that he is a right-hand player. His underhand stroke on the left is not in the same class as the right. This does not mean that Caley cannot use his left hand, for he can.

Lacey has a peculiar stroke all his own. It is a short chop that nobody seems to be able to fathom. Opponents who have played against him say that one cannot tell where the ball is going. The stroke is baffling.

PERFECT LEFT.

Also, Lacey is as fast as a cat in the court. No matter how hard the ball is hit he is always there. Often he gets an impossible kill in the front court by sliding on his stomach for several yards. He is a remarkable player.

If Caley beats Lacey he will have earned the right to be called the champ and no mistake.

FIRST-CLASS BOXING MATCHES ARE SLATED.

Several first-class boxing matches are slated for the Olympic Club Saturday night. Six big events will be run off and two feature matches promise to be the best seen for a long time.

The main event is between Willie Hunefeld and Al McManus, two classy young boxers, who are both out for victory. There seems to be more sort of a bone to be picked by these two guys and they are to do it Saturday night in a very realistic manner. Abe Lincoln and Dick McManus compose the second sensation.

REDONDO A.C. AND HIGH SCHOOL MEET.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDONDO BEACH, Feb. 17.—An exciting polo match was played at the Redondo Beach bath-house tonight, when the Redondo Beach High School met the newly organized Redondo Beach Athletic Club, in their first match of the season. The High School won by a score of 2 to 1.

At the end of the first half the score was 1 to 1. Jenkins was umpire for the first half and Stump for the second half. A large crowd of polo enthusiasts were out for the game. The line-up was: High School, Walters, sprint; Dorrington, center; Salmon, forward; Stern, guard; Everson, guard; Lucas, goal; Stump, forward. For the Athletic Club the line-up was, Williams, goal; Kageris, sprint; K. McDonald, guard; G. McDonald, center; Burrall, forward; R. Smith, forward; Torrance, guard.

SOUTHERN MEN TO BE INVITED NORTH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—Junior Dula and George Bean are to be invited to attend the Coast swimming championships to be held here in March. At a meeting between Neil E. Brown of the San Diego Swimming and Rowing Club and Louis McLean and William Unmack this action was officially taken.

In the Tank.

KEGERIS SWIMS FAST HUNDRED.

Boy Swimmer Puts Himself in Men's Class.

Stearns Sets New Mark in Plunge for Distance.

Fancy Diving Attracts All Eyes of Crowd.

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

The second handicap swim was held at the L.A.A.C. last night by the club's water ducks. The races were much closer than at the first meet and the scratch men came much nearer winning in every race.

There were so many events, so much splashing of water by the athmuch splashing of water by the athletes, that about the only recollection on the morning after is Aileen Allen's mermaids in red tights sliding gracefully into the water.

RAH FOR RAY.

On second thought about the most important figure about the tank last night was little Ray Kegeris of Redondo. The quiet, bashful, little youngster proved himself the greatest of all the juniors and by his time showed that outside of Sylvester, Tuttle, and Jimmy Leach, he could beat anybody entered in the 100-yard swim.

After giving the other Juniors from 10 to 20 seconds head start, Kegeris won the 100-yard swim in 1 min. 11 sec. Tuttle, who swam the fastest for the men, made the same distance in 1 min. 4 sec., just 5 sec. faster than Kegeris. To say the least the Redondo boy's swim was sensational for a kid.

VERSATILE.

To show that he could swim on his back as well as his stomach, Kegeris at the end of the meet swam 50 yards backstroke in 39 min. 4 sec. That's a good deal faster than the ordinary guy can splash 50 yards any old way.

Jeff Davis beat Ray Kegeris out in the diving. But that was no disgrace. Davis is to all other boy divers what Billy Williams is to other men divers. Besides, Kegeris had won enough honors for one night.

SOME BABY.

"Kewpie" Stearns in all his beauty broke the Southern California record in the plunge for distance. He managed to float along in the water for 65 ft. 6 1-2 in. without breathing or moving. Very few people were aware that a fat boy like Kewpie could stay up in the water at all, let alone float along almost the length of a tank.

It seems that a man has to be fat to be a good plunger. Stearns takes in air until he is all swollen out like a balloon. Then he flops into the water and bounces along like a cork. He had to give Henry 9 ft. handicap. Henry went 59 ft. 1 1-2 in. In other words Kewpie didn't have much to come and go in. He just won.

CRABBING.

Burns and Brinker swam a beautiful race in the 150-yard backstroke. Tod Burns won by barely reaching out his arm and hitting the rope while Brinker's arm was in the air. Burns had to give Brinker 8 seconds. The three-fifths of a second win by Todd shows how just was the handicap. Yet both men crabbed.

Brinker claimed before the race he ought to have 10 sec. Todd claimed that he should only give Brinker 6 sec. Les Henry had raised his megaphone to announce the race off when Veith persuaded the swimmers to go at his time. The finish shows how perfect was the handicapping. Still Brinker went around after the race was over and said that he should have had 10 sec. Some fellows just naturally want to get the world by the pants.

SOL AGAIN.

The great fight in the 100-yard dash resulted in a victory for Sol Tuttle. Tuttle won because he had more strength left in the last twenty-five yards. Old man Sylvester and Tuttle took the last turn together. Sylvester's push-off was the better. He was half an arm in the lead. With the end in sight he wobbled a little and began to roll. Tuttle put down his head, forgot his breath and swung his arms like a windmill, churning the water. The result was that he beat Sylvester by half of his body. Also Tuttle's actual time was just a second better than Sylvester's. Sol laid claim last night to the title of champion 100-yard swimmer of the club. All Sylvester had to say was that he (Guy Sylvester) swam like a cat.

Miss Dorothy Burns, swimming against Jimmy Leach, went the fifty yards in 34s. If she had not taken the turn too soon her time would have been a second or two faster.

In the absence of Champion Billy Williams and Cliff Bowes, Pete Condeo won the diving for men.

Cameron Coffey, the little 3½-year-old human fish, pulled a Charlie Chaplin rescue that was worthy of the screen. He pulled his little cousin out of the water like a regular life guard. Also he dived off the ten and sixteen-foot boards and went into the water without raising a bubble.

The results:

440-yard swim; Wood (40 sec.) first; Daugherty (90 sec.) second; Hazeltine (17 sec.) third; best time, Gerry Witt, 6 min. 32 sec.

100-yard dash; Leach (4 sec.) first; Tuttle (0 sec.) second; Sylvester (scratch) third; best time, Tuttle, 1 min. 0 sec.

220-yard breast stroke; Barker (25 sec.) first; Hayford (scratch) second; Meissner (3 sec.) third; best time, Hayford, 3 min. 11 sec.

One length of tank for boys under 15 years; Poinsett, first; Lopez, second; Crandall, third; time, 23 2-5 sec.

Plunge for distance; Stearns (scratch) first; Henry 10 feet) second; best distance, Stearns, 65 ft. 6½ in. (Record Southern California record.)

150-yard backstroke; Burns (scratch) first; Brinker (8 sec.) second; best time, Burns, 2 min. 11 sec.

50-yard backstroke (Juniors); Ray Kegeris first; Greenwood second; Yolles, third; time, 39 4-5 s.

San Diego Can Now Be Reached Over Coast Route.

COAST ROUTE IS OPENED AT LAST.

Careful Driving is Absolutely Necessary.

Riverside Bridge Now Ready for Use.

The Coast route to San Diego was opened for the first time yesterday since the storms, by a scout car of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Thousands of anxious motorists who have waited to hear the exact amount of damage done to California's first completed intercity stretch of the $18,000,000 State highway, were answered last night when the report from the scout car came over the wire to the club.

Don't drive at night—don't be careless—don't be afraid of sand or of ferries, and you will reach San Diego safely via the coast, reads the report.

REGULAR ROUTE.

From Los Angeles to Santa Ana the regular route is now followed. Go east on Seventh street and Stephenson avenue to the Whittier boulevard, continuing on this through to Santa Ana, over the recently repaired bridge across the Santa Ana River between Santa Ana and Anaheim. South of Santa Ana the adventures begin.

Before reaching Oceanside, two "channel bridges" must be crossed, the first at San Onofre and the second near Los Flores just south of the overhead railroad crossing. Here there is also a dry arroyo through which automobiles must pass, and difficulty will be encountered, as on the farther bank there is a 30 per cent. grade.

FORDS NECESSARY.

There are two fords necessary over the San Luis Rey River, where the big concrete bridge went out and another one, one-half mile north of there. In order to be hauled across these places, which is necessary, the adventurous motorist must telephone to any garage in Oceanside, stating that a team is wished to be waiting at the ford. This telephone communique should be sent from Capistrano.

A charge of $4 is made for the service, and includes the entire set of crossings.

The Automobile club states that the roadway as far as Oceanside is generally fair. South of Serra Station, near San Juan Capistrano, where the route parallels the shore under the cliffs, there have been some slides, not doing any particular damage, but throwing quite a bit of dirt on the highway.

BAD SAND.

Below Oceanside it is necessary to resort to a ferry, in the vicinity of Del Mar. There is some bad sand on this stretch of the road, but it is pretty good otherwise.

A saving of distance is made by the opening of the coast route, although for the time being, the majority of automobiles will continue over the inland. The main damage has been done to bridges and culverts, rather than to the new State highway, says the Auto Club's report.

The scout car was equipped with "temporary route" signs, and these were placed wherever necessary, although there are very few detours, and what there are, are short ones.

San Diego rejoiced last night in the news that an automobile had made its way through, and a distinct improvement in the route is hoped for by March 13, the date of the formal opening of the 1916 exposition. The club representatives were warmly welcomed, and will leave today for Los Angeles, stopping only long enough to secure a full set of photographs of the damage done.

LITTLE DIFFICULTY.

Motorists planning to take the trip today or tomorrow are advised first to call up the Automobile Club, and secure detailed advice as to the conditions to be encountered. Many automobilists, it is pointed out, generally under-estimate the difficulty of a trip of this kind, and while it may be easy for some, will be hard for others.

It is additionally important for motorists to learn that the Riverside bridge over the Santa Ana River will be completed and ready for travel tomorrow, according to advices received late yesterday at Automobile Club headquarters.

This will make possible the resumption of the regular route to Riverside over the Valley boulevard through Pomona and Ontario.

CARD WOMEN MUST LEARN TO PADDLE.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY (Cal.) Feb. 17.—Women students at Stanford University will not be allowed to go out in canoes on the lake here, it was announced today, until they have passed a swimming test, which will include swimming twenty-five yards, wearing shoes and a skirt. Miss Dorothy Albrecht, '15, of Los Angeles, has been appointed to administer the test.

James Campbell MacDonald, a lieutenant in the Canadian Field Engineers, has been awarded the military cross, and is the first British Columbia sportsman to win honors in the European war. MacDonald is a member of the Vancouver Rowing Club.

JOHNSTON TO ENTER TOURNEY.

National Singles Champion Willie Johnston of San Francisco has at last been persuaded to quit selling sporting goods to the general public of the Bay City long enough to play in the midwinter tourney at Long Beach.

The appearance of such nationally-famous characters as Champ Willie, Maurice McLoughlin, G. M. Church, Tom Bundy, Winnie Mace and several other lesser lights will do much to draw a record attendance as the tennis promises to be of a high order.

Paul Hirschler,

Sophomore at South Pasadena High School, who looks like a sensation in the quarter-mile.

TRACK MAN CHANGES IN MYSTERIOUS WAY.

BY W. WARDE FOWLER.

High school track stars are rather plentiful this season and practically every institution in the South is bragging about some newly acquired hero. South Pasadena, however, boasts of an especially brilliant luminary. This young man is commonly known as Hirschler and his favorite events are the quarter and half-mile runs.

Paul Hirschler has been running for a long time. He acquired the habit in Throop Elementary School several years ago. At that time it was quite the thing for the boys to go over to Tournament Park and jog around the half-mile track a couple of times. The reason for this insanity was that they could watch the polo practice while they were working out.

But when Hirschler left Throop he couldn't run any faster than anybody else. During his freshman year in South Pasadena High School he managed to change from a slow runner to a fast one. Why and how he did this is a mystery, but it was a wise move.

In a recent meet Hirschler ran the half in 2m., 7s., and negotiated the quarter in 53 3-5s. At the finish of the quarter there was no one within speaking distance of him. When he completed the half, there was no one else in sight. If he had been hard pressed he might have cut a second or so off of both records.

"Hirschler looks awful good," remarked Coach Leonard yesterday. "He is working out in the gym every day and he will be in splendid shape in a couple of weeks. He's got lots of speed and ambition."

"Shucks," panted the prospect, as he ended a fast lap, "that time Saturday was rotten. I've got to have some one stepping on my heels to make me go at all. Up at Throop we used to get in scraps with some fellow about ten times as big as we were and when we ran, there was plenty of reason for it, immediately behind us."

BASEBALL OWNERS WANT MORE PLAYERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The owners and managers of the American League baseball clubs decided at a meeting here today to request the National Commission to permit an increase in the number of players on option from eight to fifteen and on second option from two to five. Under the present rule each club is limited to twenty-five players, but can farm out eight players on option this year and two next year.

President Ban Johnson admitted that the principal purchaser of the Cleveland club was James C. Dunn, a Chicago contractor.

POLYTECHNIC MAN HAS KICK COMING.

Considerable excitement was noticed at Polytechnic High School yesterday. This was caused by the announcement in the papers that George Woodhams had been dropped from the track squad on account of poor scholarship. Such, in truth, was very far from being the case.

Woodhams has been on the sick list for the last few days. He has had an abscess in his ear, which has caused him much pain and trouble. So much, in fact, that he had to drop out of track.

Woodhams is a first-class student. He is a good track man. And he will be back on the squad as soon as his ear permits.

O'BRIEN AND MARTIN WIN AT BILLIARDS.

O'Brien and Martin of the Lyceum billiard parlors defeated Lewis and Doane of the Ball in a close match yesterday evening. The final count was 50 to 33. Wilson and Terrass of the Rex defeated Bayne and Harba of the Sierra by the same score. Wilson had a high run of 27.

The matches scheduled for this evening are Casino at Helds and Viera at Lincoln.

Patrick J. Conway has been elected president of the Irish-American Club of New York for the twentieth term.

Surprise.

NISBIT WINS IN FIRST ATTEMPT.

Leads the Hun Quarter-milers in Big Tryout.

Sturges Brothers will Also Land on Team.

Pomona Track Prospects not Very Rosy.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLAREMONT, Feb. 17.—One of the biggest surprises of the present track season at Pomona was sprung here this afternoon when Jim Nisbit walked off with first place in the try-outs for the quarter-mile relay team, which will represent the Huns in the relay carnival on Washington's Birthday. Nisbit put on a suit for the first time this season tonight, and then proceeded to lead the entire squad of quarter-milers to the tape in 55s. His addition to the Sagehen team for the coming season will mean many points for the Huns in the intercollegiate meets which are ahead of them.

OTHERS UNCERTAIN.

Outside of Nisbit, Coach Stanton is not sure just who will represent the Huns in the coming carnival. Charlie Green finished second to Nisbit in the try-outs and will be used as one of the quarter-milers in all probability, while Adsit, who finished third, is expected to run a third lap. The coach will not announce the teams until just before the race.

Try-outs were also held tonight for the four-man two-mile relay. The two Sturges brothers will be on the team without a doubt, while Walden, a member of last year's winning team, will take care of another lap. The fourth man will in all probability be Adkinson.

USEFUL MAN.

Coach Stanton is figuring on using Adkinson in both races according to indications. Adkinson is equally good in both the quarter and the half-mile races and the coach intends to use him twice if he can stand the pace. If Coach Stanton thinks that the Huns cannot take both races, he will probably use his best men in the half-mile, and figure on winning one of the relays at least, for the Huns will retain the relay cup if they can manage to break even in the coming relays.

There has been some little talk in sporting circles about the Huns using freshmen in the coming A.A.U. contests. To quiet this rumor, the Executive Committee met tonight and passed the following resolution:

"In accordance with Pomona's previously adopted policy of eliminating freshmen from intercollegiate athletic contests, she will not enter freshmen in the approaching relay carnival at Pasadena. In order that Pomona may not evade either the principle or the letter of the freshman rule, the Executive Committee of the Associated Students has officially agreed that only by such elimination can Pomona remain true to her collegiate standards."

NO FRESHMEN.

While Pomona has several freshmen sprinters of ability who could make the relay teams without any doubt, the Huns according to this announcement will keep the first year men out of even the open contests. Consequently, the only chance the south will have of seeing the Huns' freshmen stars this year will be in the A.A.U. championships in April, and until that time they will be kept out of all collegiate competition.

The announcement of the retirement of Given this week was a serious set back for the track team. Given was a sprinter of experience and was counted upon as a sure point winner for the Huns in the coming meets.

With Given out of it, Coach Stanton will have a hard time finding a running mate for Stone in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Given was capable of running Stone a close second in both events and always forced Stone to do his very best.

On the whole the Huns' prospects are not as rosy as some people think. Their men are all O. K. as far as the races are concerned but the field events will be a complete loss. Field men are scarce in Pomona and there doesn't seem to be one real hope this season.

Rah for Em!

THREE DUCKS TO INVADE EAST.

AND WILL PROBABLY WIN LOTS OF EVENTS.

Duke Kahanamoku, Ludy Langer and Billy Williams Should Capture Many First Places from the Eastern Swimmers, Who Pay Their Expenses.

Ludy Langer, Duke Kahanamoku and Billy Williams will go East to swim in the national championships. That is, they will go if they are not very foolish.

The Illinois Athletic Club, the Chicago Athletic Association, the New York Athletic Club and the Missouri Athletic Association have made a common pool and raised enough money to pay the expenses of the champions East.

Ludy Langer, the long-distance champion of the club, is now in Honolulu at the big Hawaiian meet. But when he was training for this swim at the L.A.A.C. he was figuring on going East and the club on paying his expenses.

"While I'm in Honolulu," he said, "I'll get the Duke to come back with me. Then Billy Williams, he and I will go East. I hope we will be able to show them our feet in their own tanks."

Billy Williams, the national diving champion, is at present in the hospital. He crushed in a couple of ribs while tied to a windmill out at the Keystone. Cliff Bowes is also suffering from the same injury. But Williams will be whole again in a month.

With the Duke in the sprints, Ludy in the long distances and Billy Williams in the diving, the Coast will come near winning every meet with just these three water ducks.

All of the swimmers would now be wearing the colors of the L.A.A.C. had anybody gotten the Duke a job when he was here. He wanted to stay.

The swimming championships begin on April 8 and end April 23. They are to be held at New York, Pittsburgh and St. Louis. The A.A.U. thought by spreading them out that way it would be able to satisfy all sections of the East. Swimming is immensely popular and the East is especially desirous of seeing the three great Pacific Coast champions.

L.A. JUNIOR COLLEGE LICKED ONCE AGAIN.

Los Angeles Junior College met its third defeat at basketball yesterday, when the Hollywood Junior College quintette piled up a score to the tune of 46 to 31. The first half was a walk-away for the Hollywood bunch, but in the second half Los Angeles Junior College tried hard to pull a strong comeback. Kaiser of the Cliff-dwellers shot twelve field baskets while Hull starred for Hollywood. The game was fast and Hollywood held a big lead throughout the entire game. They excelled in team work and all around basket shooting, while Los Angeles was superior in individual playing.

The Hollywood quintette close the season with a good record, having won eleven out of fourteen games. They consider themselves champions among junior colleges, as Fullerton forfeited both games, leaving them the championship. The line-up was:

| L.A.J.C. | | H.J.C. |
|---|---|---|
| Johns | Forward | Hull |
| Kaiser | Forward | Newman, Redwine |
| Kittle | Center | Bliss |
| Abrahams | Guard | Johnson |

PHIL BALL SAYS HE LOST MONEY.

Former Fed Owner Testifies to His Troubles.

Chicago Contractor Said to Own Indians.

Clubs Want to Farm Out More Players.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—At the annual schedule meeting of the American League held here today, President B. B. Johnson represented the new owners of the Cleveland Club. After the playing dates for the coming season had been adopted, the league executive stated he would announce some time next week the names of all those who were interested financially in the purchase of the Cleveland Club. He said, however, that J. C. Dunn, a Chicago contractor, held the majority of the club's stock.

Phil Ball, who recently acquired the St. Louis Browns, was introduced to his fellow club owners and made a speech, in which he described some of his experiences as the club owner in the Federal League. He said that his first year in that venture cost him $88,000, and during the second year he lost about $94,000.

The delegates requested President Johnson to ask the National Commission for permission to "farm out" fifteen instead of eight players under the optional agreement and a second year's option to increase the number to five instead of two, which is now the limit under the rule.

The league as a body agreed to allow the minor leagues to send out their contracts to players up to March 1 each year. Similar action was taken by the National League here last week so that the matter now awaits the indorsement of the National Committee. Formerly these contracts had to be tendered before February 1.

SOLOMON DERBY DOG RACE WON BY AYER.

NOME (Alaska) Feb. 17.—Fred Ayer won the Solomon Derby dog race yesterday, covering the sixty-four miles from Nome to Solomon and return over the snow in six hours and nine minutes. Considering the coldness of the weather and the roughness of the trails the time made was good. Seppala was second, Delezene third. Ayer came home carrying one disabled dog on his sled.

BILL LANGE'S BIGGEST SALARY ONLY $2500.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

There is much groaning in baseball circles these bright February days, said sounds of anguish being emitted by the players. Most of them have just passed through a serious operation, being clipped, bobbed, clashed, macerated and otherwise mutilated in the region of the pay check. A player has to some slight regard for his pay check that the average man has for one of his vital organs, and he does not relish having any one fooling around it with a pruning hook.

NOT RIGHT.

When a guy is suffering from some grave malady, a skilled physician is not called up behind him when he is standing on the street corner and told that his liver or a kidney, as the case may be, is to be taken to a hospital and operated on for the worst. The players, however, were compelled to submit to an anesthetic. Several of them have not yet recovered from the shock and a few are still sulking over the salary prospects might extract some comfort by perusing the pay checks which formerly prevailed.

NOT SO BAD.

The average salary in the Coast League this year will be $2000 for seven months' work.

Going back a few years, Bill Lange is found drawing approximately the same average salary in the major league. And Bill was no slouch. He was the reigning star of that era—the Ty Cobb of the National League. Lange was with the Chicago club six years, and during that time hit .324, .388, .333, .352, .332 and .324. He quit, not because he weakened, but because he married considerable money and Wifey put her foot down on baseball.

During those years, Lange's highest salary was $2500. We have the word of Frank Chance for this. The P. L. was a team-mate of Lange. That doesn't sound like much now, and yet at the time everybody was talking about the "enormous salary" paid Lange. Some were even so skeptical as to characterize it "press agent" bunk.

Plainly, Bill did not get all that he was worth, and yet he was satisfied and considerably envied by the other athletes. His case is cited because it is both germaine and timely, and tends to show the extent to which the condition of the players has improved.

THE END.

The Washington club was slipped a package with sandpaper wrapping when Joe Gedeon was awarded to the New York Americans. Gedeon, by all the ordinary rights and usages of baseball, and as a matter of equity, should have been awarded to Washington. But under the stress of "peace conditions" he was auctioned off by Sinclair to the Yankees.

Thus ends the last chapter in the "working agreement" between Washington and the Angels.

This "working agreement," intended originally for the benefit of the Los Angeles and Washington teams, worked mainly to the advantage of the New York club, which was not a party to it. Slim Love, another player sent here by Washington, will be with the Yankees next year.

Under the terms of this agreement Washington was to send Los Angeles its surplus players for the privilege of buying what it regarded as the best player on the team the following fall. The arrangement was rigged up by Dillon and Griffith.

UNFORTUNATE.

Both clubs lived up to the agreement in every particular, but it so happened events so shaped themselves that Washington lost out all around. Griffith sent the Angels approximately $15,000 worth of athletes, and did not receive a player or a dime in return. In fact, he lost $2000 of hard cash in the operation.

Comprising his consignment of players were Long Tom Hughes, Slim Love, Joe Gedeon, Musser, Calvo and Barton. Later he purchased Ehmke, finally turning him back for further seasoning.

All that Griffith, sometimes known as the "Old Fox," received in return was a deficit of $2000 on the deal.

Hughes pitched winning ball the first year and was a big factor in keeping the Angels in the race. Calvo and Barton did not measure up to the Coast League standard and were shunted to the small minors. Musser won some games for the local club, but showed no improvement when recalled by Washington, and Griffith turned him over to Des Moines.

In none of these transactions was there a penny of profit for Griffith. Later in the season, with some difficulty, he secured waivers on Joe Gedeon. Joe, out of his stride from warming a major league bench, was tried out at second base in a few games and didn't seem to show much. The local club made Salt Lake a present of him, and Dillon signed up Fred McMullen to play second base.

TAKES EHMKE.

Exercising his right to take his pick of the team, Griffith bought Ehmke for $2000 in the fall of 1914. Finding that Ehmke did not want to go East, and believing that he would benefit by another year in the Coast, Griffith turned him back. It was his intention to claim him the following season. Meantime, responding to the bum advice of an elder brother, Ehmke hopped to the Feds. This loss fell on Washington. The Kid now belongs to the Federals, and probably will be sold to the highest bidder.

Last season Gedeon developed into a star—outranking all rivals in the vicinity of second base. It appeared that he might prove to be a good man for Washington, but shortly before the close of the season he signed a Federal League contract. When the Feds busted, it was the consensus of opinion that he would revert to Griffith. Nothing of the kind happened. Joe landed with the New York Americans, a rival ball team. In the draft New York drafted Slim Love, beating Washington to it.

That "working agreement" proved to be a bum deal all around for Washington, but through no fault of the Los Angeles club.

William J. Knox of Philadelphia, the only ten-pin expert to bowl the perfect 300 score in a national championship, will not compete in the American Congress tournament, which begins in Toledo March 4. Knox registered his score in the former American Congress tourney at Toledo in the individual matches.

WASHINGTON STATE TO PLAY NEBRASKA.

BEALS BECKER AFTER A JOB.

Chance Can't See Where Beals Would Play.

Tip O'Neill Blows Out to the Ball Park.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Beals Becker wants to play with the Los Angeles club. This well-known athlete yesterday so expressed himself in a letter to Powers and Chance.

Becker needs no introduction, having been until recently a member of the world championship Phillies, and prior to that with the New York Giants.

Beals recently had an argument which made him a free agent. The Philadelphia club wanted to chop $1000 off his salary. The player demurred; in fact, he objected. He opined that he could do better elsewhere. Becker, in short, declared that he would prefer not to remain with the Phillies, and Moran, in recognition of his services to the Philadelphia club, made him a free agent.

Becker could catch on in the East, but explains that he would like to play a season on the Coast, and especially with the Los Angeles club, because of his acquaintance with Chance.

Chance has not yet penned a reply. He thinks a good deal of his outfield as it now stands, and justly so, for, everything considered, it is the greatest in the history of the Coast League. However, it is composed mainly of veterans. Because of this and the fear that some of the men may not return to form it is probable that the local club will keep a line on a few men who can be called in should a crisis arise. At present, however, there is no intention of using Becker. In case Chance makes any change in his outfield it is probable that he will select a right-handed hitter.

Tip O'Neill, former president of the Western League, motored up to Washington Park yesterday and held a short session with Powers and Chance. Tip, who is now living in San Francisco, said that his call was strictly informal and had no official or political significance. He says that he is here mainly for the purpose of visiting relatives. O'Neill is one of Comiskey's right-hand men, and always arranges the western training trips of the White Sox. Incidentally, it is a pretty fair bet that the White Sox will be here about a year hence. Frankly, we feel sort of lost without them.

President Maier of the Vernon Tigers will leave here today for his Arizona mine. He will be accompanied by Hamilton Patterson and Jack Bliss.

Voluntary spring training proved to be more or less of a flivver. The athletes did not flock to the park in large numbers yesterday. On Wednesday quite a few were there, but only six of them donned uniforms. Yesterday something like five warmed up. The new recruits were Bert Whaling, Johnny Bassler and Honus Mitze, while Patterson donned a "uni" and hit a few out. Pat still carries the old swing that busted up so many games in the good old days. Some of those who practiced Wednesday, did not appear. Plainly, they resented the intimation that they were willing to practice without receiving food money in return. The enthusiasm seemed to have subsided. They felt that to practice under these conditions would cheapen them in the estimation of the public. At that, it isn't much too soon for some of the old-timers to get into action, and show a spirit of industry. More power to the old elbow and batting eye.

Frank Chance has taken up the case of Flame Delhi with great vigor. The Los Angeles club purchased the cerise-crowned pitcher from the Pirates, but the deal had hardly cooled when the Kansas City club interposed an objection. Tebeau claims that Delhi still belongs to K. C. Chance wants the tangle straightened out immediately. Delhi is equally anxious, and has written to Dreyfus asking to whom he actually belongs. He has an attractive offer from Ray in the Copper Belt League, and will accept it, he says, rather than return East.

SEALS AFTER NEW PITCHER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 17.—Measures looking toward the strengthening of the pitching staff of the San Francisco Seals are evident in a dispatch received last night by the Chronicle from Bloomington, Ind., which told of the efforts of the local Coast League Club to induce Pitcher Frederick L. Beebe to resign his position as baseball coach of Indiana University to join the western champions. The dispatch reads as follows:

BLOOMINGTON (Ind.) Feb. 17.—Wires are being kept hot between here and San Francisco in an effort to induce Fred L. Beebe to resign his position as baseball coach of Indiana University to pitch for the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League. Beebe, before coming here, pitched for Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Buffalo. He has the San Francisco offer under consideration.

His first choice, however, is Los Angeles. Chance is strong for Delhi. "I am eager to have him with the Angels," he said. "Not only does he appear to be a good man on his record, but his record also shows that he can stand a lot of work."

Bill Piercy, the El Monte phenom, departed yesterday for Macon, Ga., having been ordered by Bill Donovan to join the New York American pitching staff there February 23. The Yankees have nearly sixty men on their roster, most of whom seem to be pitchers. This means that Piercy and Slim Love will have to do some real work in order to remain.

Harry Harper, former Angel outfielder, left yesterday for Hayden, in the Copper Belt League. He will condition himself by working in the mines at the rate of $4 a day. This is the most profitable brand of spring training known to the game. Although he intends to play ball regularly with the Hayden team, Harper, it is understood, intends to make mining a profession later.

* * *

Jack Killilay, one of Salt Lake's right-handed standbys, is here from Petaluma, where he has been passing the winter. He is in fine shape and doubtless will make his pitching personality felt the coming season.

Jack Gilligan, new Tiger hurler, was seen at Washington Park yesterday. Jack simply wanted to get out and sniff the air. He has been working inside all winter. Gilligan thinks that he will have the best season of his career, and many share his opinion in the matter. He finished the 1915 season with Salt Lake, and showed to advantage. Blankenship, however, figuring that he was a veteran, turned him back to the Des Moines club. He was later purchased by the Tigers. Gilligan says that he has at last found the secret of control, lack of which formerly has been his greatest handicap. Of a large and powerful physique, he put everything that he had on the ball with the result that he could not control the "break." Last season when he felt some of his prowess begin to wane he devoted more attention to the finer points of pitching, such as "placing the ball," and the result was an improvement in his control.

SANTA MONICA MAY GET RACES.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—The question of applying for permission to run the Vanderbilt cup and Grand Prix classics in connection with the Elgin National Trophy and Chicago Automobile Club cup events in August will be considered at a meeting of the Elgin Road Racing Association next Wednesday. Both the Vanderbilt and the Grand Prix will be run, it is said, either at Elgin or in Santa Monica, Cal.

Cheer Up.

TRACK TEAMS TO FIGHT IT OUT.

Occidental Hit by Wave of Hard Luck.

Manual Sure of Only One Field Event.

The Occidental track team will give up the exciting work of raising a million dollars for a little while tomorrow afternoon and journey to Manual Arts to see what it can do.

According to Coach Pritsch of Manual it can do almost anything it wants to. But according to a good many other authorities this is more or less uncertain.

At any rate the two squads will mix up in a sort of free-for-all, each side grabbing all the points possible.

Coach Pipal has had a number of snags to go up against this year. In the first place, the material was none too promising to begin with. Several of the old standbys have met with accidents and are out of track for good. Capt. Annin has a sprained ankle which will keep him on the bench during the entire season.

And then the million dollar campaign. All of the students of Occidental College are supposed to give most of their time during the days of the campaign to that work. Track work, necessarily, had to take second place and it has been a pretty poor second at that.

With these considerations in mind, the Tigers are rather doubtful of the outcome of the meet.

Manual on the other hand has had a perfectly normal training season. The meets so far prove that the school has some real athletes and they are getting better all the time.

Mile run—Occidental, Hills, Cross, S. Pritchard, Knut and Eldred; Manual Arts, Cook, Kistler and Stevens.

120-yard high hurdles—Occidental, McClain, Creighton and M. Webster; Manual Arts, H. Lamport, Wright and Leadingham.

220-yard hurdles—Occidental, Daniels and M. Webster; Manual Arts, H. Lamport, Oyler, Shapland, Goodman and Buschemeyer.

High jump — Occidental, M. Webster, Hoenschal and Creighton; Manual Arts, Beggs, Zolin, Duffy, Ross, Lyons, Wright and Oyler.

OTTO HESS IS ON HIS WAY HERE.

Otto Hess, former Boston pitcher, who is to play with the Vernon club, will arrive here within the next two or three days, according to a letter received by Lou Kemp. Hess and Whaling, his former battery mate, are planning to do their preliminary work at Murietta, and in company with Kemp plan to leave for that place next week.

PATTERSON IS IN A UNIFORM.

Southern California leads in all things. Hamilton Patterson, manager of the Tigers, is the first manager in the entire country to start active training. The Tiger boss was out in uniform yesterday, and displayed considerable pep. He occupied himself mainly in hitting to a make-shift infield consisting of Lush, Whaling, Brashear, Mitze and a local semi-pro called Riley.

Evelyn Nesbit,

Who is to open an engagement today at the Orpheum, in a song and dance act. The photograph was secured just after Miss Nesbit finished rehearsing yesterday morning by Dr. Byken Takagi, the clever Japanese photographer of this city.

AMONG THE MUMMERS.

By Grace Kingsley.

"Twin Beds" will be held over for another week at the Mason.

Crosses Her Heart.

Evelyn Nesbit will positively make her appearance at the Orpheum this afternoon. Jack Clifford, in spite of his sore hand, has made up his mind that he will be able to dance. He has his fingers crossed on that hand, and Miss Nesbit has promised not to touch it. The pair were billed in New York as America's best whirlwind dancers.

Hello, Nan.

Nan Carter, a young and beautiful actress of New York, has been engaged by Manager Oliver Morosco for the Morosco stock company.

No Chance, Doggone It.

Warner Baxter of the Morosco Photoplay Company has a grouch. For ten weeks now he has been cast in parts in which Edmund Lowe breaks his wrist. Just 120 times, come Saturday night, has Baxter had his wrist broken. He is looking for a chance to even up in a play in which he can beat Lowe up.

"But what chance has a poor villain?" he inquires, with a sob.

Sport Note.

That's the question which pretty Mae Francis, singing at the Orpheum this week, put up in New York, as she walked down Broadway one fine afternoon in December, leading Kewpie, her pet bear, on a chain.

The trouble was, Mae was going out on a vaudeville tour, and couldn't take Kewpie with her, because he just would eat up her make-up in the dressing-room.

Finally she disposed of him for the season to Flo Ziegfeld for the "Follies," and Kewpie is now a regular actor. He acts with Bert Williams, who is said to be scared of Bruin.

Ain't It So?

Miss Francis just received from the East a present of a beautiful South African "wishing ring," set with diamonds.

"Whoever has this ring wished on his or her finger will get his wish," declared Miss Francis.

We should think so!

Mabel Remains East.

The festive Charlie Pike relates that the Keystone party, managed by him, including Mabel Normand, Roscoe Arbuckle and others, which went East a couple of months ago, was royally received all along the road. In Chicago the film favorites received an ovation. There were dinner parties and dancing parties and tons of flowers.

The company will continue indefinitely to work at the Fort Lee studio.

Reform Note.

"Can that 'rock-and-rye' stuff," declared Billie Rock. "If you must do it, reverse the act, and get it White Rock. That's what we are both sticking to, by the way."

He Can't Help It.

Hattie in Two-a-day.

Hattie Williams is to appear on the Orpheum circuit in "An Army Widow," a playlet by Grace Livingstone Furniss.

New One.

The Mission Film Company was incorporated yesterday, with William Hosley, Ridley F. Taylor and Wilkins W. Wheatley as principal stockholders. The incorporation papers show capital stock, $10,000; subscribed, $200.

Cupid Busy.

Reincarnated Trampas.

Frank Campeau, who originated the role of Trampas with Dustin Farnum in "The Virginian," appears with Dorothy Gish in "Jordan is a Hard Road," to go on the Burbank screen next week.

Good for Little Lois.

Lois Meredith is working for the Balboa company in a photoplay entitled "The One-eyed God," written by E. F. Whitcomb. William Conklin plays opposite her.

The photoplay has an oriental setting, and promises to be one of the most elaborate productions the Balboa has put out.

"The Lambs and the Wolves" is the name of a feature picture recently filmed by the Balboa company, starring Miss Meredith, supported by Mr. Conklin.

Sincere Prize Fighter.

When John Emerson scanned the scenario for "His Picture in the Papers" he found that the author required the hero to be the victor in a prize fight for a so-called championship. The director at once sought the services of the manager of the Sharkey Athletic Club, in New York, told him about when he would be ready to film the scenes, and what he required in the way of fight club apparatus and accessories. The manager of the Sharkey Club obligingly furnished, as part of the apparatus, the former lightweight champion, Terry McGovern, who appears in the picture in the big "prop" fight.

Realism and Reality.

"Vengeance is Mine" is the new bill opening today at the Garrick, featuring Crane Wilbur. By the way, Crane will exhibit his pulchritudinous perfections in person at the Garrick this evening at 8:30 o'clock, when his black and blue auto will deposit him at the stage door, and he will walk out before the screen and talk. "Vengeance is Mine" will run until Saturday night.

Billie has Secret Hate.

William Clifford, leading man at the David Horsley studios, who is being starred in the Mutual master pictures, de luxe edition, has just completed a five-reel subject, "The Secret Hate." This picture is said to give Mr. Clifford a wonderful opportunity to display his dramatic qualities in the portrayal of Capt. Delmar, an English army officer. Margaret Gibson plays opposite him. Edward Alexander will direct.

Find Out, Ladies!

Owing to the large number of personal communications Manager Fountain has received this week from women patrons, the matinee today will be especially given over to the fair sex, and Frescott, "the master mind of mental mysticism," will give the ladies his undivided attention and endeavor to solve all problems they present to him.

Thinks It's Great.

"Buster" Collier, son of the noted comedian, appearing in "Better Late Than Never" at the Majestic this week, considers himself the luckiest youngster in the world. There never was such a game of cowboys, soldiers and Indians as he is playing in—a game in which there are real Indians, real guns and a real fort. And he gets money for it, too!

Buster has bought his picture pony.

All for Her Art.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fishter, appearing this week at the Orpheum in "Suspicions of Hubby," are to play next season in Mr. Fishter's own playlet, a farce with a modern social problem used to thicken the plot.

One day in San Francisco, when the gun used in "Suspicious of Hubby" refused to go off, Miss Taylor, off stage, excitedly grabbed $16 worth of canes which were in the wings, awaiting use in another act, and banged them on the floor to make a noise like a pistol being discharged. She saved her own act, but broke the canes, and had to pay for them.

Face Card Among Us.

Ad Kessel, Jr., of the New York Motion Picture Company, is in town. He visited Culver City yesterday and expressed himself as much pleased with the way in which the business of the Ince forces is being conducted.

Everybody's Doin' It.

Estheticism appears to be as catching as the measles.

Out at the Fine Arts studio the other day Lloyd Ingraham's property man rushed to the cafeteria next door for some ice cream to use in a supper scene in "The Missing Links."

"Oh, vanilla, I guess," answered the property man.

"No, vanilla won't do," suggested the restaurant man. "It will cause halation. Better take strawberry."

Reel Realism.

Esthetic Note.

Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree finds the music of an organ inspiring when working in "Macbeth." One has therefore been imported at the Fine Arts studio.

Just Like Encyclopedia.

R. Ellis Wales, librarian and archeologist of the Fine Arts studio, is a very busy man. He is now also general superintendent of the costume and wardrobe departments. Miss Eliza Lopez is first general assistant and Clare West, formerly on the staff of "Vogue," and Marion Burdick, are his assistants.

Wales is a wiz in his department and can tell you instantly just what sort of clothing, if any, they wore in any given country in any given period—whether, for instance, safety pins were used in the days of Cleopatra and just when waste paper baskets were introduced into Rome. Besides which he has a memory like a city directory.

Prop Dinner.

"The funny thing to me about the 'Bachelor Dinner' act at the Orpheum is that the dinner is never eaten," remarked an Orpheumite yesterday.

BEACH MERMEN MEET L.A.A.C.

THREE GAMES WILL BE STAGED FOR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Dunlap of Long Beach is Expected to be Star—Mark Hanna will Attempt to Fill Capt. Millard's Place. Diving and Swimming Features will Add Interest to the Affair.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Feb. 17.—In the first of a series of three games to decide the amateur championship of the south in water polo, the L.A.A.C. and Long Beach Polytechnic High School teams will clash Friday night in the local bath-house plunge.

A return contest will be staged in the Athletic Club tank next week. Should neither team win both games and a third be necessary to settle the dispute, a neutral pool will be chosen for the conflict.

Coach Elliott of Long Beach will send in Mark Hanna to take former Capt. Bronk Millard's place at forward. While not so husky as Millard, Hanna is a good swimmer and possesses a thorough knowledge of the game.

Clark will hold down the other forward position for Long Beach. Dunlap, at sprint, whose work has so far overshadowed those of competitive mermen to a point where there is no comparison, will be relied upon by the locals to do much in the coming combat.

The remainder of the Long Beach team will be made up of Embleton, goal; Schilling, center half, and Turner, Long and Strachan, guards.

A programme of diving and other swimming features will be staged by the management of the game to interest the spectators before the contest and between halves.

New York State Boxing Commission referee staff is made up of forty-five officials.

GUY HOBGOOD QUITS TRACK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CORVALLIS (Or.) Feb. 17.—Track prospects at the Oregon Agricultural College fell with a loud crash today, when Guy Hobgood, crack long distance runner, announced to Capt. Kadderly that he had laid aside the spiked shoes for all time. The announcement was made by Hobgood following the receipt of a telegram from Wyoming containing news of his election to the position of County Agriculturist in Fremont county, Wyoming. He graduated last June, and was following post graduate work.

The loss of Hobgood, the best distance man ever turned out at the Oregon Agricultural College, leave the track team minus a man for the long grinds, Hobgood, with the Coast outdoor record of 9:37 1-5 for the two mile, was also a fast man in the mile, holding a record of 4:31 and in the national championships last year at San Francisco took third in the five mile. In the far western meet at San Francisco last summer he won the mile and two mile.

WESTERN LEAGUE AFTER HI WEST.

Hi West, recently released by the Angels, has received a number of offers from the Western League. It is probable that he will accept one of them. West, prior to an injury, was rated as one of the best heavers in the Coast League. He formerly was with the Cleveland Americans.

Van Nuys.

WOULD STAND ON OWN FEET.

Van Nuys Prefers to Control Floods by Itself.

Residents Meet Citizens of San Fernando Valley.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VAN NUYS, Feb. 17.—Every City official except one and several of the department heads came up from Los Angeles (proper) tonight and had a get-together pow-wow with their fellow-citizens over flood control and road matters.

The visitors went into the subject thoroughly with people assembled from all over the valley, but especially from the Van Nuys district, and came to a thorough understanding over matters which affect the newly-acquired territory of Los Angeles.

The Van Nuys people indicated a preference for separate flood control districts for the valley, one to be Van Nuys and contiguous territory, and one to be known as the Burbank district. This is in preference to the plan proposed by the Board of Supervisors to bond the whole valley for general protection.

The people of the valley believe they can best take care of their own affairs through forty-year bonds and by controlling the flood waters from the mountains. City Engineer Hamilton says the plan is easy of accomplishment and perhaps the best for the entire valley.

EVERYBODY TALKS.

The Councilmen each addressed the gathering of 400 and promised to divide the valley into four road districts, each with an auto truck and a road crew under him. Councilman Wright sent word that he is ill and the party came up in autos.

G. Stanley Jones, Jr., president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided over many of the residents of the valley were there. All present learned much that the future of the valley is worth may now go on in perfect harmony. The city officials had no idea of many of the things explained to them which before they did not understand clearly.

The construction and maintenance of roads in the San Fernando Valley discussed by the City Engineer will be sent to the City Council will call for expenditure of $80,000 in the next few months, and the available funds for this purpose for the year are $50,000, including the $25,000 to be turned over to the city by the supervisors a few days ago and $25,000 to be collected as taxes in the district by the city treasurer.

ROAD REQUIREMENTS.

Engineer Hamlin outlines the work on the road purposes in the proposed district as follows: Assistant engineer, four foremen, four auto trucks and four laborers, one year, $48,-000; fifty miles of roadway, $100,000; asphalt for boulevard re-pairing; lumber and pipe for culverts and miscellaneous supplies, $10,000; for maintenance, $68,-000.

In addition to this, the City Engineer says the city should provide $10,000 worth of equipment and points out that unless the maintenance funds there is no money to meet this week's pay roll on the Pacoima roads.

The Council stands on record to stand above the Board of Supervisors as to money for any road in the San Fernando district unless the Council designates where, when and how every dollar shall be spent.

ESCONDIDO, Feb. 17.—The arrival this afternoon of the first Santa Fe train since January 17 was the occasion of a big demonstration under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. The blowing of the whistles of the two engines of the approaching train was the signal for the beginning of the celebration programme.

Later the trainmen were prevailed upon to leave their work long enough to partake of a buffet lunch served from a baggage truck at the Santa Fe station. The speech of welcome was given by President Percy Evans of the chamber, and the response in behalf of the Santa Fe employees was by Roadmaster O. Gabrielson of Oceanside. Considerable citrus fruit awaits shipment from the valley.

The resumption of both passenger and mixed train service is promised by the Santa Fe officials by Saturday.

EASILY APPREHENDED.

Chefs Accused of Stealing Hotel Supplies to Start Restaurant at Omaha are in Custody at Riverside. Real Estate Deal Brings Kansas Man West.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 17.—The arrival from Los Angeles this afternoon of a trunk packed with fancy bottled preserves and other delicacies stolen from the larder of the Reynolds Hotel, confirmed in part the confessions made by two chefs who were arrested as they sought to leave the hotel by stealth this morning.

The two chefs, Pete Clausen and Otto Blank, had $1200 on their persons. With this money they planned to open a restaurant in Omaha, to which point they had previously shipped a box of stuff with which to stock the restaurant at the expense of the hotel.

Manager Armstead became suspicious of the men and an investigation was started yesterday by Chief of Police Van Kirk. When arrested today the thieves had a suit case filled with articles picked up about the hotel.

REAL ESTATE SWAP.

J. C. Gafford, a prominent figure in the political life of Kansas, has purchased from the Riverside Orange Company, Limited, 105 acres in the Riverside Heights tract, all planted to oranges.

In the transaction the Riverside company acquires 2100 acres of land in Millard county, Utah. The orange property went into the deal at a valuation of $1200 an acre.

GIVEN TWO YEARS.

Rafael Vasques, who pleaded guilty to stealing jewelry from the store of the Banks Drug Company, was sentenced today to two years in San Quentin. The Mexican was detected in the act of selling the stuff at Corona a few days ago.

COMMITTEES AT WORK.

Pomona Citizens to Recommend Way to Vote Bonds and Expend Money.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Feb. 17.—To determine how much territory should be embraced in a street protection and improvement recommendation which will be used in an initiative movement to call a $200,000 bond election, a committee of twenty-one citizens appointed at a recent mass meeting has divided itself into four subcommittees to study the situation and compile reports to be submitted to the general committee a week from today.

Fred J. Smith is chairman of a committee to study the amount of protection necessary in the territory east of Alexander avenue and including a strip of San Bernardino county; I. F. Wire is chairman of a committee to study the territory between San Antonio and Garey avenues; D. C. Crookshank heads the committee which will study the situation west of Garey avenue, including Thompson Creek and Ganesha Park, and a delegation at large will study the water sources and flood possibilities of all the territory from the South Hills to the Baseline road.

Each committee will file its report and then an estimate of the number of streets which must be paved and curbed, and the probable cost of the proposed improvement, will be submitted to the citizens, so that the recommendations can be accepted in complete form or amended and revised, and the amount of the proposed bond issue decided upon. It is believed that nothing less than $200,-000 will fix the streets so they can undergo a siege of flood water without going to pieces.

Rail Traffic Over the Santa Fe will be Resumed This Morning, a Day Earlier than Officials of the Road had Expected.

All aboard for San Diego!

The first through train in a month, or since before the floods, is scheduled to leave here at 9:10 o'clock this morning, one day earlier than the officials of the Santa Fe had promised.

At 12:50 o'clock this afternoon the first train northbound will leave San Diego, if all goes well.

A train reached Escondido yesterday, and all along the line was greeted with cheers from crowds assembled to welcome resumption of rail traffic. Officials of the Santa Fe hope to keep trains running to schedule from now on.

MIXES PRAYER WITH POWDER.

Pasadena Educator Proposes Startling Innovation.

Military Training and Salaries for Board Suggested.

Parent-Teachers Aghast Over Three New Ideas.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Feb. 18.—At a banquet given by the Parent-Teacher Association to the Board of Education at the Pasadena High School last night, W. S. Grassie, president of the board, made three suggestions which had the same effect as though he had shot three cannon balls into the meeting.

The first bomb to startle the banqueters was when he advocated that the opening session of every elementary school begin with prayer and that in the High School the assembly be begun with prayer, and that if the teachers didn't know how to pray that some had better be imported who did.

On the heels of this he advocated military training in the High School, declaring that it instills patriotism in the pupil, gives him a good carriage, teaches obedience and in many other ways would be beneficial.

He spoke of the schools of Boston and Wyoming in which military training is given and declared that they had obtained the very best results.

The next bolt he shot was when he advocated the payment of salaries to board members. Not for the board on which he is serving, he said, but for those in the future. He recommended a change in the city charter which prohibits any such thing so that members of the Board of Education may in future draw salaries.

The State law allows such a thing but the city of Pasadena, in order to prevent it here, put a clause in its charter so prohibiting. All the other board members opposed the salary proposition.

The united members of the board and Parent-Teacher Association, including many teachers, were dumbfounded at the three propositions; so much so that they were unable to speak out in public but aired their opinions later—some of them on their way home.

Nearly all of them declared that the speech of Mr. Grassie would be the signal for a fight that would stir peaceful Pasadena to the very depths.

In speaking of his first two suggestions, advocating prayer in school and then military training, one banqueter said that it was a case with Mr. Grassie of "praise God and keep your powder dry."

REV. MR. HARTZELL DIES.

Rev. Merton Culver Hartzell died early this morning at the Pasadena Hospital after lying at the point of death for many days. His father, Bishop Hartzell of Africa, arrived here yesterday from the East and was at the bedside when the end came.

Rev. Mr. Hartzell was 40 years old and leaves, besides his father, a widow and a 10-year-old son. He was born in New Orleans and educated at the University of Cincinnati and Drew Theological Seminary. Funeral arrangements are to be made today.

CITY BRIEFS.

There was great dancing and a large society turnout at Hotel Huntington Wednesday night, when Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Crane were featured. It was a supper dance, and many parties, large and small, were entertained by notable guests of the Huntington and Maryland as well as local and Los Angeles people.

The artistic exhibition by the Cranes was preceded by early-evening dancing in the ballroom. Mr. and Mrs. Crane were at the hotel last year and made a rattling hit, but it did not compare with the ovation accorded them this time. They will be seen again this afternoon at 4 o'clock as the features of a tea dance at the Maryland, for which many reservations have been made.

The Associated Bankers of Pasadena will hold their annual dinner at the Hotel Raymond on March 3. One hundred guests will attend. The dinner this year will be quite a simple affair and no special entertainment will be provided. There will be no toast programme, as was formerly the custom, out of deference to some of the guests who desired to attend a simply arranged function. Among the prominent guests expected are Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank of New York.

On the same night that her aunt and uncle celebrate their golden wedding anniversary, Miss Mary Johnstone will become the bride of Charles Everhardt of Colorado at a "golden wedding" to be solemnized in the United Presbyterian Church. The wedding has been set for February 22 and the church will be transformed into a bower of golden acacia.

In order to facilitate matters and create an incentive for private contributions to charities, J. B. Williams, director of outside charities for the Pasadena Welfare Bureau yesterday appointed a committee of seven to secure money from private individuals. The committee includes Mmes. F. W. Kellogg, John Munger, A. J. Crance, Frank S. Wallace; Messrs. John S. Cravens, D. W. Herlihy and W. H. Hubbard.

LIVES DUAL EXISTENCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 17.—After receiving affectionate letters for ten years from her husband who had come West, Mrs. Jacob McSwain of Brooklyn says that she found that her husband had married another woman on the coast soon after his arrival.

A stranger story of dual existence of McSwain was told today by Mrs. McSwain to the District Attorney when a complaint was sworn out against McSwain charging him with adultery.

After living with his wife for ten years in the East, McSwain, according to his wife, came West and wrote her regularly. Finally having saved up enough to join him, she decided to surprise him and found him living in this city with another woman as husband and wife.

The remarkable part of the story is that investigation into his life in the last ten years revealed that he married wife No. 2 in Oregon soon after coming west and that this wife died and left him $10,000.

McSwain is said to have come to San Diego with this money and has been carrying on an auto sight-seeing business. He is charged by his wife with living with a Jane Whitney.

McSwain has not been arrested and is thought to have left the city. At the residence, No. 1315 Fifteenth street, where he lived for some years, Miss Whitney stated tonight that she did not know him and that he did not live there. She said he had formerly occupied the house.

SEVERAL CHANGES.

Wholesale Shakeup in Santa Monica Fire Department is Announced.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 17.—"Lack of harmony and too much friction" were the reasons given today for a wholesale shakeup in the Santa Monica Fire Department, including the reduction of a captain and the suspension of a fireman, ordered yesterday by Chief Deputy F. W. Ferguson, in charge of the fire and police departments.

By the order George A. Whitenack, captain of No. 2 fire station, becomes a driver. Fred T. Pickens, a fireman, will be indefinitely suspended, and he will be replaced by Leo Martin. The order becomes effective tomorrow. William Mohr, a fireman of No. 2 station, by the order, becomes captain of that station.

George Harter, driver at No. 2 station, is ordered to No. 1 at the same post and is replaced at the other station by George Chown, now driver at No. 1.

Aside from the fact that there was "lack of harmony and too much friction," especially at No. 2 station, no comment on the change was made by Chief Ferguson.

OFF ON CRUISE DE LUXE TO HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Feb. 17.—Nearly 400 passengers left here this afternoon on a cruise de luxe of seventeen days on the palatial liner Great Northern of the Great Northern Pacific Steamship Company. The big liner arrived this morning from San Francisco and proceeded to Honolulu, direct, late this afternoon. She had over 300 passengers when she left San Francisco, the remainder of her list boarding the steamer here.

The speedy turbiner will reach Honolulu in time for the opening of the Mid-Pacific Carnival, remaining there during the festival. After giving the passengers an opportunity to visit various points of interest in Hawaii the liner will proceed to Hilo, where a stop of a day and a night will be made so that the entire list of passengers may be taken to the volcano of Kilauea.

From Hilo the steamer will return direct to this port. This is the second sailing for Honolulu this week, the Northern Pacific, sister ship to the liner sailing today, having left port forty-eight hours in advance with more than 500 passengers. The Great Northern will stop at Hilo first and the two big steamers with nearly 1000 passengers will arrive at Honolulu about the same time.

While the steamers are at Honolulu by special arrangements vessels will be used as hotels for the accommodation of such of the passengers as may not be able to secure hotel accommodation ashore during the carnival. Never before has such interest been shown in the carnival at Honolulu and the island city will be taxed to accommodate the crowds. This is largely due to the activity of the publicity department of the Hill line under the direction of Cal Stone, general traffic manager.

From the very first trip the Great Northern has been well patronized. On her last trip she had a full list and this week all accommodations were sold out long in advance. So great was the demand for passage to the carnival that Stone decided to take the Northern Pacific off its regular run to the Columbia River, also, for the special cruise and send both steamers to the islands.

WOMAN BURNED BY GASOLINE EXPLOSION.

SAN FERNANDO, Feb. 17.—That gasoline is a dangerous explosive even when no fire is near was proven today when Mrs. P. L. Boruff sustained serious burns about the head and hands.

The Boruff home, El Descanso, is one of the show places of the northern part of the San Fernando Valley. Unwilling to risk some rare old lace to the hands of custom cleaners, Mrs. Boruff took it and a small quantity of gasoline to the garden. There was no fire with 100 feet of where she was at work.

While Mrs. Boruff was lightly rubbing the lace between her hands the gasoline exploded. There was a flash of flame, which was quickly extinguished.

DEMENTED MAN CAPTURED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Feb. 17.—Archibald Duncan, the Orange county rancher who ran amuck yesterday near his home with a rifle, was taken back to Santa Ana today by Deputy Sheriff J. W. Murray on an insanity warrant. Duncan, after holding up a Japanese rancher, killing a dog and laying in ambush for a neighbor, came to San Pedro last night with his rifle and went to the home of his brother, W. B. Duncan, a local real estate agent. This morning the police were notified to watch out for him and informed the brother of Duncan's actions yesterday. The Duncan family noticed that the brother seemed to be unbalanced mentally when he arrived, but he did not exhibit any violent symptoms and went to the Police Station willingly.

WIDOW GETS HOME.

Instrument Filed for Probate Yesterday Provides for Handling of Hundred Thousand Dollars Estate. Bulk of It is Left in Trust.

The will of William McLean, disposing of an estate valued at $100,000, was filed for probate yesterday. It was executed October 11, 1907, and a codicil added December 17, 1913. The latter provides that the widow, Julia McLean, who is the second wife, shall receive the home place at No. 234 South Coronado street. If she remarries, the property will go to his daughter by the former marriage, Ella McLean.

It is further provided that Mrs. McLean, if she does not elect to take under the will, shall have $10 in addition to the amount the court may award her.

"In case there should be any further child born to me hereafter, I intentionally make no provision for such child, and I give nothing to such child other than the contingent legacy or income," is one clause of the will.

Mrs. McLean is to receive $8000 in cash, and Miss McLean $6000. The bulk of the estate is left in trust to the Security Trust and Savings Bank, the income to be applied for the benefit of Mrs. McLean, Miss McLean, her heirs, and a sister residing in Scotland.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE.

Real Estate Man Receives Injuries which Cause His Death.

Running across Hollywood boulevard at Highland avenue last night, in an endeavor to get out of the way of an approaching street car, James Carson, 30 years old, a real estate dealer living at No. 1307 North Harvard boulevard, ran directly in front of a swiftly-moving automobile driven by W. J. Brant of No. 206 West Pico street. The machine struck Mr. Carson and hurled him forward. When Brant tried to stop, the machine skidded and again caught the realty dealer and ground his body under the wheels.

Witnesses of the accident hurried the injured man into a near-by dentist's office. He was later removed to the Receiving Hospital. He died two hours later, with his young wife standing by him. Physicians stated Carson had been internally ruptured and his spine broken.

Mr. Carson leaves a widow and a 10-weeks-old son, James Carson, Jr. He was on his way to take dinner with friends in Hollywood when the tragedy occurred. The body was removed to the Billings mortuary.

HOUSE LOOTED OF VALUABLES.

THIEVES UNABLE TO CARRY AWAY ALL ARTICLES.

Footprints Indicate Burglar has Small Foot—Lawsuit for Thirteen Cents Won by Assignee Collectors. Garden Party Saturday, with Pictures for Kiddies.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, Feb. 18.—The most daring robbery of the winter was perpetrated last night at the home of E. S. Shenk on Riverdale drive, when jewelry, clothing and other valuables amounting to several hundreds of dollars were taken during the temporary absence of the family.

Entrance was obtained through one of the rear windows of the house and it was evident that the thief was unable to carry away all of the plunder he had gathered in his greed. Two diamond pins, a gold watch, several less valuable pieces of jewelry, and all the wearing apparel that could be taken away were gone when the family returned early in the evening.

Examination showed that the thief worked alone and outside the window were prints of a small foot, which has given rise to the belief that the burglary was committed by the same culprit who has been busy of late looting the homes of the wealthy in Pasadena and other near-by cities.

FOR THIRTEEN CENTS.

A lawsuit for 13 cents, due a local plumbing firm, was tried in Judge Miller's court this morning. Originally, Mrs. Annie E. Collings of Burbank had the work done and the charge was $1.25. It was impossible to collect the remainder of the bill, hence the suit. Judgment for the 13 cents, together with costs, was given Charles N. Fragerm, assignee for the plumbing firm.

The cost of recovering the small indebtedness will amount to $27.50. The Collings have appealed to the Superior Court and it looks likely that the sum will amount to $100 and over before the fight over the debt has been settled.

GARDEN PARTY.

Eight hundred school children are to be the guests of the Glendale Garden society at the Palace Grand Theater Saturday morning when a monster picture show is to be given. Besides the youngsters, many teachers and parents have signified their intention of attending. The pictures to be shown will be along the line of civic beautification taken up by the Garden Society and some of the pictures will feature "Other People's Back Yards."

Ushers for the unique affair, which will be presided over by Mrs. Nanno Woods, president of the organization, are: Messrs. M. B. Hartmann, A. Hommel, M. Carruthers and E. Owen.

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it, before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes all denote liver uncleanliness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is a dangerous, salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it cannot salivate, for it is harmless, and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.

WALL STREET TRADING IS DULL AND NARROW.

International Situation the Cause of Uncertainties and Brokers are Prone to Let go of Holdings at Slightly Shaded Prices — Steels and Some Rails with the Copper Group are Exceptions and Hold Steady.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The uncertainties arising from the international situation were again utilized today to impair quoted values, but declines were less severe than in the sessions immediately preceding. Trading was lighter and more narrow in its scope than at any recent period. Opening prices were mainly at lower levels, followed by variable inconclusive rallies. Canadian Pacific's recovery of 2½ points from yesterday's final quotations imparted some steadiness, and the relative strength of Crucible Steel, American Can and a few other issues comprising the munitions group, also was helpful. Advances in these stocks were neutralized, however, by the recurrent weakness of petroleums, coppers, sugars, United Fruit, and various unclassified shares. Apart from Canadian Pacific and Norfolk and Western, rails were without material change, with a minimum of offerings. During the mid-session the market was apathetic to an unusual degree, except for a sudden spurt in Mercantile Marines at substantial advances. In the final hour Butte and Superior and American Zinc offered some diversion by their activity at higher levels, while specialties manifested greater irregularity. The net result was negligible, minor gains in representative shares scarcely offsetting losses elsewhere. Total sales of stocks amounted to 467,000 shares. Among the day's favorable developments was an increase in the National Lead common division to the 4-per-cent. basis, together with advances in prices of baser mbetals, while industrial companies continued to submit excellent statements of earnings for the past year. In the bond division speculative issues were under moderate pressure, while seasoned issues were firm. Total sales of bonds, par value, were $3,930,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

QUIETNESS PREVAILS ON LOCAL EXCHANGE.

BOUNDARY CONE AND FESSENDEN ATTRACT ATTENTION.

Ivanhoe Continues to Decline. Consolidated Mines Breaks in Afternoon—Little Demand for Oil Stocks—Home Telephone Issues Quiet—Union Higher.

Thursday's trading on the stock exchange was devoid of feature, and prices as a general rule remained unchanged. Most of the activity was confined to the mining issues, but the interest of buyers was rather indifferent. Consolidated Mines advanced to .05¾ in the morning, only to break in the afternoon, closing at .05¼. Boundary Cone sold up to .41½, and Fessenden brought as much as .26¾ at one time during the day. Lucky Boy was in better position, and there seemed to be a well-sustained effort on the part of speculators to absorb the stock at higher quotations. After endeavoring to rally in the early hours of the meeting, Ivanhoe weakened and closed lower than the day previous. Big Jim was also unsteady, and the last sale was at prices a full 2 points lower than the high for the day. Union Oil opened stronger at 72.00, but fell away a quarter of a point later. Associated was firm, and there was a good demand for National Pacific at prices ranging from .05½ to .05¾. The industrials were quiet, a few shares of Home Telephone common and preferred changing hands on unstered figures, and Los Angeles Investment, holding its position around the .71 mark. Rumors on the Exchange yesterday were to the effect that the Bell interests were picking up Home common, and that the small trading in the stock at Thursday's session was evidently for the purpose of quieting comment.

COMMERCIAL.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The unseasonably hot weather which has prevailed throughout Southern California during the past few days is liable to have a bad effect on the fruit trees. Warm weather so early in the year has already started the sap to running in many orchards, which means pre-season blossoming, and immature growth of the fruit. However, with the cooler weather yesterday and forecasts of continued lower pressure no material damage to the coming fruit crop is anticipated.

An advance in banana quotations is expected the first of next week. Stocks have been practically cleaned up in Los Angeles lately as the result of warm weather, which has boosted the demand for bananas, and the fact that the fruit that has been sent to this city has been very green, and in consequence has taken a long time to ripen. Prices in New Orleans have been raised already, and local dealers anticipate advancing prices here Monday to 4½ cents a pound. Present quotations are half a cent lower than the proposed new figure.

Artichokes dropped suddenly in value Thursday as the result of several large shipments which reached the city yesterday. They are now quoted at 90 cents to $1.10 a dozen, whereas previously they had been bringing $1.50 per dozen. Northern Burbank potatoes are easier, and prices were reduced 5 to 10 cents a hundred. Dried lima beans are also weaker, and the best grades are selling at $5.25, a decline of 25 cents a sack. In line with predictions made in The Times several days ago, evaporated apple quotations were reduced yesterday half a cent a pound for all grades.

Trading was exceptionally light on the produce exchange Thursday, and the only transaction recorded was the transfer of 5 cases of eggs at 19 cents a dozen. Butter was firm on call, and the cheese list was neglected. Prices in San Francisco were unchanged for butter and eggs, but old-style cheese declined to 17 cents a pound. Receipts totaled 576 cases of eggs, 46,000 pounds of butter, 1050 pounds of cheese, 3200 sacks of potatoes, 611 sacks of onions, 8 sacks of sweet potatoes and 605 boxes of apples.

OUTSIDE WHEAT IN GOOD VOLUME.

ARGENTINA AND AUSTRALIAN SHIPMENTS INCREASE.

Sellers Advances in Domestic Markets are Wiped Out and the Bears Force Prices Down Fractionally. Corn and Oats Also Sell Lower. Provisions Weaker.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Estimates that Argentine receipts had trebled in volume as compared with a week ago got control of the wheat market today, to the bears. Prices closed heavy, 1¼ net lower, with May 1.29@ 1.29¼, and July 1.22¾. Other speculative articles, too, showed a setback. Gains of ⅝ to ⅝@⅞ cents, ⅞ to 1⅛@1⅛, in provisions 1½ to 25. Reports of large shipments of wheat from Argentina were accompanied by advices that Australian shipments would be also substantially enlarged. The effect was to wipe out speedily all trace of an advance which had taken place here during the first part of the session. Coarse grains fell off with wheat. Provisions weakened under heavy selling by packers.

PORT ITEMS.

The steamer Arctic arrived tonight from San Jose del Cabo with the steamer Fort Bragg in tow, on the way to San Francisco. The Fort Bragg went on the rocks at the Mexican port last November and was abandoned as a total wreck. An examination developed, however, that she was only slightly damaged. A part of her keel was broken off, but there was only a small hole in her bottom. With the assistance of the Arctic the Fort Bragg is proceeding under her own steam.

On a special cruise for seventeen days, the steamer Northern Pacific arrived today from San Francisco and proceeded to Honolulu and Hilo. Although her sister ship, the Great Northern, proceeded her but forty-eight hours, e with a full list of passengers, the Northern Pacific had nearly 400 when she left port, so great was the demand for accommodation on account of the Mid-Pacific Carnival at Honolulu.

Lumber carriers sailing in ballast today for northern ports were the A. M. Simpson for Coos Bay, Solano for San Francisco, Hoquiam, Bee and Carlos for Gray's Harbor. The Willamette, arriving from Portland, proceeded to San Diego, after discharging passengers and partial cargo of lumber.

SPOT HOLDERS HEAVY SELLERS.

LIQUIDATION IS DEMORALIZING AND PRICES BREAK.

Increased Pressure to Let Go Comes When the Demand is Poor. Southern Men are Disposed to Unload, Hoping to Discourage the Planting of a Large Crop.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 17.—After holding rather steady in the forenoon the cotton market later became more demoralized, growing out of heavy liquidation in near month position and active selling by local bears. Increased pressure came at a time when there was very little demand, and as a natural sequence prices broke rapidly, although a good-sized recovery occurred in the last hour. The selling movement was accelerated by dispatches indicating weakness in southern spot markets, and final quotations to some extent verified this, losses ranging from 1-16 to ⅝ of a cent. Many stale bull accounts were liquidated, and the technical position of the market much improved. It is generally believed now that a good-sized short interest exists as the planting season approaches in earnest, and it is becoming quite clear that holders in the South are more disposed to lighten their load. The movement to foreign consuming channels is disappointingly small, and there is little incentive in the situation just now to encourage constructive tactics. On the other hand, declines would probably have a desired effect on dissuading farmers from increasing their acreage, and later on be of benefit to them.

Liverpool cables, due 3½ down on March, May and July, came 1 better than due on March and 2 better on May and July. A moderate business was transacted in spot cotton; prices easier; sales, 8000; receipts, 7400; middlings, 7.89; futures opened quiet.

This action is regarded by bankers as a precautionary move in case of a break in the relations of the Greek government with the Entente allies.

CLAIMS A CONTRACT BASED ON ADOPTION.

Files Suit to Enjoin Distribution to Beneficiaries Under the Will of Mrs. Mary P. Patterson, Alleging Agreement to Make Her an Heir. Two Couples Make Up.

An inheritance of $4000, based on an agreement to adopt Elizabeth M. Brown, is the basis of a suit to declare a trust, filed by Mrs. Brown, through Attorney Isidore B. Dockweiler, yesterday. The story told in the complaint, which is directed against W. R. Greenwood, executor of the will of Mary P. Patterson, the Christian Herald Children's Home, the Door of Hope, and thirty-four other beneficiaries, is that Mrs. Patterson gave Mrs. Brown in her will only $100.

Mrs. Patterson died at Long Beach January 5, 1915. The will was admitted to probate last Tuesday. The final account of the administrator, filed January 25 last, shows a balance for distribution of $23,316.76. Of this sum the two institutions named will receive $7585.78. The court is asked to enjoin the administrator from paying out the legacies to the numerous defendants, and for the appointment of a receiver to take possession of the property.

Thirty-three years ago Mrs. Patterson received the consent of Mrs. Brown's parents, John Jacob and Mary Wesley, to adopt her, the complaint states. She agreed to make the girl her heir, leaving her $4000. Mrs. Brown was taken into the Patterson home and lived there until she was married, January 1, 1888, continuing thereafter to show the same affection. There were no proceedings to perfect the adoption, except the agreement of the parties.

POOR PROVIDER.
BLAMES MOTHER-IN-LAW.

Maurice Wasserman did not intend to take the stand in the divorce suit of Anna Wasserman, yesterday, but he did, and injected in the case the issue of too much mother-in-law and other relatives. He testified that after his mother-in-law's husband left her she came to his home, and then her son came. The arrangement evidently did not suit him.

Mrs. Wasserman, who has been married four years and was a bride at 17, her husband being equally young, declared that Mr. Wasserman did not support her. Mrs. Gold, the mother-in-law, testified that the couple lived in her daughter's house and that her son-in-law did not pay the rent.

Among other things the young husband did before he became a cigar salesman was to sell walnuts.

"The kind sold on the street?" asked the court.

"That's the kind," was the reply.

"I guess your wife is entitled to a divorce; you cannot support her," said Judge Wood. He ordered him to pay Mrs. Wasserman $15 a month.

WHO SURVIVED?
ISSUE IN CONTEST.

Based on the alleged erroneous assumption that the death of Marie F. Lent preceded the death of her grand-uncle, David R. Sterling, suit was filed yesterday by Lula S. Bleming, administratrix of the Lent estate, against Frances and Dorothy Lent, Marie F. Lent's children, to recover for the estate the property awarded to Frances and Dorothy.

Mrs. Lent died in Chicago July 7, 1911, the complaint states. David R. Sterling died February 5, 1910. The probate proceedings resulted in finding Frances and Dorothy the sole surviving children of Mrs. Lent, heirs-at-law of Mr. Sterling, and entitled to share in the distribution of $50,000 cash.

It is contended that Mrs. Lent was the heir-at-law and entitled to succeed to the Sterling estate, and that the award to the children was erroneous. The court is asked to decree the property held in trust for the Lent estate and to deliver the money and property to the administratrix.

HAPPY AGAIN.
TWO COUPLES MAKE UP.

Judge Wood had two agreeable surprises yesterday, when two warring couples bent on divorce entered court and asked to have their actions dismissed. By doing so, Judge Wood established a precedent.

Ellen Stone had progressed so far in her suit against W. C. Stone that Judge Wood ordered him to pay $35 a month for the support of their child, on an order to show cause.

The couple advanced smilingly to the bench.

"We have made up, Your Honor," explained Mrs. Stone, "and I would like to have my case dismissed."

"Well, that is fine," replied the court. "I hope you will be happy and won't be back here again."

Edith Mae Mace sued Joseph Price Mace and obtained an interlocutory decree last July. They, too, had kissed and forgiven, and Mrs. Mace wanted the case dropped. The court complied, giving a little fatherly advice.

"I would rather do that than separate couples," remarked the court. "There is more satisfaction about it."

BLAMES HIS BOSS.
YOUNG WIFE THE ISSUE.

Henry Nelson, former chief electrician of the power house division of the Los Angeles Aqueduct, is charged in a $20,000 damage suit filed by W. L. Chafin yesterday, with winning the love of Mrs. Chafin. The latter, Charlotte Mary Chafin, is 18, and according to Attorney R. J. Adcock, counsel for Mr. Chafin, she accompanied Mr. Nelson to San Francisco last year, when Mr. Chafin was away from home, having been sent on the aqueduct by Mr. Nelson, his chief.

The specific date mentioned is November 20, 1915, and at other times, it is alleged, Mr. Nelson and Mrs. Chafin were together. The husband is said to be related to a family of bankers at Long Beach.

SEEK THE WIFE.
LETTERS UNANSWERED.

Where is Ellen Morrison? Joseph P. Morrison, aided by his attorney, said he has been unable to find her after three years' search. Judge Wood, who thought Mr. Morrison was entitled to a decree of divorce, instructed Clerk Hughes to write to Mrs. Morrison's mother and sister and ascertain if they know. Mr. Morrison declared he got no reply when he wrote them.

Mrs. Morrison lived on her husband's ranch at Porterville. But she found it dull. Mr. Morrison testified she went on joy rides, leaving the children at home, and would not return until early morning. She also was away from home for weeks at a time. The case was continued for ten days, for the possible appearance of the wife.

MUST BIDE TIME.
CAN'T HURRY THE LAW.

An interlocutory decree of divorce was not speedy enough for John Alva Hale, yesterday. After Judge Wood had granted the decree in his suit against Bessie Inez Hale, Mr. Hale exclaimed:

"Your Honor, I want to be free of her right now. I don't want to have anything more to do with her."

As it was a matter of law and not of choice, Mr. Hale had to be content with an interlocutory decree.

IN AND OUT.
ABOUT THE COURTS.

HER LOSING FIGHT. Mrs. Julia S. Purcell, according to her own testimony in divorce proceedings against Sylvester W. Purcell, yesterday, made a valiant but losing fight against her husband's alleged besetting sin. The Demon Rum, she said, opposed her mightily. Time after time she and her friends helped Mr. Sylvester, but she had to give up the fight when she lost hope. Judge Wood granted her a decree, the custody of her 10-year-old child, and alimony of $25 a month.

CHILDREN INHERIT. Having assisted his son Charlie, and because the latter by his own efforts is fairly well provided for financially, Hermon N. Janes bequeathed him $300 in his will, filed for probate yesterday. His other children not being so fortunate, Mr. Janes divided the $30,000 estate among them, naming a daughter, Mabel Janes, executrix. The daughters are Carrie and Grace Janes, and the son, Donald Janes. Mr. Janes died recently.

DISHABILLE. An unhappy penchant of Herbert T. Smith was when intoxicated to break automobiles, Mary Horton Smith testified in her divorce suit yesterday. "On one occasion at midnight he was so drunk he could not stand up," she said, "and he insisted upon going downtown. All he wore at that time was a shirt, shoes and an overcoat. He went just as he was dressed." The decree was granted.

WIFE DIVORCES HIM. William Fox, who was indicted January 1, 1914, by the Federal grand jury at San Francisco, for alleged conspiracy in bringing Chinese to the port of Monterey from Ensenada in the gasoline launch Calypso, was divorced from Manuela Fox in Judge Wood's court yesterday. Mrs. Fox testified that she did not know the whereabouts of her husband, and offered in evidence a copy of the grand jury indictment in which Mr. Fox's name appears in connection with five other men. It shows that the Calypso sailed from San Pedro January 3, 1914, for Ensenada, returning with the Chinese to the port of Monterey. The decree was granted.

CUTS DOWN DAMAGES. In a suit involving an attachment proceeding in which judgment for $25,103 was demanded, C. C. Gilbert was awarded $600 in Judge Houser's court yesterday. The action was against Phil Cass, Roger A. Woodbury, constable; and S. J. Hall & Son. The judgment was asked as against Mr. Cass and Hall & Son.

JITBUS DRIVERS ENTER PROTESTS.

UTILITIES BOARD LISTENS TO MANY COMPLAINTS.

Compromises are Proposed on Several Points Included in New Ordinance, Which Covers Operation of All for Hire Automobiles as Common Carriers.

Protests against certain features of the new ordinance placing all for-hire automobiles under jurisdiction of the Public Utilities Board as common carriers were heard by the Utilities Board yesterday and the points of difference between the jitbus, taxicab, interurban bus and transfer companies and the Utilities Board were adjusted in a manner generally satisfactory to both sides.

The chief objections to the ordinance, with which it is proposed to transfer jurisdiction from the Police Commission to the Public Utilities Board, came from the jitbus operators, who protested especially against the proposal that all jitbusses must stop to receive or discharge passengers only on the far side of the street. This question is left open for later decision, but the Public Utilities Board made it plain to the nickel-chasers that if the ordinance permits them to receive or discharge passengers on the near side of the street, there will be a rule that the jitbusses must stop behind the safety zone signs so that other automobiles will not be held back. In the matter of anti-skid chains, the Utilities Board agreed that instead of providing that chains must arbitrarily be used whenever the pavements are wet, the jitbus drivers may use any skid-preventing type of tire or attachment that meets with the approval of the Utilities Board.

Chief Engineer Howell of the Utilities Board explained to the jitbus drivers that the chief aim of the board in preparing the new ordinance is to see that certain regulations which apply universally are included in the ordinance, while the regulatory features that are likely to be changed at any time by local conditions or natural developments, are left to the Utilities Board for regulation without the necessity for a new ordinance every time there is a change in conditions.

The proposed ordinance provides that every for-hire automobile must bear a letter twelve inches high, painted on front and rear, designating the class of service as jitbus, taxicab, interurban bus or sightseeing automobile. Some of the jitbus operators and taxicab men objected to this, but it was pointed out that within a year the surviving jitbus operators must have bus bodies and their cars would be available for no other use. On this point it was decided to eliminate the provision for the painted number and to require such letter designation as may be prescribed by the Utilities Board.

Operators of interurban busses entered a general protest against being placed under jurisdiction of the Utilities Board, but the ordinance will not be changed in that respect and it will provide that all terminals must be approved by the board and the locations of the terminals will be subject to change on order of the Utilities Board at any time. There was no official protest against the ordinance on the part of the sightseeing or automobile transfer companies and the rule that all passenger-carrying automobiles for hire must stop before crossing any railroad at grade will stand in the new ordinance.

The Public Utilities Board will hold further hearings on the ordinance and then the proposed ordinance will be forwarded to the City Attorney for reconstruction and then recommended to the City Council for passage.

NEW GATEWAY.
VIADUCT PLANS UNDER WAY.

As a preliminary step towards the construction of an overhead bridge at Sherman drive and West Sixteenth street, over the Pacific Electric right of way, the City Council yesterday instructed the City Attorney to enter into an agreement with the Pacific Electric Company whereby the railroad will bear half of the cost of the viaduct. This is to be with the understanding that the cost will not exceed $35,000 and the bridge will be built according to one of the three sets of plans now in the hands of the City Engineer.

Councilman Langdon, who, with Councilman Topham, has held conferences with the citizens in the neighborhood who are anxious for a crossing at that point, said that he believes the property owners who will be called upon to pay one-fourth of the cost of the viaduct will agree to the $35,000 structure. This crossing, Councilman Langdon says, will eventually carry a large part of the automobile traffic between Los Angeles and the beach resorts, and it should be a substantial and well-appearing structure. Under plans which the Council hopes to carry out soon, the Pacific Electric will pay one-half of the cost, the city at large will pay one-quarter, and the remainder will be borne by a large assessment district.

ORDINANCE IS FILED.
PRESENT LAWS ADEQUATE.

The Health and Sanitation Committee of the Council decided yesterday that Los Angeles does not need a special ordinance to regulate the location of places where fowls are killed and dressed, and, accordingly, the committee will recommend that the ordinance on the subject proposed by Health Commissioner Powers be filed. Members of the committee believe that any objectionable places of the kind can be closed as public nuisances, and the health inspectors will be requested to use care to see that such places are kept in sanitary condition. The health committee will recommend to the Council that the salary of the chief nurse in the health department be raised from $100 to $125 a month, with provision for a raise of $5 a month each year for five years. This change was recommended by the Civil Service Commission by a report which showed that no applicants for the place have passed the examination, and an advance in the salary will, it is believed, bring out a better class of applicants.

INDUSTRIAL FARM.
COUNTY TO OPERATE.

In accordance with a resolution presented yesterday by Councilman Conwell the city will complete arrangements immediately whereby the County Supervisors will take over the city farm in San Francisquito Canyon for a detention and industrial farm for both city and county prisoners. The resolution went to the Finance Committee of the Council pending arrangements whereby the city will furnish water for irrigating the 200 or more tillable acres, and the county will be obligated to accept and care for city prisoners.

RESPONSIBILITY.
CITY ATTORNEY HAS IT.

All responsibility for the legal presentation of the city's case before the State Railroad Commission in seeking a rate on natural gas was placed on City Attorney Stephens yesterday at a conference in which the situation was discussed by the Mayor, Public Utilities Board, City Attorney Stephens and the City Council. Attorney Stephens accepted the situation, with the understanding that if he needs more help than can be furnished by his regular assistants he will call on the Council immediately. The Public Utilities Board has been insistent in its demand for legal assistance in preparation of the case, and President Lane has asked for special counsel, while City Attorney Stephens has said there is no need for outside help. Members of the Council said that yesterday's developments placed the responsibility for the legal handling of the case with the City Attorney, where it properly belongs, and in case more help is needed the Council will provide funds when the need is shown.

"AVENGES" BROTHER.

Unknown Who had been Clothed and Sheltered Robs His Benefactress, Leaving Meaningless Note to Explain the Reason for the Crime.

A burglary in which the thief wrote an alibi for the head of the household and gave as his motive that he was avenging his brother's broken heart, occurred in the home of Mrs. Mary Jones, No. 6113 Salem place, early yesterday morning. When Mrs. Jones awoke she found the explanatory note pinned to the dining table and $250 worth of jewelry missing.

The signer of the note was one "Jack" or "Frank," who is supposed to have been a handy man whom Mrs. Jones employed about the grounds. The man was missing. The note said:

"Mrs. Jones: Mr. Jones is innocent. It was me that did the mischief. Now we are nearer square for the trick Marie did my brother. Will call again when you have more money." It was signed "Jack," and that name was scratched out and the name "Frank" written below, followed by a question mark. The Marie to whom reference is made is Miss Marie Walcamp, the stepdaughter of Mrs. Jones.

When asked last night as to the reference made in the note she said she didn't know that "Frank" or "Jack" had a brother. She said she could not understand what was meant by the remark, but said she learned the boy had told neighbors that Miss Walcamp had broken his brother's heart.

Mrs. Jones reported to the police the boy had called at her house several months ago asking for something to do for a meal. She had given him lodging in her barn, and food and clothing, in return for which he did some minor chores about the place.

Several weeks ago some money was missing, and Mrs. Jones informed the police she suspected her husband had taken it. Now she learns that the boy had taken the money and unjust suspicions had been cast on her husband.

The police have a description of the boy and have been informed he was going to San Diego.

Physician Arrested. Will Scalp A

sician or druggist, who fails to live up to the provision of the law.

Since the Harrison Act became effective, March 1, 1915, thousands of men and women addicted to the use of drugs have entered hospitals and sanatoriums to be cured of the use of the drugs and other thousands have been arrested and sent to asylums for the same purpose. Until recently the Federal authorities have made no serious effort to control the men and women who violate the law as it was thought best to wait until the supply of illicit drugs became exhausted in the country before applying the more drastic provisions. At present the Federal officials declare, every ounce of opium and its derivities, morphine, heroin, cocaine, etc., can be accounted for unless it is illegally in the country.

Dr. Mattison, in commenting on his arrest last night, said that while he is technically guilty, it was because of ignorance of the law. "I did not notify the State Board of Pharmacy that I was treating certain patients for drug addiction," the physician said. "I give what is known as the Lambert treatment and while the patient are undergoing this treatment they are given divided doses of the drug to which they are addicted, and in prescribing those drugs I violated the law. I have treated probably forty cases of drug addiction since the Harrison law went into effect and did not know I was violating the law by failure to report the cases until a week ago. Then I began reporting the cases. I intend to enter a plea of guilty."

YOUNG BANDITS CONFESS THEFTS AND ROBBER

STARTLING disclosures that may result in the arrest of a gang of young bandits who have been stealing automobiles, robbing houses and holding up pedestrians in this city during the past month, were made last night by three youths who were taken into custody by deputy sheriffs and charged with burglary after they attempted to abandon one of their stolen motor cars.

Kenneth Hall, 16 years old, of No. 4929 Van Ness avenue; Frank Andrews, 16, of No. 4905 Van Ness avenue, and Sidney Cherniss, 16, of No. 1644 Ingraham street, were arrested at 10:30 o'clock last night at the corner of Broadway and Seventh street by Deputy Sheriffs A. C. Webb and H. G. Blakley, when they attempted to escape after abandoning an automobile belonging to Mr. Blakley.

After being questioned for more than an hour by Deputy Sheriffs Fox, Nolan, Moody, Blakley and Webb, the alleged youthful bandits confessed, it was said, that they had stolen five automobiles in this city since January 1, and declared they had committed about seven robberies. They had in their possession six automatic revolvers, more than 100 cartridges, some valuable articles of jewelry and a small amount of money.

The trio confessed they broke into the residence of James T. [illegible] at No. 4911 Wilton place, last day night. They also confessed they had burglarized the residence of 811 South Burlington avenue, Nuys grocery store at [illegible] street and Gramercy place, residences on Van Ness avenue, declared they had stolen some clothing belonging to T. [illegible] boarder at No. 4905 Van Ness avenue, where young Andrews lived.

According to the police, further confessions from the men will probably clear up the mysteries that have baffled the local police for months. Cherniss said he was mascot of the Los Angeles baseball team.
